NEWS NOTES.

Ben Butler wants some one in Washington who "dare not lie."

The Mississippi river is closed by ice, at the foot of Lake Pepin, for the first time in sixteen years.

At Danville, Pa., all the iron mills and furnaces are in full blast for the first time in eight months.

A band of robbers has just been broken up in Paris, who were known to each other by a peculiar green necktie which they wore.

A citizen of Dodge County, Ga., claims to have had thirteen boys and one girl born in his family within ten years.

Springfield appears to be a favorite name for western towns. Pennsylvania has nine by that name, Ohio ten and Iowa eight.

More gold has been shipped from New York since the 1st of January than during any corresponding period for seventeen years.

Conclusion of Colfax's lecture on Lincoln:—"Having reached the topmost round of the ladder of fame, he stepped into the skies."

E. L. Davenport, the actor, is negotiating for Horticultural Hall, Philadelphia, which he will turn into a theatre.

The Delaware river is frozen over for the first time in many years, and people walk from Philadelphia to Camden.

Lieutenant Cameron, an English explorer, has recovered the very valuable map and notebooks which Dr. Livingstone left in Ujiji.

Andy Johnson says he goes to Washington as the representative of an ante-bellum democracy. That's good; but an anti-bellowing democracy would be beteer.—New York Herald.

The dullness of the carrying trade is by no means confined to the United States. The shipping interests of other countries are suffering almost as much as those of the United States.

A race between the ships America and British Peer, for $1,000, to be sailed from San Francisco to Liverpool, is now in progress. Both ships sailed from San Francisco on December 8th for Queenstown.

The ice in New York harbor has displaced and carried to sea all the buoys marking the channel to and from the Atlantic, and pilots are compelled to direct the courses of inward and outward bound vessels by objects on the shores.

At Antwerp, in the Zoological Garden, a large and matronly female of the species dog is bringing up a family of three infantile tigers, who have been separated from their tiger mother for fear that she would make a breakfast of them.

Some folks think they know what Mrs. Sartoris is coming home for.—Cincinnati Enquirer.

Certainly. To give him a chance for the presidency.—Sentinel.

But suppose events do not develop a "him."—Cleveland Plaindealer.

The fastest railroad time on record is said to have been made not long since on the New York Central Railroad by a special train, which carried a party of officials from Rochester to Syracuse, eighty-one miles, in sixty-one minutes.

Samuel Sinclair, late publisher of the Tribune, lost his fortune in a country seat on the Hudson—sunk it blindly in stone walls, ditches, trees and turf, barns and houses, and he is now in the New York Custom House at $1,500 a year.

The drouth through Western Massachusetts is unprecedented for winter, the smaller streams being so low that manufacturing is seriously interrupted, while the wells and reservoirs are very generally uncomfortably low or quite exhausted.

A Wayne County, Ind., youth skated into a hole on the Whitewater a few evenings ago, and went under, but on coming to the surface, was seized by Miss Ida Williams, and held until rescued. Good girl.

The Missaukee Reporter says that from Houghton Lake to Evart is a long distance to go to mill, yet a settler near the former place recently performed the feat, carrying the grist on his back the whole distance, being one hundred miles.

Some time ago a London dramatic critic published in Vanity Fair a criticism on a performance of "opera-bouffe," in which he said that the theatre presented "the worst orchestra, some of the flattest singing, and one of the most indecent dancers in London." Vanity Fair was thereupon sued for libel, but the Court ruled that if the criticism was, in the opinion of the jury, a fair one, it was not libelous. The jury thought it fair, and refused to award any damages to the manager of the theatre.

A GOVERNOR.

THE first and best President the United States ever had was called the "father of his country." This is the true character of a genuine president, or of a genuine governor of a State or Territory. He should be a father to the people over whom he has been elected or otherwise chosen governor, seeking at all times the advancement of their general welfare and prosperity. He should not be a partisan, he should not be a cliquist nor a ringite. It is none of his duty to favor one portion of the people at the expense of the other portion, but it is his duty to take a liberal and comprehensive view of the situation and the peculiarities of the people, and to administer in his duties with an impartial hand towards all, that he may win, or at least merit, the respect and esteem of all.

It is altogether an incorrect idea that the "Mormon" portion of the inhabitants of Utah, albeit they constitute an overwhelming majority of the whole of the people, desire their chief magistrate to favor them at the expense of the minority, or any portion thereof. This would not be fair. But they do desire, and they know it is their right, that the chief ruler of the Territory should not act towards them with prejudice and toward the minority with partiality, for that is not fair. The only fair thing is impartiality towards all. With a fair field and no partiality to any party, the "Mormon" or major portion of the community will be more than satisfied, they will be thankful, and they will rejoice, for under such a regime they would have every reasonable opportunity to enjoy all the rights and privileges of American citizenship, in common with all other citizens, so far as can be done in a Territory, and this is all they wish.

HONESTY THE BEST POLICY.

AMID the prevailing corruption of the times in official life, it is pleasant to observe a general utterance of congratulation over the election of some men to the U. S. Senate, who have the reputation of possessing a fair degree of honesty. Mr. Christiancy, of Michigan, is regarded as one of these. It is said that he "feels satisfied that the country has been and is being greatly injured by extreme partisanship, and one consideration that tends to reconcile him to the choice of the legislature is that he is placed in a position where he can act according to his convictions of right, independent of party."

Of the newly elected senator for Rhode Island the New York Herald speaks in this familiar style, "'Bully for you, little Rhody!' Your new senator can take more responsibility than is always necessary, but he won't steal."

A third example of this class is Andrew Johnson, the newly elected Senator for Tennessee. He terms himself "an unadulterated Democrat." The press very generally is inclined to be congratulatory upon the subject of his return to Congress, and that chiefly for the reason of his popular reputation for stubborn honesty. "His sterling honesty," "his personal honesty is undisputed," "he refused all presents and and bribes," and similar expressions are freely uttered concerning him, at the same time that his sharp, unconciliatory tongue and not always very prudent actions are as freely acknowledged, but these are excused because of his generally admitted "simple republicanism and integrity."

MILITIA.—The enrolled militia of Massachusetts, says an exchange, numbers 212,147 men.

The enrolled militia of Utah numbers 0, because it has been suspended by gubernatorial proclamation, notwithstanding the fact that the constitution says, explicitly, "A well regulated militia being necessary to the security of a free state, the right of the people to keep and bear arms shall not be infringed."

TO-DAY'S DISPATCHES.

CONGRESSIONAL.

SENATE.

Retirement of Emory, Etc.

WASHINGTON, 3.—Logan introduced a bill, authorizing the retirement of General W. H. Emory, of the U. S. A. with the rank and pay of a brigadier general; referred.

The house bill appropriating $25,000 to defray the expenses of entertaining Kalakaua during his recent visit here, was passed.

The senate then disposed of a large number of bills reported by the committee on pensions.

Identified.

WASHINGTON, 3.—Wm. M. Tenny, former general manager of Jay Cooke & Co's banking house, was before the ways and means committee to-day, and identified the checks received from and the certificates of deposit issued to Schumaker, by the bank in June 1872.

The Civil Rights Bill.

The civil rights bill is now directly before the House, and the Senate bill has been offered as a substitute. It will be discussed all day as the previous question cannot be seconded before to-morrow, except by a two-thirds vote.

EASTERN.

Caucus on Southern Affairs—The Committee on Rules.

CHICAGO, 3.—A Washington special says the House caucus last evening, for the purpose of considering White's proposition for governing the disorders in the South with the aid of the military, was so slimly attended that nothing definite was done. The general impression among the majority of the republicans is that it is too late in the session for any more political legislation. The same dispatch says that immediately after adjournment yesterday, Speaker Blaine tendered one of the vacant places on the committee on rules to Speer, of Pa., who indignantly rejected it, on the ground that neither he nor any other democrat would be a cipher in the committee; the position was tendered to several other democrats, but all declined, and the prospect now is that the committee for the rest of the session will be unanimously republican.

Political Gossip.

There appears to be a good deal of talk of an extra session, as there remains but four weeks of the present session, and business is greatly behind.

The Tribune's special says the Secretary of the Treasury strongly favors the proposed new mint at Chicago.

It is generally believed that Tyner, congressman from Indiana, will be appointed second assistant postmaster general in place of Roult, who is to be appointed governor of Colorado.

The position of Pinchbeck before the Senate committee on elections is said to be this—there is now a majority of one in favor of seating him, and if Carpenter returns his negative vote will tie the committee. The Tribune special says, that as an indication of the drift of feeling on the Louisiana question, it may be stated that a Senator, hitherto one of the most ardent and consistent supporters of the administration, and a devout believer in the outrage business, stated, today, with emphasis and enthusiasm, that the whole Kellogg government is a fraud, and that he will not vote either in or out of the caucus to recognize it as the legal government, and wont vote to seat Pinchbeck, nor allow himself to be bound to do so.

Carpenter Defeated.

MADISON, Wis., 3.—The Legislature in joint convention, this morning, elected Angus Cameron U. S. Senator. The result was brought about by a coalition of the democrats with the bolting republicans; the latter offered the democrats four names from which they might choose a candidate, Judge Cole, Ex-Governor Lewis, General Guppey, and Angus Cameron; the democratic caucus last night, nominated Cameron conditionally upon his acceptance of a platform that includes hard money tariff for revenue only, and the supremacy of civil authority in time of peace. Cameron is a lawyer, a resident of Lacrosse, 49 years old, came to Wisconsin in '57, has served six years in the State Legislature, was speaker of the House in '67. The vote stood—Cameron 69; Carpenter 58, scattering 4.

Fire.

BOSTON, 3.—A fire last night, in block No. 165 to 171, Broadway, South Boston, destroyed the stocks of the occupants and damaged the building $25,000; insurance $10,000.

FOREICN.

SPAIN.

Pampeluna Relieved—The Pope Writes to Carlos.

MADRID, 3.—General Moriones announces the relief of Pampeluna; the Carlists in an engagement at Oteiza, were defeated.

It is reported that the Pope has written to Don Carlos, expressing his sympathy, but advising him to reconsider his determination to continue the war, as the dignity of the Catholic church has been vindicated and the rights of the clergy recognized by Alphonso.

About the Two Railroads.

SALT LAKE CITY,
Feb. 2, 1875.

Editor Deseret News:

As it seems to be a settled question that there is to be a narrow guage railroad between this City and Ogden, the question naturally arise—What is the purpose? and, What object is to be attained that might not be accomplished by less expensive means, thus leaving considerable capital to be invested in other directions with more certainty of a return and a corresponding greater benefit to the community? Are the existing railroad facilities insufficient, and if so, can they not be made fully equal to the demand, with far less expense than by building an entirely new line of road?

The answer I think would be, Lay down a third rail on the U. C. R. R., which could be spiked to the same ties, and would cost but a trifle in comparison, besides terminal arrangements; adopt the point switch, worked by the station-master or deputy, at passing places, instead of the miserable sliding rail as at present; put up efficient interlocking signals, and then try what could be done by putting thereon the same amount of rolling stock that would otherwise be necessary to work a narrow guage road.

To find the number of trains that can be run when thus arranged, let us take the greatest distance between stations, viz., from Ogden to Kaysville, sixteen and a half miles. This will be too much for rapid transit, so, at about half way between stations, establish a passing place, making the distance about eight miles and a quarter; then from Kaysville to Wood's Cross, nine miles and a half; from Wood's Cross to the City, eight miles and three quarters; the greatest distance being nine miles and a half, which at an average travelling rate of twenty-five miles per hour, would take, including time for starting, say half an hour to each stage, making two hours in all. Trains could leave every hour, and arrive every half hour, making, in ten hours, ten trains each way, one half of which may be wide guage and one half narrow, and by adopting the staff system, four staffs for the whole time would render it absolutely impossible for an accident from either rear or butting collision to occur.

Whether the traffic for some time to come will require more accommodation than can be thus afforded, I very much doubt. If it should, all that would be needed to double it in amount would be to double the number of turnouts and travel at thirty miles per hour. Of course either arrangement would require a considerable increase of rolling stock, but not so much as a second railroad, besides requiring but little extra grading and ties, viz., at the turnouts.

ENGINEER.

A Red-Hot Gospeler on the Louisiana Troubles.

At the regular weekly meeting of the Methodist preachers of Boston and vicinity, held at Wesleyan Hall Tuesday afternon, the recent difficulties in Louisiana were discussed at considerable length. Bishop Bowman gave an account of what he knew about the treatment of colored people in Louisiana, narrating a number of instances in which they had been shamefully abused, and deprived of life, even. By invitation, Rev. B. I. Ives, of New York, addressed the meeting, and his speech was of the most radical kind. He declared there is altogether too much toadyism on the part of Northern people in their treatment of the South.

He said we are undertaking now to coax the devil out of the miserable whelps down South, when nothing but strychnine and cannon ought to be used. He rather agreed with Phil. Sheridan's declaration during the war, "that if he had owned hell and Texas, he would lease out Texas and live in the other place." Mr. Ives administered a castigation to the Church, declaring that there is not a paper in the Methodist Church that dares to discuss the civil rights bill, and ask that it be enforced. He said he believed the meanest rascals in the South are in the Methodist Church South. He declared himself a radical of the strongest kind, and said he believed the more he hated the rebels of the South, the more he loved God.

He declared he believed the spirit now rampant in the South has got to be crushed out by another war, and he longed for the appearance of some colored man able to become a leader among his people, wielding the sword and torch. He said the Bishops ought to come out publicly and declare the whole truth about the treatment of the colored people in the south, but he didn't believe they would. If they did he knew they couldn't return to the south, for if they did they would be hung; but he intimated that it was no worse to hang a bishop than a minister, but he suggested if it was done it might wake up the people quicker than anything else.

He thought the bishops were too tender-hearted, and they reminded him of the man who wanted to cut off his dog's tail, but he was too tender-hearted to cut it off where it ought to be, so he cut it off an inch at a time. The speech of Mr. Ives was received with frequent demonstrations of approval, some of his most radical utterances exciting considerable applause, mingled with laughter.—Boston Herald.

Our Country Contemporaries.

Ogden Junction, Feb. 2—

The C. P. train was four and a half hours late to-day.

At a meeting of citizens held in the City Hall to-day, the following persons were put in nomination to be voted for at the municipal election, to be held on the 8th inst.:

L. J. Herrick for Mayor; F. A. Brown, Walter Thompson and David Moore for Aldermen; and C. W. Penrose, D. M. Stuart, Israel Canfield, Joseph Stanford and Joseph Parry for Councilors.

The Mayor of Cork presented Barry Sullivan with two pieces of plate with the "wildest enthusiasm."

There was recently twenty-seven American bids and one Canadian bid for the improvement of the Saut Ste. Marie's canal, and the Canadian bid was the lowest of all.

The Fayetteville, Ark., Democrat says it would be better for the Legislature to sit in their seats chew pig-tail tobacco and whittle soft pine than to spend their time in passing many of the bills they do.

A recent patent for a map consists in having those portions intended to represent the rivers, lakes and oceans filled with actual water. This is done by attaching the map to a back of wood of sufficient thickness. The rivers, etc., are dug out, filled with water and glazed. Such maps may be hung upon the wall in the usual manner.

The Governor of Michigan, a state with a prohibitory law and 6,000 liquor saloons, asks the legislature in his annual message: "Why not recognize the fact that there is a difference between drinking and drunkenness." He favors a license law, with a broad distinction in the amount of tax between the sale of distilled liquors and malt beverages.

The Youngstown, O., Register tells the following: "A man employed in one of the iron mills in this place had his finger cut off in the large shears. The first intimmation that Mr. Cook had of his misfortune was from a fellow workman, who picked up the end of the severed finger from under the shears and handed to him."

You ask WHY we can sell First Class 7 Octave Pianos for $290? We answer because it costs less than $500 to make one; we have the capital through Jobbing to make only 100 per cent profit. We save an Agent's commission, and we sell direct to the player. We have no Agents to pay, and we help divide the profits between Factory price, and wholesale Jobbers' price, which are refer to over 500 Bankers, Merchants, &c., some of whom you may know) with the States in 44 States and Territories.
