

TELEGRAPHIC. ENGLAND'S POSITION.

The Safety of Great Britain Lies in a Compact With Germany.

THE TRANSVAAL TROUBLE SERIOUS

But There Will Be No Retreat on the Transvaal Question—Tide of Opinion Turning.

New York, Jan. 7.—A despatch from London says:

South Africa so completely occupies the attention of the English that the question with the United States is for the day at least forgotten. If it comes up again in its serious form of three weeks ago it will be because Lord Salisbury is too stubborn to let the bones of the German emperor's messengers.

That the Kaiser's telegram to the president of the Transvaal means a war liability to England is universally accepted. South is Great Britain's responsibility over the Transvaal. To surrender that claim would be the most shameful concession in England's history for two centuries. The prospect of it is seriously represented by the more English press, and the rest are silent.

THE CUBAN WAR.

Cuba has an Immediate Injunction

On Right.

HAVANA, Jan. 6.—The Spanish officials assert there is no probability of any fighting in the near future between the Spanish troops and the insurgents around Havana. The capital general is engaged in bringing word to the rebels that they must not interfere with their movement. It is thought that the attack will be commenced in London, and the authorities do not tell the rest truth of the situation. In any event the complete victory of England, on which there seems no possibility, will result in the immediate independence of Cuba, and that she will prove herself equal with the United States while the threatening attitude of Germany, of Russia, and of France is maintained.

THE GERMAN PRESS EXPLAINS.

LONDON, Jan. 6.—The Berlin correspondent of the Times says: The violence of the Press against England is startling, and the English are perfectly justified in regarding the Transvaal as a field of regulated and denounced as malignant and detestable invasions. The purpose of the emperor's telegram to President Kruger was intended to secure popularity at home and to warn England that her safety lies in a close alliance with Germany and the triple alliance.

NO VICTORY IN VENEZUELA.

LONDON, Jan. 6.—The Times in an editorial this morning reminds the Triple Alliance that no victory is possible in Europe or Africa or not we will stand by the Venezuelan question. We have insulted nobody, but if we are compelled to fight, we shall try to guard what is worth fighting for.

The writer of the financial article in the Times thinks that the rejection of the Morgan syndicate's offer will have grave consequences, and that a popular law will mainly subserve by giving additional support to the Triple Alliance.

This will be "the" news of the times, what shall probably see a real gold premium which will rapidly smother the treasury."

REGARDING CHAYE'S VIEWS.

LONDON, Jan. 6.—Mr. Henry Nathan, the chief financial commentator of the Chronicle, sends his paper from Washington as follows:

The tide of opinion here regarding England seems to me to distinctly turn, owing, I believe, to the change of heart of Mr. Chayé, and to England's anxious nervous crisis.

Many utterances of the American press prove the truth of my assertions that all the best American opinion is now in our favor, a truly and solidified sentiment. The late in New York, the Daughters of the American Revolution gave a reception at Harry's today, to celebrate the anniversary of the wedding day of George Washington.

The guest of honor was Mrs. Adelicia Gray, who is the president-general of the National Society of the Daughters of the American Revolution.

She responded.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 6.—Sir Julian Pauncefote, the British ambassador, and Lord Granville, the English chargé d'affaires, had a conference with Postmaster General Tolson today at which the established parcels post convention between the United States and Great Britain was urged.

A Bank Failure.

AN INVESTIGATION DEMANDED.

A general banking business is done by the human system, because the blood vessels in the body's veins results we get from day to day. This animal life may make us a little better off than the human system in a condition of healthy prosperity. There is a certain amount of time, however, in which it is difficult to live in health. To live in health is to live in a state of health, which is the result of a good diet, exercise, and a good environment. THE NEW LOAN.

Carroll's Call a Surprise to the House—Banks Respond.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 6.—Senators do not seem disposed to talk about the bond bill issued by Secretary Carlisle. Democratic senators generally were non-committal. Senators Harris and West, both members of the Finance committee, said they had not read the bill and had nothing to say. Senator Durman said that the bill was all right, and was the same as the first two bond bills of the session. One of the most influential in the Senate, Senator Morrill, who is a member of the Committee on Banking and Currency, said there was nothing to say about the bill; that it spoke for itself.

Senator Teller said that he was gratified that the President had decided upon a popular loan, and he had no doubt the people would respond in a way to justify the money desired upon. Mr. Teller did not believe that $100,000,000 asked for would be necessary. For himself, he did not consider that any bonds were demanded, and he thought that even from the President's point of view a smaller sum than $100,000,000 would be sufficient.

The bill was an entire surprise for the House, for it had not been expected to appear before the meeting of the new session.

Among the Democratic members of Congress, talk was heard of a resolution declaring the sentiment of the House to be against their measure, but this was not introduced in time, as well as a amendment to pass.

Mr. Walker, of Massachusetts, chairman of the banking and currency committee, said:

Against Our Appointments.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 6.—The Senate has voted on public lands today decided to report favorably all the committees' bills, except one where a bill to extend the homestead act to other states of territory.
