OGDEN. UTAH. - - FEB. 1, 1902. RELIEF SOCIETY REUNION

Held in Honor of the Seventy-Ninth Birthday

Of its President, Jane S. Richards. Federation of Women's Clubs Meeting

-Weber Stake Academy - Salt Lake

Opera Company in Ogden.

One of the most pleasing and harmonious events of the season was the birthday reunion given by the officers of the Relief Society of the Weber Stake, in honor of their president, Sisjer Jane S. Richards, on her 79th birthday, Friday, Jan. 31, 1902, of which the following is a brief report. The assembly was called to order by Sister C. E. Driver, and after a short service of song and prayer, Sister H. C. Brown made a few preliminary remarks and read a report of the Jubilee held August 8, 1901, which was given by the Relief Societies, after Sister Richards had been presiding over them twenty years. She had called the young people together and talked to them on the subject of mutual improvement, the first meeting of the kind held in our midst; it showed also that Mrs. Rishards was instrumental in establishing the stake conference of the Relief Society, through the advice of President Brigham

Bishop Robert McQuarrie in a brief address said that it was better to speak of the good qualities of our friends while they live instead of waiting till they are gone. Sister Richards, he said, had remarkable skill in searching out the sick, the afflicted, downeast and poor, and excellent ability in supplying their wants. She lived not herself but to make others comfortable and happy. The venerable Bishep made many eulogistic remarks concerning the labors of Sister Rich-

Sister R. E. Moench, gave expression to the love and devotion of the Sisters towards their respected president, and read a beautiful poem composed by Sister Sarah Jane Wilson from the Taylor Society, written especially for Eder Samuel W. Richards expressed gatitude for the great demonstrations of lave for Sister Richards. Her works, said, are better known in the hearens than they are here, and she was well prepared to go whenever the Father called her, but hoped that she might spared yet many years.

Sister Wilcox, sister to the late Aposand Sister Sarah Jane Cannon made many pleasing and cheering remarks, adding their congratulations and wishes for many returns of the day.

Hon. F. S. Richards expressed the nother and thanked her kind friends every manifestation of love extended her and for their presence on this made many sacrifices in order that he and his brothers and sisters might receive scholastic training. Sister Mary Farley then sang "The Perfect Life," as only Sister Mary

Bishop Barnard White made many excellent remarks concerning the labors of Sister Richards which he highly appreciated: spoke also of the Weber Stake Relief society building now in course of erection and trusted that by the hearty co-operation of the bishops and the societies the house would be finished at an early date.

Sister Lula Green Richards said it one of her sons would speak of her as Brother F. S. Richards had spoken of is mother, she would feel repaid for yery trial she had passed through from Sister Bathsheba W. Smith, and said that Sisters Dougall and Beattle and others sent their regrets for not-being able to be present.

Hishop Myron Richards indorsed all hat had been said, spoke of the good works of Sister Richards and added his essings. Sister Mary Farley then sang the Holy City."

President Jane S. Richards said if she could only make herself believe she was one-half as good as the brethren and sisters had said she was, she would certainly go straight to heaven without doing anything else, but she knew herself better and expected to work as long as she was able. She would like to have the Relief Society house finished and dedicated July 19, 1902, as that was the Society's special day. What has been accomplished was not due to her alone but to the Spirit of God and her willing colaborers who had responded so cheerfully to every call After singing "The Spirit of God Like a Fire is Burning," and benedic-tion by Hon. Joseph A. West, the congregation, of about 200 adjourned to the amusement hall, where a delicious and bounteous repast was served.

At the tables toasts were rendered by Hon. Joseph A. West, President C. F. Middleton, Hon. C. C. Richards, Bishop E. T. Woolley, Elder Stone, and Bishop Martin. The congregation then sang "Praise God from whom all blessings The closing prayer was offered other B. C. Stevenson.

A birthday cake beautifully decorated, bearing the inscription "In honor of Sister F. D. Richards' birthday, Jan. 31, 1992," was presented by Sister Sophia Madson of the Marriotts Soci-

A lovely bouquet of carnations and evergreens was sent with congratulaions from Sister Jennings, Salt Lake Hishop David McKay of Huntaville and John Watson of the Fifth ward sent greetings and regrets at not be-ing able to be present. There were present beside the officers and bishops of the several wards Elder S. W. Richards and wife, Myron Richards, Luiz Green Richards, Maria Wilcox, Sarah Jane Cannon, Sister Stevenson, President C. F. Middleton; of Sister Richard's family, Hon. F. S. Richards, Emily S. Richards, Joseph A. West, Josephine Richards West, C. C. Richards Sr., C. C. Richards Jr., and Sister L. M. Richards.

FEDERATION OF WOMENS' CLUBS A meeting of the directors of the Utah Federation of Women's clubs was held in Ogden yesterday afternoon. The clubs decided in favor of the admission of colored women as delegates to the national federation if they present themselves with the necessary credentials from a regular state organization. The question was before the board on the respective merits of the Georgia plan of organization for the National Federation as against Massachusetts plan. The former was for making colored delegates ineligible and the latter was for allowing each state to send such delegates as it may seem proper. The entire Massachuseits plan was also endorsed by the directors, excert that an increase of dues from 4 cents to 10 cents per capita wan advocated. The Massachusetts plan of working for civil service reform was also approved. Two shades of yellow was also adopted by the gathering as the Utah State Federation col-

WEBER STAKE ACADEMY NOTES.

The increase at the academy is still were entered upon the register last Monday morning. The institution was honored by a vist from President Middleton on the 9th of January, and Bishop McQuarrie on the 16th of the month. Both brethren gave excellent instruction to the mis-sionary class. This class now is one of the largest in the academy, and is composed of some excellent bome tal-All acem to be intensely interested in their work.

The Olympian society had an inter-esting meeting on Thursday evening. The subject of debate was "Resolved, That old bachelors over twenty-six years of age should be made to pay a special tax." The decision was in favor of the affirmative. The subject artanged for the next debate is, "Who did more for the government, John Marshall or George Washington?" The society has also arranged for a lecure to be given by Hon. William H.

King in the near future. The new "Premier" typewriters and tables are giving excellent satisfaction. The commercial department has a livey air with every available space in the room fully occupied. Prof. Nelson is doing good work and is much appreciated by the students.

The missionary class has organised a basketball team and judging from the practice last week and the good work done, they will soon be ready to com-pete for Lonors among leading teams. The ladies basketball team is also making earnest efforts to be up in the front

A spirit of earnestness of work is exhibited by the students in the several classes scarcily ever witnessed in previous years; and the teachers are all pleased at the prosepets for good examinations at the end of the school

Prof. Hayes is doing good work in the library and the prospects are that several new volumes will be added to the collection in the near future.
