SAVE YOUR HAIR

TO LEARN HOW TO DO IT READ AND HEED WHAT FOLLOWS.

SAVE YOUR HAIR.—The laws of Health and Longevity demand it, the customs of social life require it. The matter is of great importance in every way.

BEAUTIFY YOUR HAIR.—It is the surpassing crown of glory, and for the loss of it there is no compensation.

CULTIVATE YOUR HAIR.—For by no other means can it be saved and beautified.

LYON'S

KATHAIRON,

Discovered thirty-five years ago by Prof. Lyon, of Yale, is the most perfect preparation in the world for preserving and beautifying the hair.

Besides being the best hair dressing ever produced, Lyon's Kathairon will positively prevent grayness, and will restore new hair to bald heads, if the roots and follicles are not destroyed.

It actually performs these seeming miracles, of which the following is

A FAIR SPECIMEN

I had been entirely bald for several years, constitutional, I suppose. I used a few bottles of Kathairon, and, to my great surprise, I have a thick growth of young hair.
COL. JOHN L. DORRANCE, U. S. A.

In every important respect the Kathairon is absolutely incomparable. It is unequaled.

1. To Cure Baldness.
2. To Restore Gray Hair.
3. To Remove Dandruff.
4. To Dress and Beautify the Hair.

BEAR IN MIND.—The Kathairon is no sticky paste of sulphur and sugar-of-lead, to paint and daub the hair and paralyze the brain. It is a pure and limpid vegetable lotion, intended to restore the hair by natural growth and reinvigoration. It is splendidly perfumed, and the most delightful toilet dressing known. No lady's or gentleman's toilet outfit is complete without Lyon's Kathairon.

FORTY-SIXTH CONGRESS.

EXTRA SESSION.

SENATE.

WASHINGTON, 24.—On motion of McDonald, a resolution was passed requiring the Secretary of the Treasury to furnish the Senate the amounts of money drawn and paid the supervisors of elections in general and special elections in 1876 and 1878, as compensation in excess of fees as allowed by law for circuit court commissioners, and state the amounts expended in New York, Philadelphia and Cincinnati for the years aforesaid.

Wallace offered a resolution that the Senate now proceed to the election of the Secretary of the Senate, chief clerk, executive clerk and sergeant-at-arms. A lengthy political discussion ensued, which was participated in by Anthony, Hamlin, Wallace, Conkling, Bayard, Beck, Voorhees, Blaine and Eaton. During the course of the debate Beck read a circular issued during the campaign of '78, and signed "Sidney A. Austin, by order of the committee, Geo. C. Gorham, secretary." The circular says it is almost certain that the next Senate will be democratic, and asserts that the foremost among the schemes of that party is the intention to attempt the revolutionary expulsion from his office, of the President.

Eaton referred to the circular read, and asked if it was true that the democrats comtemplated the ousting of the President as there stated. Now I have not, he said, any very high respect for the man that occupies the presidental chair. I think he is there through fraud; that he has no business there; that a majority of 300,000 free men of this country say he has no business there; but when the secretary of this committee says the foremost among the democratic schemes of opposition and already announce their intention to attempt the revolutionary expulsion of the President from his office, I, as a democrat, deny it as false. No body of men, respectable either in numbers or intellect, fever announced such a policy. Therefore, even were it not right and proper for other reasons, to make this change in the secretaryship of the Senate because of this issue.

Blaine said that the pretext that the Secretary was to be removed because he issued this circular might go for what it was worth. He would have to go just the same if he had never issued the circular, but Eaton said Gorham stated an untruth in the circular when he said it was the design of the democratic party to remove the President. Now the struggle in both branches of the last Congress, which culminated in the Potter committee, was an evidence of the sentiment in the democratic party which justified the assertion made in the circular. The Potter committee was organized for the purpose of obtaining, if possible, evidence on which to base proceedings to remove the President.

Wallace—Does the senator know that in a week from the issuance of that circular the democratic convention of Pennsylvania declared that it was unwise and impolitic to make an attack upon the title of the President.

Blaine—Why did they make that resolve if there was not some danger in the air?

Wallace—Because that assertion was false.

Blaine — That document had never seen the light then. It did not come out until some sneaking federal officeholder betrayed the secrets of his party and is probably now waiting in the corridors for some reward. The senator cannot base his action in Pennsylvania on that. He went up to Harrisburg to make it certain that no such rash step should be taken by the democratic party.

Wallace said he would concede that there was some such agitation then, but it was also true that the assertion of the circular was that of a man who declared what was untrue and was unsustained by any word or act of men worthy to represent the democratic party.

Blaine thought there was an immense exhibition here of virtue after the fact. If anything was in the air at the time of appointment of the Potter committee, it was the conviction that it was organized to fish for testimony on which to proceed against the title of the President.

Kernan—My recollection is that contemporaneously with the organization of that committee, the House passed a resolution that there was no intent to question the title of the President.

Blaine—Some weeks after there came up from the country a cry of indignant protest. After the business communities everywhere discountenanced such action, then the House, on motion of a republican, did adopt such resolution.

Eaton reiterated his assertion that the charge contained in the circular was baseless.

Blaine said there were still echoing in his ears the words of the senator from Connecticut (Eaton), himself, denouncing the title of the President to his office.

Eaton—I say so now.

Blaine—Then is not the senator denouncing the republican party that is answerable for the situation?

Eaton—I do. But a great many of the republicans feel as I do about it. The best of them agree with me that the man in the White House has no legal title to his place as President of the United States.

Blaine—I will answer the gentleman with my view of the case. It is that the President of the United States holds the office to which he was elected by as fair and honest a vote as George Washington did, but that it took a singular departure from the constitutional modes to make that vote good, and that he was not only entitled to the votes of the three Southern States which he got, but to three more Southern States of which he was deprived by bulldozing democrats. (Applause.)

Chair — The sergeant-at arms will see that the doorkeepers take into custody any persons in the galleries violating the rules.

Eaton said he could make argument upon the belief of his friend from Maine (Blaine). His own belief was 300,000 majority of the peple were defrauded out of the result of an honest election for president. The gentleman states that the Potter committee was organized to hunt for the evidence of that fraud. Dare he say that if such evidence was found Hayes ought not to be removed?

Blaine—The Senate, a while ago, alleged that the President held his seat by fraud. Now, he does not know whether the committee could find evidence of fraud.

Eaton—I have evidence sufficient for me.

Blaine then remarked that the decision of the electoral commission was final and conclusive and was so accepted by the people, and it was an unpatriotic course on the part of the democracy to seek to disturb that settlement. They had agreed upon a tribunal which decided against them and it was, in his view, dishonorable to refuse compliance to the terms of that settlement.

Hill (Ga.) said there was an issue of fact raised here between the senators who had spoken, and a very material one, affecting not only the democratic party but the character of our institutions. It was important that the real truth be stated on this question. The charge of a revolutionary purpose made against the democracy by the circular which had been read was denounced by Eaton as false, whereupon Blaine came to the rescue of the document and charged that there was such revolutionary intent, and to sustain his general charge he specifies the Potter resolution as having that ulterior meaning. Hill claimed that Blaine was as incorrect in his statement, as was the secretary of the Senate in his, and he could produce enough facts to beat out his charge. No person of the democratic party ever intended, under any contingency, a revolutionary movement for the expulsion of the President. When the election commission bill was passed it contained a provision as follows: Section VI.—That nothing in this act shall be held to impair or affect any right now existing under the Constitution and laws, to question by proceedings in the judicial courts of the United States the right or title of a person who shall be declared elected or who shall claim to be President or Vice-President, if any such right exist. This is a provision of the act of Congress establishing the electoral commission. It was embodied there in view of the apprehension that the commission would, as they in fact did, refuse to look into and investigate the alleged frauds in Louisiana and Florida, and that the result of their labors would be the declaration of one of the claimants as President without examination into the testimony regarding the merits of the case. It was adopted that the doors might be left open in such case to proper judicial investgation, which should bring out the facts. That there was ground for the belief that the courts of the country would have jurisdiction is manifest from the fact that the learned gentlemen and distinguished statemen on both sides of both chambers, incorporated the provision in the electoral commission bill, reserving all the right to reopen this question and have it investigated before the judicial tribunals of the country. Some of the most able lawyers believe that by proper proceedings the Supreme Court can get jurisdiction to investigate this question. It was on that principle that the legislature of Maryland passed the memorial to Congress, demanding that proceedings of this nature should be inaugurated. Some of the most distinguished republican lawyers of the country hold that it would be perfectly proper in a competent proceeding, for the Supreme Court to reopen and determine this case upon its merit. Every gentlemen of his (Hill's) acquaintance, every prominent democrat of the United States who desires to investigate this question, desires to do so in the courts and under the encouragement and authority of the electoral law. Was this revolutionary? Whether that proceeding before the court should be inaugurated or not, would depend upon the reliable evidence that should be obtained in the case. All sections of the democratic party were willing to have an investigation to obtain the real facts. There were republicans as well as democrats in the country who, if the facts should establish the illegality of title of presidential incumbent to the Presidency, and if it should appear that the Supreme Court had authority to investigate the subject, were in favor of such investigation. Hill denied that the democratic party had ever announced a revolutionary purpose looking to the expulsion of the President. It had never been announced in the legislatures, conventions or in Congress. To tell a candid fact, he always believed that the gentleman raised the cry of revolution to prevent investigation.

EASTERN.

Republican Consternation.

WASHINGTON, 24.—The republican leaders have become thoroughly alarmed over the unqualified assertions of leading democrats that as a result of a conference with the President and members of the cabinet, the President will sign a modified bill repealing the election laws. There was something like a panic among the republicans on Saturday and yesterday regarding the President's probable action, and confidence was not fully restored when it become known that several leading republicans had been to see the President and talked over the situation. One of these informed your correspondent that he is not entirely satisfied with the result of his conversation with the President, and that the latter was not as outspoken as he desired. It is believed, however, that strong expressions of disapprobation at any compromise on the part of republican leaders will have the desired effect on the President and that he will yield his own inclinations for the good of the party, whose head he is supposed to be. The democrats still assert the President will sign a modified repeal bill and that they will carry their point over the heads of the republicans in both branches of congress. It is expected there will be further developments regarding this matter.

Nearly a Fight.

A ripple of excitement occurred in front of the Ebbitt House to-day, which at one time bade fair to terminate in a fist-fight and caning melee, between Wm. Governeur Morris, special agent of the Treasury, and Col. De Ahna, ex-collector of customs for Alaska. It appears that a considerable portion of the appropriation made by the last Congress for the payment of De Ahna's claim is kept back by the Treasury Department upon a report from Major Morris that De Ahna owes the government a balance. This report and some intimation in it that De Ahna was a defaulter, led to a lively exchange of words between them to-day. De Ahna denounced Morris as a scoundrel, liar and coward. Morris reciprocated with similar endearing epithets, canes were raised in a threatening manner, and blows were momentarily expected by an admiring crowd of lookers on. But the parties separated before the war proceeded further and no one was hurt.

A Clean Sweep.

NEW YORK, 24.—Pratt, the defaulting treasurer of the Reading Saving Bank, in Massachusets, disappeared last evening, and no trace has yet been found of his whereabouts. Defalcations probably aggregate ninety thousand dollars. The bank has only two hundred dollars cash remaining.

The Clubber in Trouble.

Police Captain Williams, of clubbing notoriety, was arraigned before the police commissioners today, but his trial was postponed on the paltry technicality that he had not had time to procure counsel. His precinct is filled with the worst resorts in New York, and it is alleged that he has grown rich by collusion with then. Rev. D. Crosby is one of the most active workers against crime in the captain's district. His retention or dismissal is generally regarded as a test case as to how far official corruption can sustain official ruffianism in New York, and disregard the rights of law abiding citizens.

The Chinese Question.

CHICAGO, 24.—Methodist ministers, this morning, heard Doctor Otis Gibson, of San Francisco, regarding the Chinese question. Among his statements were the following—He did not believe the best people in California were prejudiced against the Chinese, who were simply political footballs. He did not know what California would do without them to gather the grain and fruit. They were the best laborers there. Chinatown was a good, respectable neighborhood, and the mission there was doing a good work and had developed many excellent Christianized Chinese women. His mission has been persecuted by the Anti-Chinese element, who had burned him in effigy, and planned to attack the mission once, but were frustrated by the police. There was no virtual Chinese slavery. The Rev. Kallock, whose church had petitioned the President to veto the restrictive bill, had been removed for this cause from the Eastern church, and was now seeking political honors through the pulpit at the sand lots. They were probably Kearneyites who made the petition.

More About the Secrecy of Telegraphic Messages.

ST. LOUIS, 24.—Mr. Brown, manager of the Western Union Telegraphic Office, instead of appearing before the grand jury this morning with dispatches called for by the subpoena duces tecum served upon him on Saturday, went directly before the criminal court with his attorneys, Messrs. Allen and Lodge, the latter of whom stated at length the reason why Mr. Brown could not produce the dispatches demanded. The court then asked Mr. Brown what he would do in case one or more of the parties concerned consented to have their telegrams produced, and stated he had received a letter from Governor Phelps, saying he was willing any telegraph office should present to the grand jury any dispatches he had sent to either Middleton or Wakefield, Mr. Brown replied, that under the rule of the telegraph company, Governor Phelps or any other sender of telegrams could obtain his dispaches on personal application or by a request written over his own signature. Judge Laughlin then continued the case till Friday when he will hear the argument on both sides. In conversation the judge said he understood and appreciated the importance of the case, recognized the wide attention it would attract, and if the Telegraph company desired to make it a test case he would not commit Mr. Brown to jail but if it becme necessary in the progress of the case to inflict punishment on him it would be merely nominal.

The petition of Brown, manager of the telegraph office, to vacate the order authorizing a subpoena duces tecum and to recall the subpoena, presented in the criminal court to-day, sets forth as a reason why he should not and cannot produce the telegrams demanded, that he is simply a servant of the company and has no authority from the company to deliver the dispatches, but on the contrary has been instructed by his superior officers not to produce or to testify as to the possession by the company of such telegrams as are referred to in the subpœna, that as it is not certainly known that such telegrams as are demanded are in possession of the company, the subpœna is rather a search warrant and the process inquisitorial, not judicial, and that the telegraph company is protected.

A CONQUEROR OF CONSUMPTION!

HALL'S BALSAM

FOR THE LUNGS.

ERADICATES

Coughs, Colds, Pneumonia, Bronchitis, Asthma, Croup, Whooping Cough, and all Diseases of the Breathing Organs.

HALL'S BALSAM

Is the LEADING SPECIFIC for CONSUMPTION.

It soothes and heals the membrane of the lungs, inflamed and poisoned by the disease, and remedies the night sweats and tightness across the chest which accompany it.

CONSUMPTION

is not an incurable malady. It is only necessary to have the right remedy, and HALL'S BALSAM is that remedy.

DON'T DESPAIR OF RELIEF, for this benign specific may cure you, even though professional aid fails.

READ THE FOLLOWING:

Dr. D. D. Wright, of Cincinnati, sends us the subjoined professional indorsement: "I have prescribed Hall's Balsam in a large number of cases and always with success." He adds that "in one case a patient with every appearance of confirmed consumption was restored to his usual health soon after commencing to take the Balsam."

John Kuhn, of Lafayette, Ind., writes: "One year ago I was to all appearance in the last stages of consumption and got so low our doctor said I could not live twenty-four hours." Mr. Kuhn further states that "after taking nine bottles of HALL'S BALSAM he is now in perfect health, having used no other medicine."

The above brief extracts are taken from a

MASS OF EVIDENCE

which has been accumulating during a period of TWELVE LONG YEARS, proving an efficacy of HALL'S BALSAM in all cases where the breathing organs are affected, and showing the estimation in which the remedy is held by the public and medical profession. Sold by all Druggists.

Price $1.00 per bottle.
