SONG

FOR THE FEMALE RELIEF SOCIETY OF SMITH-FIELD: ON THE OCCASION OF A MEETING AND BALL.

TUNE—"God Save the Queen."

What are the noble rights,
For which proud woman fights,
Upon this earth?
Unfraught with strife or fear,
The sacred rights most dear,
To woman granted here,
Embrace all worth.

To be an honored wife,
And lead a virtuous life,
To her is giv'n;
Her offspring pure to raise,
In wisdom's hallow'd ways,
Teach them our God to praise,
And, live for Heav'n.

Not fearing hands to soil,
With good and useful toil,
Ne'er counted vain;
Obeying God's commands,
Adorn'd and meek she stands,
In works of her own hands,
Chaste, neat and plain.

Not one alone hath rights,
The Gospel all unites
To make us blest;
While charity we claim,
We freely grant the same,
Perfection is our aim,
To know the best.

In unity and peace,
Which daily doth increase,
And wide extend;
With power to relieve
The poor who need or grieve,
While blessings we receive
From God our Friend.

Thus would we humbly live,
To Thee all honor give,
Whom grace bestows;
We hear Thy Prophet's voice,
We in his words rejoice,
Thy light is still our choice,
Though fiends oppose.

Where Truth alone is taught,
And Wisdom only wrought,
Thy Saints would be,
May we our souls prepare
To dwell in glory there,
Celestial works to share
And worship Thee.

LULA.

Correspondence.

BRIGHAM CITY, March 13, 1871.

Editor Evening News:—Dear Sir.—The Brigham City woolen factory, on the banks of the Box Elder, is now running and doing fair work. The dimensions of the main building is 88 by 45, which contains three 48 inch carding machines, besides a double one and a picker, and one spinning jack with 200 spindles. It has four broad looms calculated to weave cloth 3 yards wide, also a complete set of cloth dressing machinery, and all necessary apparatus for dyeing, which is propelled by a turbine wheel 26 1/2 inches with 24 feet head, and is equal to a fifty horse power, perfectly able to run another set of machinery equal to what the building now contains, for which also plenty of room is yet left in the building. 116 lbs of warp wasspun last Friday.

Most respectfully,
A. C.
