THE proprietors of Our Desert Home have something of importance to "tell all bee-keepers in the world." An advertisement in another column, after telling what kind of a bee-hive is wanted to meet the requirements of the day, goes on to describe one which exactly answers these demands and can be made at home at a cost of 40 cents. Read it.

LOCAL NEWS.

We Congratulate.—Under the appropriate heading in another column will be found the announcement of the marriage of Hon. M. W. Clayton, Territorial Auditor of Public Accounts, and Mrs. Sylvia W. Young, both of this city. The happy pair immediately started for the coast on their wedding tour and will be absent about a month. The good wishes and hearty congratulations of a host of friends attend them. May their journey through life be always as joyous as their wedding journey is sure to be!

A New Depot.—The necessity for a new depot building on the Utah Central Railway grounds in this city has long been talked of. We are informed by Bishop John Sharp that the idea is about to assume tangibility in the erection of a portion, at least, of the structure that has been so long contemplated. The plans and specifications are about finished, and will soon be presented by the architect, Mr. John Burton, for the acceptance of the railway officials.

It is the intention to build with brick, on the site now occupied by the ticket office in the wooden structure on the southeast corner of the Utah Central block. The new building will cost from $10,000 to $12,000 and will be put up to answer the actual needs of the company. The other portions of the depot will be added later. The contracts will be let as soon as the plans have been accepted. This, to use a little phrase, is a move in the right direction. It indicates that the Utah Central has decided it came here to stay.

AT REST.

BROTHIEK NICHOLAS GROESBECK PASSES AWAY.

On Saturday, about the middle of the day, a News reporter asked of Sheriff John A. Groesbeck the condition of his father's health, the latter having been confined to his son's room several days with a very severe attack of nervous prostration. The answer was that he was thought by his physicians to be doing nicely, and hopes were entertained for his recovery. Later on, we were informed from the same source, a sudden change for the worse was apparent, and this continued until twenty-five minutes past 7 o'clock last night, when the sufferer passed away.

Many of his friends visited his bedside during his closing hours, and at the time he died his children, save one, were present. This was Sister Josephine Smith, now with her husband, Apostle John Henry Smith, in England. He died at the residence of his son John, where he has been kept during his final week of illness. The cause of his death, as stated above, was nervous prostration, a general physical collapse, the nature of which was of a career noted for its unceasing activity and energy.

Brother Groesbeck has not been really well since his wife died last December. The loss of his beloved partner was a heavy blow to him, and one from which he did not recover. About six or seven weeks ago he complained of a severe pain in his head, which deprived him of sleep, but his indomitable will would not let him be convinced that he was not well enough to be out, and he kept on until a week ago, when he was seized with a fainting spell and has since been confined to his bed. He had the best of care and attention, but his hour had evidently come. His vital force was exhausted and the busy wheels of life stood still.

Nicholas Groesbeck was the son of Harmon Groesbeck and Mary Boyce, and was born at Baskirk Bridge, Rensselaer County, New York, September 6th, 1819. His grandmother was a Van Rensselaer, from which family his native country was probably named, and on that side at least was of his father's blood, he was of German descent. He was baptized into the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints in March, 1837, by Elder Sweet, and afterwards moved to Springfield, Illinois, where he met and married on March 25, 1841, Miss Elizabeth Thompson, his companion for so many years, and whom he survived but six months. While living at Springfield, he went on the bond of the Prophet Joseph Smith, who was tried there on a trumped-up charge in the year 1842. He never lived at Nauvoo but paid frequent visits to that city. He was engaged there in coal mining and contracting.

He emigrated from Springfield in 1850, arriving here on the 3d of October. His earliest experience in and while on the way to Utah, was in the managing of the B. Y. Express. He was conducting a train of goods over the plains when he passed a division of Johnston's army, then on the march westward to "exterminate the Mormons." Brother Groesbeck got his train through in safety, though he had to cache some of his goods in order to do so. He filed a mission to England, which he started in 1856, and not long after he got back was called on another mission to the United States, from which he returned in 1860. He was a member, at the time of his death, of the 24th Quorum of Seventies.

He was engaged here in merchandising and mining to some extent, but acquired his wealth mainly in the purchase, improvement and rental of real estate. He was an eccentric man in some respects, but kindhearted, charitable, conscientious and upright in his dealings. His predominant characteristic was his great energy, and it was no doubt his hard-working habits that tended to shorten his life. Surrounded by affluence, he was strictly temperate and frugal in his habits, and though given to the acquisition of a vast estate, he administered to the poor and needy with an open heart and an unsparring hand. He was held in esteem by a wide circle of friends, was true to his God and his religion, and lived and died universally respected.

The funeral services will take place from the Seventeenth Ward Assembly Room, to-morrow (Tuesday) at 4 o'clock p. m. The friends of the family are invited to attend.

Obituaries.—The funeral services over the remains of Brother David Briggs, the amputation of whose foot was made necessary by injuries received in an accident with a moving machine, and whose death occurred on Friday night, were conducted by Counselor Stoker yesterday afternoon at 2 o'clock, in the Tabernacle at Bonanza. The building was crowded with people from all the wards in the neighborhood, who thus showed the high appreciation in which the deceased was held. The funeral discourse was delivered by Elder C. W. Penrose, who was followed in short remarks by Elders C. W. Stayner and Robert Campbell. The benediction was pronounced by Counselor Amos Carter. The remains were followed to their resting place by fifty vehicles filled with people. Brother Briggs was an energetic worker in the cause of truth and an active and useful member of his Ward, and was respected by all who knew him.

The Ogden Excursion.—The excursion on July 4th, from this city to Ogden, leaves the depot at 1.30 a. m. on that day. Among the many attractions in our sister city on that occasion will be the following:

Procession forms under the direction of the Marshal of the Day.

Exercises in the May Festival, on Lester Park Square, under the direction of the President of the Day, W. C. Child.

Star Spangled Banner, by the Ogden Brass Band.

Reading of the Declaration of Independence, by the Chaplain, Joseph A. West.

Oration, by the Oration of the Day, Hon. Joseph Stanford.

Banner Song of the Four Nationalities, by the Four Nationalities.

Short Speeches, by Judge R. K. Williams and others.

Patriotic Poem.

Songs, members of the Fire Brigade.

Music by the Band.

Prayer by the Chaplain.

Fires at the Park.—Park City has had two fires the last two nights, Saturday evening a dwelling having been burned and last night the Mercantile Mill narrowly escaping. The flames were discovered blazing through the roof of the latter place about nine o'clock, and for a time it was feared that the mill was doomed. The wind was blowing vigorously and had the fire spread headway it would probably have been a tragedy. The Mercantile is centrally located and surrounded by houses. The fire was incendiary, as food and other combustibles, covered with coal oil and tar, were found piled up in the loft where the flames broke out. The house company and citizens labored energetically, and succeeded in saving the fire, and preventing a ruinous conflagration. Our informant is a gentleman just in from the Park.

The Emigrants.—The company of emigrants whose names will be found in another column, reached this city yesterday shortly after noon. They were in charge of Elder E. H. Nye, who however remained in Ogden. They enjoyed a pleasant and speedy journey, having left Liverpool on the 7th inst.

Returned Missionaries.—We were called upon to-day by Elders N. C. Schougaard of Grass Valley, and Peter P. Anderson of Morgan County, who returned yesterday afternoon from missions to Scandinavia. The former left home on the 2d of August, 1882, and the latter on the 12th of Sept. of the same year. They labored with much pleasure and considerable success, and return in good health and spirits.

For the East.—C. E. Dallin, Esq., the promising young Utah sculptor will start for the East to-morrow morning on his point of destination being Boston, and his object the execution of an artistic model for the Paul Revere statue. The likelihood is that Mr. Dallin will receive the commission for this work, although several experienced and famous sculptors are competing with him for the coveted honor. The decision of the awarding board will be awaited with much interest by the friends and well wishers of Mr. Dallin in this city. We hope he'll get it.

Very Low.—The death of President David O. Calder was currently reported on the streets last night and this morning, but we are gratified to be able to state that the report was unauthorized and without foundation, except in the fact that Brother Calder has been and still is very low indeed. A number of his brethren, including A. M. Cannon and members of the High Council have visited him yesterday and to-day, and while they have little hope that he will survive, their prayers and those of many more are that such fears are premature and groundless. Brother Calder's son, David G., was at the Lake last evening, where his father has been staying for some time, and he says that he was very low last evening at half-past 7 o'clock, when he left him. The patient's brother, William Calder, is with him, and will send word by telephone of any change in his present condition. Superintendent Wm. R. Ritter, of the Utah and Nevada, says it is a hopeless case, and that the announcement of Brother Calder's death may be hourly expected.

Sudden Death.—An obituary notice will be found in another column announcing the sudden death of an old time friend and fellow craftsman, Brother A. C. Brower of Richmond, Cache Co. He left his home on the 19th inst. to look after some business interests in Goose Creek, Idaho, where he arrived on the 28th. He had contracted a slight cold, suffered some from hoarseness during two days, but retired after a hearty supper at 11 p. m. on the evening of the 24th in tolerable health. Two hours later he was awakened by a smothering sensation, and stepped to the door to get fresh air. Finding no relief he aroused the folks in the house, but nothing could be done, and in half an hour he was no more, the immediate cause of his death being cramp in the stomach, a complaint to which he was subject. Brother Brower embraced the Gospel in early days, and was, we believe, foreman of the Zion's Society publishing office in Nauvoo. He held the same position in the DESKERT News office for many years, and has frequently been employed here until within the past few years. He was a man widely known and well respected, and proved himself under all circumstances a true friend and an honest, sincere Latter-day Saint. Our sympathies are extended to the mourning family in this hour of bereavement.

The Olsen Concert.—The complimentary benefit concert tendered the gifted and pleasing vocalist Miss Agnes Olsen, by the Tabernacle Choir and other leading home talent will be given in the Salt Lake Theatre, on Tuesday evening, July 1, and deserves, what we believe it will receive, liberal public patronage. The fair benefactress has been one of the foremost in volunteering her services in cases where entertainments have been gotten up for charitable purposes, and has by her gentle and ladylike manner, and her genuine ability made for herself a host of warm friends and enthusiastic admirers. All such will be sure to manifest their appreciation of her services and her merit by their presence at the Theatre on Tuesday next. The rare treat provided will be seen from the following programme:

Overture, chorus, "With Warlike Minstrelsy" (from "Lucia"), choir and orchestra; Song, "Ehren on the Rhine" Miss Edith Clawson; Sacred Part-song "The Mellow Eye is Gilding" twelve select voices; Song, "Santa Maria," Miss Agnes Olsen; Violin solo, Hungarian Air, W. Many nice delicacies are often spoiled by the flavorings used in them, and generally their having been spoiled is attributed to the cook. Now if Dr. Price's Special Flavoring Extract is used, cooks will not be blamed, nice dishes will not be spoiled, as they always merit their delicious fresh flavor in whatever they may be used.
