Some of the local newspapers speak of certain officers being "dropped" etc. This would convey the idea that if a man is once in office he is to be always in office, and that it he is not ever his own successor he is under disgrace. This is altogether incorrect City officers are elected for two years. When the term expires they ar : out of office, or merely hold over until their successory are elected and qualified, It does not argue that the public have anything against them because they are not re-elected.

"Rotation in office" is one of the cries of certain politicians. But there could be no rotation in office if the theory advanced in this case be correct. "Give the young men a chance," is another cry. How can they get a chance for office if the old incumbents always continue? We believe that the services of the outgoing. city officers are appreciated by the public and that they will be as much esteemed after they have vacated as though they still occupied their positions in the public service. They are hibition, even if it was genuine. none of them "dropped;" they have simply finished their terms and are succeeded by others, just as they succieded someboly who filled the places, before they did Sometimes men are re-elected for several terms. That is all right if the people want them continued. If not It is all right that others should succeed them. It say of the outgoing officers had been ejected from office for cause, there might the some eason for the remarks that are made about "bouncing," but as it is, the comments made to the effect that they have been "fired out" are as stupid as

A BASE FALSEHOOD. Ties Democrat of this city has lately contained a number of statements in regard to local affairs that are not only incorrect but bear the impress of a malicious hand, tient on misrepresentation. Some of these have been no-ticed in our city news columns. There is one that appeared on Friday evening last which we believed to be false when we read it, and we have taken some pains to learn whether there was any excase for the libel, before under-taking to refute it. It is an attempt to array against each other Angus M. Cannon and John Sharp. The Democrat, under sarcastic headings, relates that President Cannon, in a recent "red hot sermon," dwelt with "demoniacal vehenience" upon John Shirp's case, and that "he stated be, with others, had received while at the

A DEFENSE OF THE RIGHTS OF DATTER-DAY SAINTS.

THE San Bernardino Weekly Times, edited and published by John Isaac, who was sonce a resident of this city, has the following to say upon the past and prospective anti-"Mormon" legislation and the probable effect of the same. Anything in the defense of the rights of the Latter day Saints Editor Deseret News: from an ouside source is so rare at the present time that such many sentl-ments as are here expressed by one Convention on Saturday do us both an ninstice: who has no sympathy for our creed, but has the courage to stand up for in the Third Precinct and referred to the fact that in grading the railway tracks the sides of the streets had been 'excivated and embank-ments (made rain the middle for the routhed, which rendered it very difficult for teams to cross, and that in the Second Precinct the street where the U.C. track the -the street where the U.C. track was laid, had been well graveled to the southern end thereot, while the street where the railroad track was laid north who has no sympathy for our creed, but has the courage to stand up for principle, are doubly appreciables The annual anti-Mormon agitation is once more under full headway, and Congress is dealing at the press a time with a most remarkable officer the handling of this question. The Edmands bill is the most outrageous measure that was ever attempted to pass Congress for any purpose what-ever. If a man be guilty of breaking the laws, whether Mormon or other-wise, he should pay the penalty, but this only after a fair trial and convic-tion. But our laws and rules of evi-dence are all reversed in order to reach this peculiar people, and to punish them because they are peculiar. An anti-polygamy law is in force, which is being vigorously enforced; but not con-bent with punishing the law, it is now sought to punish the whole peo-ple for this belief; a behef, too, for which the Bube gives imple authority. A man has the God-given right to be-lieve in anything. It may believe in polygamy, robbery, marder, or any other statute crime, and so long as he does not attempt to punished. It would have been a strange thing had we in California hanged Kearney be-cause he believed in and advocated the murder of certain men. He was not of the denot had not been so gravelled. Mr. Dean in his remarks said I was mistaken that the street north had been mistaken, that the street north had beea graveled and thousands of dollars had been expended on the streets in Third Precinct, etc. To which I replied that I was not aware that the street in question had been graveled, and if it had, I apolo-gized for having made that mistake, but I retracted nothing from the bal-ance of the remarks that I had made.
