

NEGROES ALLURED TO THE ISTHMUS.

Went There With Anticipation of Securing Work on the Canal.

WON'T BE ANY FOR A YEAR.

Chief Sanitary Officer Gorgas Sounds a Note of Warning—Colon a Filthy Place.

Washington, Sept. 13.—A report received by the public health and marine officer service from Chief Sanitary Officer Gorgas at Colon says that the census of Colon now being computed will show a population of from 7,500 to 8,000. The population is steadily increasing, owing to the arrivals of Jamaicans and other West Indian negroes on every steamer from Jamaica and the South and Central American coasts.

The report says that these immigrants are allured to the isthmus of Panama by the prospect of work on the canal and sounds a note of warning that it will be a year or more before any large number of laborers will be needed. The newcomers are found as victims of malarial fever.

The report says that the permanent improvement of Colon will be an enormous task of some magnitude, that at this season the greater part of the town is a morass, "to which is added the accumulation of rubbish and filth of a population utterly indifferent to ordinary cleanliness."

Some sections of the town, according to competent engineers, would have to be filled to 10 feet to bring the level to only three feet above tide water. The better part of the town, except the railroad property along the water front, is officially pronounced "bad enough" with the back yards under water, the pools of stagnant slime under the doors of even the best buildings and the filthy cesspools, while the sections where the majority of the negro and native laborers live in miserable shacks built on piles above the swamp, defy description.

The report refers to the crusade against the mosquito on the isthmus, and adds: "I have been informed that one of the worst localities is Culebra, where the actual work of excavating is going on, and that malarial fever is particularly prevalent among the laborers there. Here the larvae are found in all the pools and puddles on the terraces in the cut, a very significant fact when the amount of excavating to be done is considered."

Extradited from Mexico.
El Paso, Tex., Sept. 13.—The Mexican state department certified to the United States district attorney here that the court order extraditing Vance Fulkerson had been approved. Fulkerson, while inspector and appraiser in the United States customs service here, had embezzled funds, and a grand jury returned indictments on 40 counts against him. He left at once for Mexico, where he was later arrested. He will now be returned to El Paso for trial.

This is the first instance on record of the return of a government official from Mexico for embezzlement, by the Mexican authorities, and, owing to the prominence of the prisoner, has attracted much attention.

le tube systems in some of the largest Chicago business houses. The cost of the line is placed at $5,000,000. As the distance is about 84.5 miles, this is at the rate of $62,500. Expenses of maintenance and operation will be so small it is asserted, that the company can afford to carry freight at less than the price now charged by any common carrier.

By the vacuum system used by the company, the air in the tubes is partly exhausted in front of the carriers instead of being forced at high pressure back of the carriers, as in other pneumatic systems. An arrangement of pumps, valves and levers makes it possible to divide the line into short sections, each operated independently so that distance, according to the company, practically cuts no figure as regards practicability of operation.

GERMANY AND RUSSIA.
History of an Alleged Understanding Between Them.

London, Sept. 13.—The Times, in a special article, gives the history of an alleged understanding arrived at between Germany and Russia, which, it believes, took definite shape at the time of the common imperial negotiations in 1902, and which will secure to Russia Germany's support in the ultimate settlement of terms of peace with Japan and to Germany, so far as Russia is concerned, a free hand in future for the carrying out of her scheme of world politics on lines of least resistance to China, namely, where it will come in contact only with British interests.

Emperor William, in seeking this agreement, the article says, believed Russia would be eventually victorious and his goal will have already reached Russia to send her finest troops from the western provinces to the far east, and to a certain extent dismantle the western fortresses of Russia of sleep guards for the seat of war.

Besides facilitating Russian purchases of ships and war material in Germany, it was also intended that the warships at Port Arthur and Vladivostok should be given refuge at Kiao Chou in order to be available at the conclusion of the war, in the hands of German diplomacy for exercising pressure upon Japan in concluding peace.

The degree into which Prince Ouktomsky, the Russian naval commander at Port Arthur, has fallen gives the measure of the importance attached to this movement in St. Petersburg.

Foreign Bank for New York.
New York, Sept. 14.—It is reported in financial circles that two large continental banks are making preparations to establish in this city a bank to handle their business in this country. The names of the banks which are to take this novel step have not yet been disclosed, but preliminary steps have been taken. It is stated, such as the selection of quarters for the new institution.

The establishment will constitute a departure from the custom of foreign banks, which, up to this time, have been content to maintain branch offices here, in charge of agents sent from Europe. In the present case the plan provides for a bank, with a capital of $500,000, which will receive deposits and transact a regular banking business. Representatives of the two banks interested are expected to arrive next month to complete the details of the transaction.

In the center army under the command of Gen. Nodzu, 4,922 men. In the right army, under the command of Gen. Kuroki, 4,466 men. In the left army, under the command of Gen. Oku, 7,581 men. These casualties include 138 officers killed and 454 officers wounded. The fact that the army under Gen. Oku sustained the heaviest losses is accounted for by its assaults upon the Russian defenses to the south of Liao Yang.

LEARNED HORSE HANS.
Scientific Commission Surprised At Intelligence of Animal.

Berlin, Sept. 13.—The learned horse Hans has just stood a successful examination before a scientific commission including physiologists, trainers and others. Their reports set forth that the evidence he gave of comprehending handwriting, his musical and color discrimination and mathematical work were performed under circumstances excluding the possibility of a trick.

The methods of the horse's owner, Hess von Oster, are pronounced to be those of a pedagogue rather than of an animal trainer. The case appears to them to be wholly exceptional and to deserve thorough scientific study.
