

UTAH PACKING COMPANY

Reincorporates Under a New Title
With Additional Capital and Infusion of New Investors.

The International Packing company of Salt Lake City filed its articles of incorporation with the county clerk this morning. The company is composed entirely of Utah capitalists, and the amount of the capital stock, 10 percent of which is paid up, is $200,000, divided into 2,000 shares of the value of $100 each. James A. Eldredge of Wood's Cross is named as president of the company. David L. Evans, vice president; C. R. Long, secretary; W. S. McCormick, treasurer, and these, together with George C. Whitmore, W. H. McIntyre, Samuel McIntyre, W. G. Crawford, James East, Elroy and James C. Leary comprise the directors. The remainder of the stock is carried in the treasury for the benefit of the concern, whose business is given as that of manufacturing, slaughtering and packing meats and for conducting cold storage and provision business generally.

The above is practically a reincorporation of the Utah Packing company, with an infusion of new financial life from additional investors. The stock of the Utah company is handed over to the new corporation, which by the change of name and acquisition of new capital, is made more general in its scope and operations.

BUMPED HIS HEAD.

William Burns Interested in Dead Dog
Sues for $10,000 Damages.

Claiming that his left arm is permanently injured and weakened, and that he suffered great physical and mental pain and anguish as a result of the force of a blow in which his head and body came in violent contact with a pole while riding as a passenger on one of the street cars of the Utah Light and Railway company on May 1, 1904, William Burns filed a suit in the third district court this morning asking for $10,000 damages against the Utah Light and Railway company.

In his complaint Mr. Burns alleges that he was a passenger on one of the cars of defendant corporation on the first day of May, 1904, and that because of the excessive crowding of the car he was compelled to stand upon the platform in order to ride; that by reason of the negligence of the company in permitting persons to stand in close proximity to the rails of the track, namely four inches in the clear, and by reason of the fact that the car upon which he was a passenger ran over a dog and plaintiff, leaning over slightly to see what was going on, his head came into violent contact with one of the poles standing close to the track, knocking him down and injuring him greatly. Plaintiff claims defendant should have maintained a gate or door or other protection where the poles were in such close proximity to the track, and owing to its negligence so to do, it is liable for damages, which he asks for in the sum of $10,000. He also asks for costs of suit. M. Marionaux, Dixon Ellis, Ellis & Schuler are the plaintiff's attorneys.

BEFORE JUDGE DIEHL.

In Judge Diehl's court this morning there were two state cases on the docket. The first was Adams vs. T. H. Burton, in which the plaintiff alleges that he was charged with assault with a deadly weapon upon G. F. Burton, was set for May 18. It is alleged that Burke drew a revolver on Burton and threatened to kill him, and that the plaintiff is an ex-minister and held several responsible positions in the pulpit but "went to the bad" through whiskey. A complaint was filed against the North Point Consolidated Irrigation company and summons issued against the corporation, charging that the defendant company drained what is known as the Strupis property on Twelfth South without having permission so to do. The company was represented this morning by Judge Hoffman and a plea of not guilty was entered. The case will be heard on the 15th of next month.

IN THE FEDERAL COURT.

Judge Marshall and jury are listening to the trial of the case of W. W. Adams vs. the Utah Copper company. In this case the plaintiff alleges that he was robbed of the smelting company's plant run down over plaintiff's farm and ruined it. The case will most likely go to a jury today.

The new trial of Ella M. Sheets vs. the Preferred Accident Insurance company, will open tomorrow. In a former trial Mrs. Sheets, a widow, whose husband was shot or who shot himself December, 1905, won a decision for $2,500, the amount of her husband's policy, besides costs. The defendant corporation fought for, and got a new trial. This begins tomorrow. Much mystery surrounded Sheets' death.

JAP HAVING HEARING.

In Justice of the Peace Dana T. Smith's court this afternoon, T. Yama is having a preliminary hearing on the charge of robbery. It is alleged that the Jap robbed a fellow countryman on Commercial street several nights ago.

CITY WINS DAMAGE SUIT.

Earley Bingley and others who sued the city for $499 for alleged damages to property on east Eighth South street from an overflowing ditch, lost yesterday. Judge Whitaker rendered a decision taking all blame away from the city.

TO TEST JUVENILE LAW.

F. R. Ball, who runs a poolroom at 31 west First South street, will test the power of the juvenile court to rest and fine parties charged with contributing to the delinquency of minors.

Scrofula

Few are entirely free from it. It may develop so slowly as to cause little if any disturbance during childhood. It may then produce dyspepsia, catarrh, and marked tendency to consumption before manifesting itself in much cutaneous eruption or glandular swelling.

It is best to be sure that you are quite free from it, and you can rely on Hood's Sarsaparilla to rid you of it radically and permanently. In usual form or in chocolate tablets known as Sarsatabs, 100 Doses $1.

Ball was arrested on March 5 for allowing Alma Ray, a 15-year-old boy, to frequent his poolroom. He was fined $25 by Justice Dana T. Smith Monday. Mr. Ball has taken an appeal to the district court, and the first test case of the juvenile court law passed by the late legislature is to come up for approval or rejection in the courts.

CASH VALUE OF SLEEP.

Jury Awards Amundson $576 as Balm For Noisy Locomotives.

In the case of Martin and Martha Amundson against the Western Pacific Railroad company, a jury in Judge Lewis' court this morning awarded plaintiffs judgment for $576. The action was brought on account of the defendant company building its track within a few feet of the house owned by plaintiffs, causing them much unrest and loss of sleep by reason of the noise of the passing trains.

TOO MUCH JOHNSON.

Helena Johnson has filed suit for a divorce from her husband, Erick Johnson, in the third district court, alleging failure to provide as the ground for the divorce. The couple were married at Logan, Utah, Jan. 29, 1904, and plaintiff claims that since Feb. 1, 1905, defendant has failed and refused to provide for the necessities of life, and that she has been compelled to earn her own living. There are no children as issue of the marriage.

GAMMON TRIAL BEGINS.

The case of the State of Utah against R. D. Gammon, charged with embezzlement, is on before Judge Armstrong this morning, and the attorneys in the case are engaged in securing a jury. Gammon is charged by the Third District Service company, of Missouri, with embezzling and appropriating to his own use on Dec. 22, 1906, the sum of $32.70, the same belonging to the Thiel company. Gammon was indicted by the grand jury for the crime on the 26th of December, 1907.

Gammon is represented in court by E. A. Rogers and Joel Nibley, while District Attorney Loofbourrow is conducting the case for the state.

KOORMANS AGAIN TROUBLED.

New Wife of John Meets the Other
And the Police Respond.

"I don't know what we would do without the Koormans to break the monotony around here," remarked a sleepy policeman this morning. He referred to another mix-up which occurred yesterday afternoon at 160 south Twelfth East street.

Recently Mrs. Koorman secured a divorce from her husband, John Koorman, and also secured the custody of 14 children. Mrs. Koorman and the little and big Koormans moved away, and John Koorman, finding himself free from a wife and a large family, at once took unto himself another wife.

Yesterday afternoon the former Mrs. Koorman went to the home of the present Mrs. Koorman and demanded to see her former husband, and also obtain possession of an overcoat which she alleges belonged to her. The present Mrs. Koorman informed the former Mrs. Koorman that Mr. Koorman was not at home and that she (the present Mrs. Koorman) knew nothing about the overcoat.

Then, according to the story told by the present Mrs. Koorman, the Mrs. Koorman that was, forced her way into the house, drawing a razor at the same time, and threatening to carve the present Mrs. Koorman. This was more than the present Mrs. Koorman could stand, the police were sent for to arrest the former Mrs. Koorman. The police responded, a patrol wagon load of them—but no arrests were made. The present Mrs. Koorman was advised to swear to a complaint against the former Mrs. Koorman, but up to a late hour today she had not taken this action. It is believed the police will get a rest from the Koormans for several hours to come.

FIRE SCARE AT ST. REGIS.

There was a mild scare at the St. Regis apartments, 341 east Second South street, at 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon, when occupants of the building found a number of the rooms filled with black smoke. An alarm of fire was turned in, but the place was not on fire. The janitor had put some coals in the furnace and had left the building. Gases forming in the furnace forced the door open and the smoke poured out. No serious damage was done.

FUNERAL SERVICES.

AMUSEMENTS.

Theater—"Mrs. Temple's Telegram," that hilarious farce in three acts, is back at the Salt Lake theater for the second time this season, and, judging from the reception it received last night, is the Co. repeat hit made here last September. There are some changes in the company since its last appearance here as a Salt Lake girl, Miss Margaret Snow, daughter of William G. Snow who was engaged in milking in Utah some years ago, appears acceptably in the role of Mrs. Temple. The story of the farce does not take any great mental effort to grasp, but the action is rapid and mirth-provoking. Starting out with a fib, complications arise on all sides until all are abetted by his friend Frank Furr, who is a most accomplished liar himself, the unhappy Temple experiences a very embarrassing time of it. The rapidly accumulating complications prove a chuckle until the evening, which soon grows to a continued peal of laughter that is in evidence to the end of the story. Among the men William Bernard as Frank Furr, and heads the mirth provokers. The other people in the cast are capable in their efforts to expel dull care. "Mrs. Temple's Telegram" goes again tonight, tomorrow night and a special matinee Wednesday.

John Drew will be seen at the Salt Lake Theater for three nights and Saturday matinee, commencing Thursday. He appears in the new comedy "My Wife" in which he played at the Empire Theater, New York, for four months.

Orpheum—It is worth while to go to the Orpheum this week, if only to see the latest stage production, My Wife, which Stuart with the other two members of their company. They are the headliners and are entitled to the distinction and the salary that their playlet warrants. The story of the play is not original in any particular. To the contrary, it is refreshing, snappy all the way through and Bruce Ascott (Mr. White) in his overture of stage that is absolutely new is a cure for all human ills. This company is not the only offering of the week, for the bill is snappy almost all the way through. The parties, with exception to his rule is Louise Hasell. Most of his jokes have lost all their youth, vigor and vivacity, and he laughs more at his efforts to release than does anybody else. Armstrong and Verne open the evening with a merry 20 minutes in song, story-telling and joking that is altogether acceptable. Misses Kohn with impressions for English music halls gives an act that is good all the way through. Her quick changes into characteristic costumes with an air of being in a dressing room are all good. She dances, sings and talks and all in charming manner. Snyder and Buckley have an act into which they crowd almost too much that is all good. They are both able players on many instruments, but their act is inclined to be too long. Galetta's monkeys make up a talented company. They play a variety of stunts in most amusing style and do other acts that have been seen before, but are interesting nevertheless. Three good pictures of the kind that should draw crowded houses for the week.

Grand—Sappho is being presented at the Grand at a management that runs tonight and tomorrow night, giving way Thursday evening for "East Lynne." The presentation of the Daunt masterpiece was well received last night by a large audience. Miss Grace Bainbridge as Fanny Le Grande is easily the best of the women in the company, and Mr. Lorch proves very acceptable in a role that Grand patrons have not seen him in before.

Poles Will Soon Vanish—The lines of the Bell Telephone company are practically all down and underground in the paved district, leaving the poles occupied by the Light & Railway and Western Union Telegraph companies. The receipt of the new underground cables by the latter in the next 30 days will relieve the poles of their burden and make the day's cutting one of the best ever. "Short Line day" means the outpouring of a bigger crowd than many might suspect, as the Harriman forces in this city and neighborhood comprise several thousand persons.

Submits to Difficult Operation—Mrs. W. H. Collins of 2121 Royal avenue, Ogden, is at St. Mark's hospital seriously ill as the result of ulcers of the stomach, to remove which a difficult operation was performed Saturday morning by Dr. C. A. Wherry. It was found necessary to disconnect the intestines from the stomach and reconnect it to establish a new system of stomach drainage.
