

MONEY AVAILABLE ON GOOD SECURITY

Week Closes in Financial Circles With Everything in Good Shape.

COLLECTIONS ARE IMPROVED.

In All Lines a Steady and Conservative Advance is to be Noted—Buyers Prepare to Enter Markets.

The week in financial circles closes with everything in good shape locally. Money is plentiful in supply, and borrowers with good security will have no difficulty in getting accommodations. The unusually moderate weather permits outside operations to an extent that mechanics and laborers are very well employed, and building prospects for the year seem to be excellent. In fact a proposition was made this week to a prominent financier to participate in a scheme to erect 10 cottages in one locality, to cost $12,000. Merchants have been busy during the last following the holiday season, in taking account of stock, and during out exact results of the year have not been passed. It is believed, however, that there is no rapid or pronounced active prevailing over previous conditions. But there is a sure and gradual recovery of the ground and in the recent panic. All parties are active in financial matters of considerable moment feel that the situation is safe and encouraging, with things progressing as fast as they ought to and maintain a healthy pace.

HENRY CLEWIS VIEW.

Henry Clewis, in his last circular has this of general interest to say: "One of the best features of the situation in the recent panic is the fact that the excellent demand for the various issues of these during the last few months, and approximating $100,000 were offered this week and are being absorbed by investors. This shows a very decided preference for the bonds, probably because their principal will be safer than if they were in stocks at the present time. Thus far the market does not appear to be overburdened with such issues, but in view of the large sums already authorized and those which are to be forthcoming it is a question whether or not the supply will not prove greater than the demand at the present rate of issue continues for our prolonged period. The necessity of this is their sole means of successfully raising capital. Under existing conditions there is no doubt that there will be a large demand for all classes of securities, and that the requirements to be met will be simply those of price and quality of securities."

HARDWARE.

The hardware trade has just finished its inventory, and is showing more activity in making sales. In fact, the week is considered encouraging for this time of year. General hardware and spring goods are going out, including fencing, nails, hardware, and the like. Collections are satisfactory, particularly since they are coming along without any urging.

LUMBER.

The lumber trade reports the first part as much improved in price. The recent storms caused a number of the mills to close down; but as a result the mills are working to a large extent from the beginning, and the trade is stockpiling. Dealers are not looking for any advance in common lumber at present, although prices are stiffening. The shingle market shows an upward tendency, and prices are being raised. Large buyers who have been out of the market during the past year are now returning and placing their order. The effect of this is beginning to be felt.

REAL ESTATE.

Real estate dealers report generally a quiet week, though some one or two sales, and several other deals are reported in progress including several propositions for new apartment houses, on incubation, but "not yet to give out." Inquiries come from outside, while active construction of the Gould depot continues.

WHOLESALE DRY GOODS.

The local wholesale dry goods trade has enjoyed a good week, the demand being for goods intended for immediate consumption, as retailers have allowed their stocks to thin out, and are buying conservatively to avoid loss. Lots on hand that may be converted easily into cash. Next week the jobbers begin on spring shipments. Eastern shippers are now getting goods into this market within three weeks from the time of ordering, as there are plenty of cars, and motive power is generally in good order. Jobbers profess to consider 1908 a poor year for dress goods, with a drop of 60 cents in price. The demand for the cloth and suit trade is stronger. It is stated by manufacturers that for 12 months they have been unable to get orders in bulk for even the most staple goods. This has compelled the mills to operate their plants on the shortest schedule for years, and 1909 opens up with the primary and secondary markets comparatively bare of goods. Manufacturers of mixtures hope that the spring duplicate orders will be sufficient to carry the mills to a point where the 1909 heavyweight business will be ready. Jobbers report that opening fall prices will stand as the lowest for the season. None of the checks, plaids, stripes or figured goods in low grade wools have reached their normal sales for spring, so that when goods do move, the shortage will strengthen the market and advance prices. The cloth and suit trade is in stronger position than in the recent past. The showing of 1909 lines are well under way, with buyers ready to take hold of lightweight goods. The new models indicate that spring garments are to follow the prevailing fashion for semi-fitted effects and general hiplessness. It will be late in the month before lines of spring suits, capes, skirts and wraps will be thoroughly opened.

The retail trade reports a fair business for this time of year. There is buying staple goods in quantities in all the winter lines. Special sales are now the order of the day, the idea being to clear the shelves and counters of extra lots of winter goods, thus making it easier to get rid of the remainder when the time comes to display the early spring stocks. Buyers will begin next week leaving for Chicago and New York to purchase spring goods, and already the fashion plates and trade journals are being vigorously consulted for advance information and suggestions.

BUSINESS NOTES

The week has been somewhat dull in local stocks, and few transfers except Utah-Idaho Sugar preferred have been recorded. This stock reached to $8.70 and $8.75, at which figures buyers stood ready to absorb it, and quite a number of blocks changed hands through various brokers. The regular quarterly dividend of 2 per cent was paid by the State Bank yesterday, and during the week the C. W. & M. company paid its quarterly on both preferred and common.

The past week has been productive of much activity in the real estate field, the great demand for small pieces of property, both residence and business, being greatly swelled by a few large transactions, chief among which was the deal by the consummation of which J. Louis Strohauer took over from the Walker estate and others lot 3 in the Kenyon hotel block, at a price of $120,000.

Another notable transfer of the week was that by which Hugh J. Cannon became the owner of section 34, township 2, purchasing the same from the George C. Cannon association. The consideration recorded is $13,600.

There has been a great deal of lot buying for home building purposes, during the week, and although none of the prices paid in any single transaction have been high, the volume of building lots for people at a distance, termed "fancy," still there have been a great many transfers for this purpose.

DEMAND FOR RESIDENCES.

Among those who substantiated their intention of home building here during the week, is P. O. Veak, of the Hubbard Investment company, who paid $3,500 for a residence at Fourth North and Eleventh West. The property was purchased from Mrs. Mary Z. Williams.

Real estate dealers report rather a heavy demand for residence property in the northwestern portion of the city, and several communications have been received asking for reservations of building lots for people at a distance. J. H. Paul has announced his intention to shortly commence the erection of a two-story brick dwelling at 1322 east Second South street, the estimated cost of which will be $6,000. The two recent fires, one in the Walker block, on west Second South, and the other in the paint store of Bennett Paint & Glass company on west First South street, have led to the spending of considerable money in the matter of repairs, during the past week, which goes to materially swell the showing made in the matter of building permits, but the only permit issued during the week which saves the total amount represented, from falling behind that of the corresponding week of last year, is the one taken out by Frank Brown for the erection of a three-story, 34-room brick flat building at 1315 and 1317 east Second street, the estimated cost of which is $30,000.
