

STRIKE SITUATION REMAINS UNCHANGED

Pressmen and Feeders Are Firm and Ironworkers Are Determined to Force Their Demands.

There were no new developments this morning in the strike of pressmen and feeders who are out. A number of men were congregated all morning around the entrance to Labor hall in the hope that some news might come from room 3 of the building where a meeting of the allied printing trades was in session. The meeting, it was said, by one of the committee, would likely last all day, and no news could possibly be sent out until late in the afternoon if at all. It was stated that the committee of the allied trades would determine their course and then they would hold a conference with the employers, but even this could not be confirmed.

The men seem determined to gain their point, and there was no sign of yielding among the men this morning. Some of them say they can go elsewhere and do much better than in Salt Lake, and all of them feel that their strike is just. One of the men who has a family says he cannot keep his family on $12 per week. Another objected to the overtime work, which, he says, comes hard after six days work in the kind of place he has to work in. The employers will probably do nothing in the matter until they are approached by the men at the close of the committee meeting now being held.

The strike of the structural iron workers remains the same today, and the prospects are that it will be unchanged for several days, as the men are not inclined to yield and return to work for $4 per day. Of the 130 members of the local union all are out except about a dozen men. These are employed by A. & J. McDonald, contractors of this city, and E. H. Dunbar, who has six men employed on a bridge job in Ogden canyon for the Ogden Transit & Power company, and two men on the car barns of this city. All of the rest of the men are out, and they say they are going to stay out until they get $4.50 per day. Secy. and Business Agent J. E. Munsey of local 27 says that he is not going to make any disturbance. The men will simply play a waiting game. The regular meeting of the union will take place this evening at 8 o'clock in Eastman's hall on State street, but it is not thought that the meeting will have much bearing on the strike.

TRY TO REDUCE BAIL.

Counsel for J. T. Malone Fails to Have Motion Prevail.

At the request of the defendant's counsel, the preliminary hearing of J. T. Malone, charged with assault with intent to murder and assault with a deadly weapon, which was set for this morning, was continued until Friday, May 21.

The charges against Malone arose from an altercation in which he shot Nels Paulsen. In the court for a continuance Attorney E. L. Diehl explained to the court that the counsel for the defendant had been so engaged in adjusting the business affairs of the defendant which had suffered by reason of his detention in custody, that it had been impossible to prepare the defense in the case.

The calling of the case this morning gave Mr. Diehl an opportunity to plead for a reduction in the amount of the bond fixed in Malone's case. At the time of the arraignment the defense asked that the bond be fixed at not more than $2,500.

The state requested an amount of $10,000. The bond was fixed by Judge Bowman at $5,000.

In asking that the bond be reduced Attorney Diehl cited to the court that a few days ago David Latham, who terrorized the household of Jo Snedden, and then fired two shots at two policemen, had been bound over to the district court in bonds in the sum of $2,500, while Mr. Malone, who is only charged with having fired one shot at one man is held under $5,000 bonds.

Asst. County Atty. Bowman resisted the reduction of the amount of the bond, and the request was denied by Judge Bowman.

PLANS FOR OGDEN THEATER.

Howard Garrett and Willard Seawcroft Go to New York Tomorrow.

Howard Garrett and Willard Seawcroft leave for New York tomorrow on the Overland limited for the purpose of perfecting arrangements for presenting attractions at the Grand Opera House next season in Ogden.

While the house is now part of the Orpheum circuit under the lease recently signed, those behind the proposition feel that if they were devoted entirely to vaudeville that the Ogden theater-goers would be shut out of the legitimate drama entirely in order that the best companies might appear in Ogden. It would be necessary to build an additional theater.

The purpose of the trip is to see Martin Beck, Klaw & Erlanger, and the other big theatrical men to arrange for bookings. The scheme as it now stands, is to present a regular Orpheum bill at the Grand, and whenever there is a mood attraction seeking dates, to transfer the bill for one or two nights to Logan while standard plays and musical comedy appear at the Junction City.

ROUGH COMPANY FOR WOMAN OPERA SINGER

Mrs. H. W. Hammond Sues Southern Pacific for $10,000 Damages Because She Rode With Foreigners.

Mrs. H. W. Hammond, a young and handsome woman, who was an opera singer for several years in New York City, appeared in her suit this morning against the Southern Pacific Railroad company to recover $10,000. She alleges that she purchased a first class ticket from Ogden to Elko, Nev. On the route the railroad company took off the Pullman cars and she was compelled to sit in a chair car with foreign laborers who were smoking, drinking and swearing. When she asked the conductor to keep them quiet, he threatened to put her off the train. She says that she suffered mental anguish and that it injured her voice. The case is being tried before Judge Ritchie.

The officers are: W. J. Wild, president; E. J. Wild, vice president; and Nettie E. Wild, secretary and treasurer.

Articles of incorporation of the Utah Gold & Copper Mines company were filed in the county clerk's office today. It has a capital stock of $3,000,000, divided into shares of $1 each. The directors of the company are: Claude E. Watkins, Charles A. Spaulding, Charles E. Watkins, E. D. Earnes and Arthur Monroe.

WOMAN STILL MISSING.

In spite of all efforts to find Mrs. Canyon, the woman who disappeared from the Groves Latter-day Saints hospital on Tuesday evening saying she was going for a short walk, her whereabouts is still a mystery. The efforts of police, relatives and hospital authorities have alike been unavailing. Not the slightest trace of her had been found up to 2 o'clock this afternoon. Her sister, Mrs. M. A. Canyon, came from Nevada last night and said she was willing to pay almost any sum providing she could be found. It is stated that Mrs. Canyon has been melancholy since the death of her husband a few weeks ago, and fears are entertained that she has committed suicide, though the hospital authorities say that she exhibited no signs of mental derangement, while she was in the hospital.

MEMORY MENDING

What Food Alone Can Do for the Memory.

The influence of food upon the brain and memory is so little understood that people are inclined to marvel at it. Take a person who has been living on improperly selected food and put him upon a scientific diet in which the food Grape-Nuts is largely used and the increase of mental power that follows is truly remarkable.

A Canadian who was sent to Colorado for his health illustrates this point in a most convincing manner.

"One year ago I came from Canada a nervous wreck, so my physician said, and reduced in weight to almost a skeleton and my memory was so poor that conversations had to be repeated that had taken place only a few hours before. I was unable to rest day or night for my nervous system was shattered."

"This change of climate helped me a little but it was soon seen that this was not all that I needed. I required the proper selection of food although I did not realize it until a friend recommended Grape-Nuts to me and I gave this food a thorough trial. Then I knew what the right food could do and I began to change in my feelings and bodily condition."

"This kept up until now after six months' use of Grape-Nuts, all my nervous trouble has entirely disappeared. I have gained in flesh all that I had lost and what is more wonderful to me than anything else my memory is as good as it ever was."

"Grape-Nuts has remade me all over, mind and body, when I never expected to be well and happy again."

"There's a reason."

PUSHING WORK ON GRUTLI PROPERTY

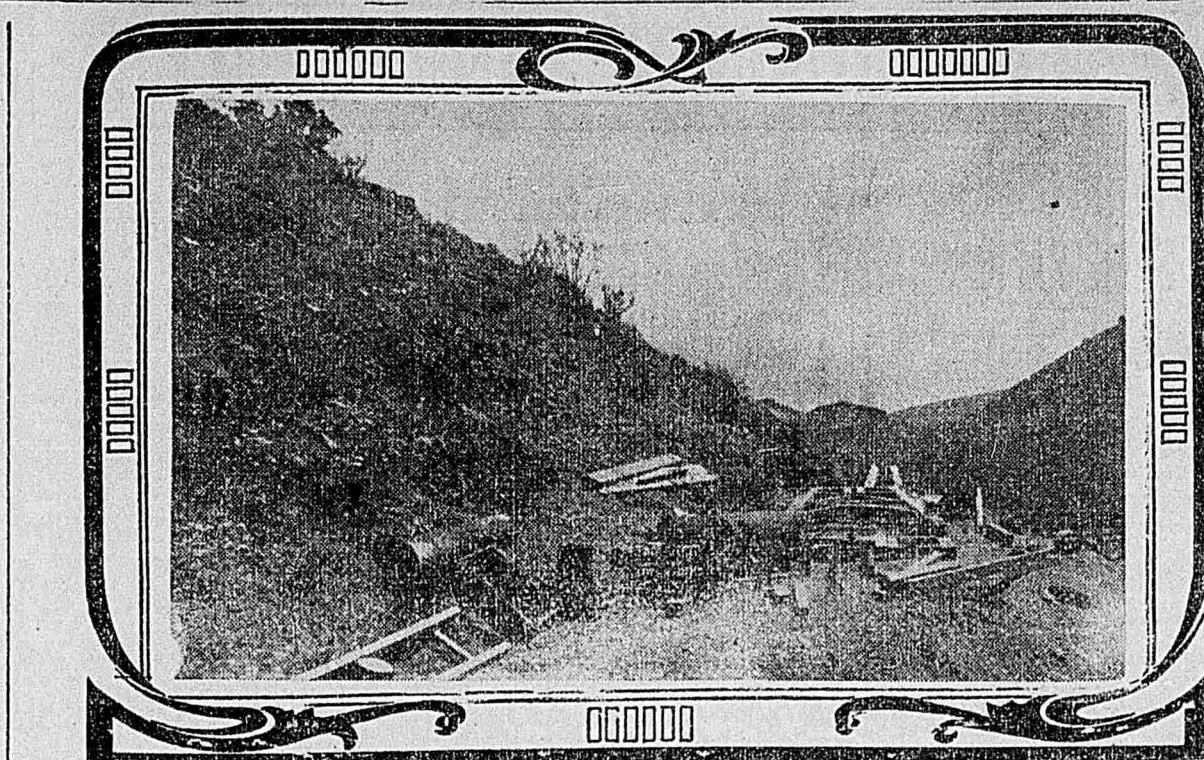

Word received from East Tintic this morning declares that the gallowes frame is now up at the shaft on the Grutli property and sinking will be started on the shaft by the last of the month. The machinery is now being installed and the boiler should be in working order in a few days. As soon as the engine room is completed and the hoist is in shape the management of the property declares some rapid work will be carried on.

The Grutli, although only a prospect, is one of the most promising in the district. For years John Brechtmeyer, father of East Tintic, has cared and watched over this property for the purpose of making it a big mine some day. While hanging on to Grutli he has let such properties as the Big Hill, East Tintic Consolidated, Eureka Lilly and Tintic Standard pass through his hands. He has held on to the one property that in his judgment he considered his best.

But a short time ago the seven claims and fractions which comprise the company's domain of something close to 100 acres, were all patented, the company incorporated for $300,000, with shares at 10 cents each $1.50 in the treasury and 250,000 shares of stock set aside for development purposes.

That the company is preparing for some real mining is shown by the shaft that is being put down. It is now down something like 67 feet and as straight as could be made. It is double compartment, heavily bolted to strong timbers. The shaft has been made safe from caving by heavy timbers that are placed outside the shaft. The gallowes frame which has just been finished is one of the finest to be found in the district. John M. Brechtmeyer, a young mining engineer, who is general manager of the property, asserts that nothing but the best is going to be put into the work.

Supplies to last during the summer have been ordered. A complete blacksmith shop and other mining machinery as is necessary will be on the ground in a few days. The lumber is now being hauled for the erection of the blacksmith shop, engine house, a large bunk house and boarding house and other work.

At present the company has a good sized boarding and bunkhouse combined, a small blacksmith shop and plenty of good well water. It is from this property that the Eureka Lilly receives its water. A good barn has been erected and the property is being equipped in the best possible manner. There is at present on the ground a good boiler and hoist and 800 feet of cable, so that the shaft may be sent to a good depth. The bottom of the shaft is now in a highly mineralized territory. At the bottom of the shaft can be found a trace of silver and copper and nearly 1 per cent in lead. It is intended to sink the shaft to the 200-foot level before drifting into the hill to get under the big iron blow out. This will give a vertical depth of 350 feet with something over 100 feet of drifting.

Walter Marshall Nesbet, the pioneer of Eureka, and one of the best informed mining men of the district recently visited the Grutli property and made somewhat of an examination. In talking of what he observed he said:

"I expected to see a good property from what I had heard and I was greatly surprised to learn of the bright prospects of this property. Everything I saw is being handled in a minerlike way. The shaft could not be better located. It gives ample room for dumping, is easily accessible and is a place that will require but little drifting. I am just as certain that there is ore in that property as I ever was of anything in my life. The formation is almost identical with that of the Eureka Hill, Mammoth, Centennial Eureka and other big producers in that zone. There is the same indication of ore to be found and the same lingo belt.

"One indication alone of the presence of mineral is the finding of copper values in the old tunnel and in the new shaft of the property and also the finding of high gold values in the blow out country at the top of the hill to the north."

"If I cannot say anything good for a property, it is best not to say anything. Of the Grutli I believe there is the formation for a bright future."
