HAULING GRAVEL AT THE TIME

Wagon Crowds Horses Down the Hill And Goes Over an Embankment, Breaking Boy's Neck.

David H. Allen, the oldest son of Prof. David R. Allen of the University of Utah, met a sudden and unexpected death yesterday afternoon on the northeast bench, while hauling a load of gravel down to the University campus from the gravel pits on the bench. Young Allen was but 21 years of age. He was formerly a student of the University, and while he was not attending this year, was well known to the community, and his sudden death has cast a deep feeling of sorrow over the campus, and of sympathy for his bereaved parents.

Just how the accident occurred is not exactly known, although it is probable that the icy road, made more slip-pery by recent fogs and a low temperature, made it impossible for his team to hold the load back, and the wagon crowding the horses, finally rushed on crowding the horses, finally rushed on to a run, and then in trying to turn with the road past a guily they found it impossible, and were hurled over the edge. One of the horses was killed in the crash at the bottom of the guily, and the driver was partly buried be-neath the load, which was overturned upon big. upon him.

FOUND BARELY ALIVE.

At 10 minutes to 4 o'clock, probably 20 minutes after the accident hap-pened, the wreck was discovered by Frank Barden, L. J. Cwen and Fred-erick Player, who were hauling fre-clay from the pits, and who saw young clay from the pits, and who saw young Allen start downward with his load They pulled him out from the wreck, and carried him to the road, where they found he was still alive. One of them is quoted as saying he was not unconscious, and when asked if he was badly hurt, he replied that he was, and that he guessed it was all up with him. He passed away within a few him. He passed away within a few minutes after being rescued.

PROF. ALLEN SUMMONED. Prof. David R. Allen was notified at once and Dr. S. L. Richards was summoned. Prof. Allen came on foot across the hills from the University, and when he arrived the body of his son was lying in the road, with life already extinct. The patrol wagon ar-rived soon afterwards, and at the re-quest of Prof. Allen the body was tak-en to the family residence at 1910 Tenth East street. Dr. Richards examined it upon its arrival and found that the right arm was broken in two places, the neck was broken, and there was a bruise above the left hip that probably indicated internal injuries. From these facts it was concluded that he had pitched headforeinosi off his load, and had landed on his right arm and his head. The gravel had pitched over and slightly covered his legs, but had not crushed him in any way, death re-sulting from the fall rather than the effect of the gravel piling on top of after an illness of some months. The deceased was a native of Illnois, where he was born 65 years ago. In 1847 he became a member of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints, and in 1852 came to Utah, which has been his home ever since. He assisted in the move south at the time of the invasion of Johnston's army, and also did much to queil Indian troubles, be-ing one of those who participated in the Blackhawk war. He was a ploneer sawyer, and cut a great deal of the timber used in the erection of some of the first buildings in this section. While he has been afflicted for some time, he bore his suffering with pa-tience and fortitude, and died as he had lived, a faithful Latter-day Saint. Mr. North leaves a wife and seven children, four of his family having pre-ceded him to the great beyond. The funeral will be held in the Winder ward meetinghouse Sunday at 11 a. m. Friends are invited. Also that the names be in alphabetical order, which method is quite common in progressive western cities. cities. DENIED FOREIGNER lames Patello's Effort to Protect Wife Fails in the District Court. REFORMATION IS NECESSARY.

fust Live a Decent Life if He Would Enjoy Privileges of Naturalization.

As a general rule there is no protest against the issuance of naturalizaton papers to a foreigner, but there have been exceptions to this rule, as was discovered yesterday afternoon by Innes Patello, when he applied to county Clerk Eldredge for his final taturalization papers. Patello found out to his sorrow that the United states government has something to sy about the people who are admitted to citizenship here, and its protest in his case was so strong that Judge

Morse declined to admit him to citiresulty. The matter was considered at some suff yesterday afternoon by Judge yore, and it was shown that Patello, p December last, married Lillian La binche, who was imported by Gaston with for immoral purposes, for the retiant purpose of preventing the Fed-eral authorities from deporting the wo-ral. The fact that the woman was partiel to a citizen of the United states would naturalize her and plac-be beyond the control of the Federal authorities. It was discovered by Im-migrant Inspector James McCabe that patello was not a citizen of the United states and he asked the county cierk is final papers. The man appeared before Judge Morse yesterday and was at first admitted to citizenship, but when County Cierk Eldredge learned of the nossited with Judge Morse about it, with the result that the order ad-mitting Patello was set aside and the matter was further considered in the af-temoon, when Inspector McCabe and asistant U. S. Attorney Pennel Cher-rigtion appeared before the court and potested asinst admitting the man to citizenship. Judge Morse refused to the matter was considered at some Ariz. riston appeared before the court and rotested against admitting the man to clitenship. MOTHER HAD PREMONITION.

Mrs. Allen, the mother of the boy, was prostrated on learning of the sad event. She had felt nervous about her son all afternoon, and at the time of his death she felt a premonition that it had occurred. When the telephone rang to carry the announcement to the family, she hardly bad the courage to answer it, and fully expected to hear that her boy was dead. The man at the that her boy was dead. The man at the other end merely asked for Prof. Allen, and hung up, when she told him he was not home, after leaving his number and requesting Prof. Allen to call him. When finally told what had occurred she was prostrated with grief. Early in the afternoon Mrs. Allen had been calling on her sister, Mrs. B. T. Lloyd, and had left to go home feeling that something was wrong, and she spoke of this feeling to Mrs. Lloyd on leaving.

GRAVEL FOR NEW HOME.

The load of gravel which young Allen was hauling, was for his father's new home, near the university campus. In home, near the university campus. In common with most of the University faculty Frof. Allen has secured a plot near the campus, and is preparing to erect a new home. As he also has a ranch in Idaho, on which his son was intending to spend the coming summer, he bought him recently the team and waren with which he was team and wagon with which he was working. While the university was do-ing some grading Young Allen went to ing some grading Young Attent work for them, and on the completion of the work he decided to haul a few of the work he decided to haul a few loads of gravel for the new home. He had just started on this task when his tragic death occurred.

HE BURSON is the only fashioned hose without a seam. And yet the Burson has all the shapeliness of the most perfect fashioned stocking. It IS the mosot perfectly fashioned stocking, It is knitted to a pattern (a pattern guides the machine) from toe to top, so that it leaves the machine perfectly shaped to meet the curves in foot, ankle and leg. That which gives the real wearing shape, the permanent shape that assures the fit, is the shape wrought by the machine. The Burson machine is the only one that knits a "full fashioned" stocking. It knits the stocking into shape to keep that shape from machine to rag bag, and no other does. Those seams stand for more than discomfort. They stand for cost, They represent extra handling, extra work that you pay for. In the BURSON, this cost is put into fabric quality, so that when you buy a BURSON of any price you get a superior quality of material at that price than is possible, in any other "full fashioned" stocking. BURSON fashion on stockings stands for superiority in Shape, Fit, Comfort, Quality, Right Price.
