DECORATION DAY.

Sports and Races at the Fair Grounds-Death of Salt Lake Boy.

Little Cottonwood stream is becom-ing noted for its deceiving denth at the bridge in Murray. Last week a young man got quite a ducking in its turbulent waters as he attempted to drive through with a single top buggy, top up at that. The waters rose to within a foot of covering the top. The next victim to be deceived was the baker who lost his bread and cakes as well as his temper when he attempt-ed to ford the rushing tide. Then came the driver of that beautiful black telephone team. His horses being came the driver of that beautiful black telephone team. His horses being thirsty he drove to the edge of the stream to water them, then on into the stream, when, to his great chagrin, his horses had to swim and the wagon went to the bottom. He scon took on the appearance of a "drowned rat" as he cut the tugs of the harness and let his horses free. A fence now prevents people from driving across this point in the stream. Special Correspondence.

Special Correspondence. Cowley, Big Horn Co., May 28.—We have had a very cold, backward spring. A frost occurred on the 25th inst. which killed tomatoes, beans and other tender plants. The weather seems to have been out of joint during the last two or three months, as we have not had so late frosts before. A very large acreage of grain has been sown and irirgating is progressing nicely. The prospect for a good market is very favorable for the coming season. Our last year's crop was pfincipally oats, as we have no grist mill within so miles, and people did not sow much wreat. This season there are hundreds of acres of wheat sown and it is to be hoped that a grist mill will be built by someone who has means to invest. BIG IRRIGATION PROJECT BIG IRRIGATION PROJECT.

The government has commenced work on the road leading to the mammoth dam which will be constructed in the Shoshone river above Cody, and the canal work will commence soon. The dam will be 170 feet high and of the same thickness as the height. The sum of two and a quarter million dollars has been set aside to reclaim this large tract of land. The canal will be 108 miles long. This enterprise will make a mod market for all this enterprise will make a miles long. This enterprise will make a good market for all that can be raised by the colony people. A number of people started today for
