UNCLE SAM HAS SOME JOBS.

Several Good Positions in the Civil Service Are Vacant.

Uncle Sam, through his good servants of the civil service commission, is maintaining a high, wide and handsome gate at the close of the year in an endeavor to add to his army of employees a few who will be able to plug up some scientific holes. And Orville Williams, who serves at the head of this department in the great State of Utah, is wearing a report of an engineer-physicist.

Just what this means is told in a pamphlet which says that the successful specimen will pull down just $3,000 per year, and that if the mark is not high enough on the parchment which turns in it will range from $2,000 to $2,500. The want column specifies that some one is desired who is "fully able to initiate and carry on independent research in the field of engineering physics."

An assistant chemist is wanted in the department of agriculture. He will range from $1,200 to $1,600 for the year. He must know the use of the microscope and a number of other things which the name of the position implies. Then there is a telegraph operator for the navy-yard at Pensacola, Fla., who will be paid $250 a day; an assistant organic chemist in the department of agriculture who is valued at $1,800, and an engineer in wood preservation for the forest service who is valued at $2,500, according to his qualifications. The list of calls closes with an entomological assistant in the department of agriculture with the price variously scheduled from $1,000 to $2,750.

All of these examinations will be held in the federal buildings at Salt Lake, Provo, and Logan, on Jan. 19-20.

FUTURE REAR ADMIRALS.

Nelson, state superintendent of public instruction, and President J. T. Kingsbury of the University of Utah, who constitute the majority of the examining board, decided to postpone the examination until Monday and Tuesday, Jan. 10 and 11, 1910. Mr. Nelson would like to have the examination announced in all the high schools of the state. He says that on account of the lack of advertising only a few applicants apply for an examination.

SHORTEST DAY TOMORROW.

Tomorrow will be the shortest day in the year, when the sun reaches the furthest point in his journey south, called in astronomical parlance the winter solstice. The sun remains stationary for one week, when he begins to retrace his steps northward, and the evenings begin to lengthen. But it will be Jan. 10 before the mornings begin to increase. After that, with both morning and evening lengthening out, the days increase in duration from three to three minutes each. Then, according to Tom Hood's comic annual, "As the days begin to lengthen, so the cold begins to strengthen."

LOSES EYE HE SUES THE BAMBERGER ROAD

Ten-Year-Old Boy Claims Engineer Blew Steam and Glass in His Face.

While Harry Nelson, 10 years old, was walking along the Salt Lake & Ogden Railroad tracks near the Salt Lake and Jordan Roller Mills, a train came along and whistled for him to get off the track. He stepped down the embankment and the engineer turned the steam on him, scalding him and blowing small particles of glass into his right eye which was scattered along the road bed. His eye sight was greatly impaired and now his father, James P. Nelson, asks for $10,000 as damages for his son's injuries in suit filed this morning in the third district court against the railroad company. The injuries were sustained on June 16, 1909.

In the complaint, it is alleged, that the tracks of the Salt Lake & Ogden Railroad company are used by the residents of Superior addition. It is also used by the United States mail carriers as a route on which to deliver letters. Many of the boxes being set up along side the right-of-way. Nelson says that his son was on the track walking toward home. He says that the boy left the tracks as soon as the train whistled for the roller mill crossing. Since the injury, Nelson says, that his son had been under the care of a physician, and that the loss of the sight of his eye will be permanent.

Webber, counsel for Nick Haworth, claims to have secured evidence that his client is innocent of the crime for which he has been in prison now for seven years, viz., the murder of Watchman Sandall of Layton, in that he was 15 miles distant when the watchman was killed. Webber claims Layton people have come to believe it was impossible for Haworth to have committed the crime. He brought the matter before the board of pardons Saturday, at the state prison, and Jan. 29 was set for presentation of argument. The board pardoned John F. ## JOHN P. SORENSON CALLED BY DEATH

County Horticultural Inspector and Widely Known Citizen Victim Of Pneumonia.

John P. Sorenson, after an illness that extended over 36 hours, died this morning at the L. D. S. hospital, at 4:30 o'clock. The disease which caused the death was pneumonia, with complications. Mr. Sorenson was taken sick Saturday at his home, 673 Sixth avenue, and failed so rapidly that he was removed to the hospital. The funeral will be held on Thursday at 2 o'clock from the Twenty-first ward chapel, and the interment will be in the city cemetery.

John Peter Sorenson was born on Oct. 17, 1837, at Vestermark Kjar, near Sonderborg, on the island of Als, Denmark, which is now a part of Germany. He learned the trade of carpenter and in his early manhood went to sea. In common with the adventurous spirits of that age, he saw many lands and adventures before he quitted the work before the mast and his roving habits.

He suffered shipwreck in the Shipwreck club, engaged in mining during the great excitement in Australia, spent nine years in New Zealand, and, on his way to Europe by way of the United States in 1870, got into the great earthquake at Honolulu in the Hawaiian Islands. He came to California and started overland for his faraway home.

When he reached Utah he began to forget of sea adventures and his home. He located in Salt Lake where he first became part proprietor of the Valley Railroad company. He was a prominent member of the Masons, the Odd Fellows, and the Knights of Pythias. Later on he joined the Church and until his death was a prominent member.

In 1879 he was again sent to New Zealand, this time on a mission, and he experienced great hardships. He was finally returned with great success. He returned to Utah in 1881 and engaged in the furniture business. Again he went on a mission, this time to his native land. Returning he started a farm at West Jordan and built a home. In the Twenty-first ward, where he has lived continuously ever since.

He has been honored by elevation to a number of civic offices, such as auditor of school lands, county fruit tree inspector, and commissioner to locate a state experiment farm in southern Utah. He became very popular financially through an extensive furniture business but the calamities of the panic of 1893-1894 brought him many reverses.

Rickard leaves for Ely, Nev., tomorrow.

Governor Spry and Party left Saturday for Camden, N. J., to be present at the launching of the battleship Utah, hence the state executive could not be interviewed in regard to the above dispatch.

WOMEN RISE TO PROTEST

tion of the juvenile court instead of in custody of the police, had stopped at the cooking fire, on his way to the so-called toilet; that De Mar's low shoes were cracked around the sides, the soles were worn through to the ground, and his feet were freezing. De Mar did not have a coat or glove. He was quite sick and could hardly speak because of a bad cold. Harris, the prisoner, rode up to the fire, where De Mar was trying to warm his feet, and ordered De Mar to get out and run back to the chain gang. De Mar, his fellow prisoners averred, showed Harris his broken soles shoes, and pressed the water out of them, and begged to be allowed to warm himself for a few minutes. Harris, they say, deliberately rode De Mar down, and beat him with a long leather strap with which he tied his horse, clear from the cooking fire to the chain gang working on F street. De Mar, his friends say, was sitting by the stove in the Volunteers' America hall on east First South street, last Tuesday night, when the clerk went across the street to the police station and returned with an officer, who arrested 12 unfortunate who had sought refuge from the bitter cold. They were all given 30 days in the city jail. The woman told prisoners said that a young man, who is a nephew of Officer Heath, saw Harris beat De Mar.

NEWS MAKES INVESTIGATION.

Last Saturday morning, when a representative of The News investigated the chain gang, in response to numerous complaints from the people living in that neighborhood, one of the most pathetic figures was a young fellow by the name of Tipton, 17 years of age, who had been in the city jail for two weeks ago, and sentenced to serve 30 days. He was placed on the chain gang and sent out in zero weather with snow storms raging, to work on the chain gang, without gloves or overcoat.

Last Saturday, he had on a native land, returned he started a farm at West Jordan and built a home. In the Twenty-first ward, where he has lived continuously ever since. He has been honored by elevation to a number of civic offices, such as auditor of school lands, county fruit tree inspector, and commissioner to locate a state experiment farm in southern Utah. He became very popular financially through an extensive furniture business but the calamities of the panic of 1893-1894 brought him many reverses.

One of the worst cases of mistreatment on the chain gang was that of Frank Tipton, who was given a 90-day sentence last April. He has been working for Mrs. Latham, a well known and highly respected lady, who has lived here for 40 years, at Third South and Fourth West streets. He had also been working for her son, William Latham, of 64 west south street. Schlesinger was picked up a week ago last Monday, and the police never even gave him a hearing, but put him on the chain gang to serve the 90 days to which he had been unjustly sentenced last April. Schlesinger was working when he was given this outrageous sentence. Mr. Latham had given him a job, and he should have worked on the day he was arrested a week ago last Monday. The police did not let him go into court and tell his side of the case, but put him right on the chain gang. Schlesinger is very sick. He is afflicted with a double rupture. This he showed to Dr. Frank B. Steele, who is paid a large salary by the city to attend to such work, and Dr. Steele, he says, told him to "send out and get a truss." Schlesinger told Dr. Steele that he had no money with which to send out and buy a truss, whereupon Dr. Steele replied: "Well, we don't buy trusses for every ruptured bum." Schlesinger begged and pleaded not to be taken out on the chain gang, but he was forced to go. Thursday morning, he laid for four hours in the snow, with both ruptures torturing him, and Harris kicked him time and again and told him to get to work. The treatment of Schlesinger almost caused a mutiny among the other prisoners, who had been driven to desperation by the abuse of Anderson and De Mar.

The conditions in the city prison are the worst in the history of that home of hate. When Chief of Police Barlow bragged in The Tribune that he had broken the record by cramming 105 prisoners, some of whom were women, into the city prison, it was learned that in the "black hole," where there were only places to sleep and comforts for 16 men, just 32 prisoners had been jammed. The 16 bunks accommodated that many men. The others were forced to sleep on the damp cement floor, without any covering whatsoever. The conditions in the city prison is vile, and the stenographer is fearful. The place is not fit for a hog to stay in.

DYING OF BLOOD POISONING.

One of the worst cases in the city prison is that of John Bland, 62 years of age, who had been there already for two months on Dec. 12. He was kicked by a horse, a short time before being sent to jail, and Dr. Sharp treated him. He was on the way to recovering the use of his right leg, when he was thrown into jail. There he has lain without medical treatment ever since. His right leg is literally rotten from the thigh down. The flesh is gangrened, and the leg will either have to be amputated or the aged man will die from blood poisoning. Septicemia has already set in. The leg is one enormous sore, exuding blood and matter. Bland is not even allowed bandages and cotton and antiseptics with which to dress his own leg. The chief prisoners say that Bland will almost certainly die. The crime of which this old, friendless, helpless man is guilty is poverty! He was sentenced to the city prison for vagrancy!

HARRIS' RECORD. George Harris, the man chosen by Chief of Police Samuel Barlow to take charge of the chain gang, has a record. He shot and killed Mike Aaron, a prisoner on the chain gang, about two years and a half ago. Harris is also the man who arrested a man as a "drunk" against the protests of a large crowd that had gathered at the corner of Main and First South streets, some time ago. This man was thrown into the drunk tank and allowed to writhe there in agony until the prisoners screamed and pounded on the bars. The jailer got out to see what the matter was, and the sick man was sent to St. Mark's hospital. He died just as the patrol wagon got in front of the hospital. The physician declared that he died of epilepsy. Chief of Police Barlow at that time gave out a long interview defending Harris against numerous charges of brutality.

George Harris was employed for a short time at the state prison as a guard, but he fell asleep on duty and was discharged. He still brags about how he "made the prisoners respect and fear him" when he was in charge of the punishment squad. That was nine years ago, but under the regime of Warden Pratt, no guard is allowed to punish a prisoner under any circumstances. Harris, however, is allowed by Chief Barlow to satisfy his lust for brutality as a guard of the chain gang on the police force, although Harris was so cruel and incompetent that he could not be tolerated as a guard at the penitentiary.

BIG MONEY ORDER RECORD.

Orwell Williams Gets Hold of $38,000 Before Breakfast.

Orwell Williams, chief of the money order department of the postoffice, is making a reputation as gourmand in the financial line. This morning, before he went out for breakfast, he read, chewed and digested exactly $38,176.35, which is going some. The bankers of the city have made some records in the past year, but this general employee of Uncle Sam has certainly set a record which will make Greater Salt Lake financiers go some to make.

The fact that the money order department of the local postoffice there come daily remittances from the surrounding territory and the holiday receipts have been exceptionally large. Mr. Williams is thinking seriously of hiring a guard with a gat to protect him when he goes out to breakfast, or of inducing Mayor Bransford to detail a platoon of police for his protection.

RAILROAD NEWS.

TWO ROUTES PROPOSED.

Hudson Bay Railway Considering Fort Churchill and Fort Nelson.

Ottawa, Ont., Dec. 20.—Two routes for the proposed Hudson Bay railway are being considered by the Dominion government. The lines considered are to Fort Churchill and to Fort Nelson from the Pas Mission. M. J. Butler, deputy minister of railways, seems to favor Fort Nelson. He says: "The Fort Nelson line is shorter by 67 miles. There is also a probability that a fair proportion of the route is available for settlement, whereas on the Churchill route there is no probability beyond Split Lake, where the line separates. The sea route will pass to the north of Ireland, and the distance from Liverpool to Fort Nelson is 3,200 miles, against 4,607 from Montreal to Liverpool."

Mr. Butler estimates the complete cost of the railway to Fort Nelson, with 50-pound rails, at $281,800.
