SOCIAL CHAT

Plans for the administration hall and reception have progressed to the point where every detail is so provided for that when the reception at Ogden hall begins at 8:20 Monday evening every item will be carried out according to the program. The arrangements to complete the most elaborate function ever held in the state. The pretty hall will be decorated with the end in view of making it not only brilliant, but in a style harmonious and suggestive of the occasion. A departure has been made for this function and besides being a social event it is to be as well, military in character. Every officer of the Fifteenth Infantry at Fort Douglas will be present and added to this number will be the officers of the National Guard including the newly appointed members of the governor's staff. The four committees, which will be in charge of the ballroom, is composed entirely of National Guard officers with Major W. G. Williams as chairman assisted by the following officers: Major Kammern, Captain Webb, Captain Bassett, Captain Bourne and Captain Arms. Alvin B. Kester, of ex-Gov. Cutler's staff will act as master of ceremonies, introducing the guests to the new governor.

Adjutant General Wedgwood is in charge of the decorations and is being assisted by Lieut Seaman of the Fifteenth Infantry.

The reception to the governor will take place in the parlor on the lower floor of the Ogden, beginning at 8:20 and continuing for one hour. At the conclusion of the reception the official party will take their places in a portion of the ball room especially provided and the grand march will open the program of the evening. For this part of the evening's event, dancing Master Christensen has provided an intricate and attractive figure. The evolutions will be conducted by officers of the National Guard and at its termination the participants will form for the dances, when the program will have begun for the evening.

The officers of the regular army and of the National Guard will be present in full dress uniforms and the contrast to the costumes of the ladies will lend color to the scene on the ballroom floor.

The order to be observed in the grand march will be as follows: Governor William Spry, Colonel Walter Scott, Fifteenth Infantry; judges of the supreme court, secretary of state, state treasurer, state auditor, attorney general, superintendent of public instruction, staff of commanding officers of the Fifteenth Infantry, officers of the National Guard and other officers of the regular army, the staff of the governor of Utah, the members of the senate, the members of the house, the mayor of Salt Lake, city officers, civilians.

DRESSY BLOUSE OF LACE AND RIBBON.

This pretty blouse suggests a charming method of using a bit of handsome black lace when there is not enough to build a whole waist. The lace is sewed in broad panels to black satin ribbon of supple quality, and the sleeves are tucked plaisters at front and back and of black chiffon. V-shaped medallions finish the top of the blouse and big satin-covered buttons make a smart trimming. Such a waist, made up without any lining, may be worn over a slip of black satin or—as in the illustration—over a dainty white kimono.

Robinson of Logan, the table being decorated in red and white, the centerpieces being a bowl of narcissus placed on a mirror, and streamers of red and white ribbon coming from the ceiling to the four corners of the table while ropes of smilax were brought from the chandelier, with tiny flags placed in them, and small flags used as place cards. Those to meet the guests of honor were Gov. and Mrs. William Spry, Col. and Mrs. Alfred Kent, Mrs. Elizabeth Bonnemont, Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Hoffman, Mrs. W. J. Craig, Mr. and Mrs. G. E. Marks and Col. WHEN FUR COMPLETES THE CALLING FROCK.

This novel wrap of passermenterie and mink fur in combination formed the finishing elegance of a golden brown velvet gown of great distinction. Such a wrap could of course only be worn with the costume which it was designed to complete; but the woman who has on hand a set of mink of which she has tired for general wear, can make very happy use of it in such a little wrap. The garment is built over a shaped foundation of satin, and the arrangement of the mink skins upon this foundation is plainly indicated in the picture. The shoulder pieces of fur fall over loose sleeves of satin-lined passermenterie. The front of this wrap is like the back, the fastening coming between the two long strips of mink at the center.

THE LARGER OUTSIDE CITIES
OGDEN.
 Ogden, Utah, Jan. 23.—Wednesday evening at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Spencer occurred the marriage of their daughter, Eldesta Mary to Alexander W. Walker. The affair was one of the most brilliant and elaborate social functions of the season and was attended by 150 guests from throughout the state. The wedding ceremony was performed by Rev. Luther P. M. Cushman of the St. Joseph's church at 8:30 in the evening.
 The ceremony was performed under a canopy of ferns, smilax and brides roses. The bride was attended by Miss Nell Fawcett, maid of honor and Miss Frances Joyce as bridesmaid. L. R. Spencer was best man. The bride was attired in a hand made silk cord lace dress which was made by her mother.
 Throughout the evening music was furnished by the Weber Academy and the Dreamland orchestra. The home was very prettily and tastefully decorated with ferns, dotted plant, roses, carnations and smilax. Light refreshments and punch were served. The young couple were the recipients of many beautiful presents.
 Mr. and Mrs. Walker left for the north upon a short wedding trip and upon their return to the city will make their home at 2,507 Adams avenue. Mr. Walker is secretary of the Spencer Lumber company which was recently incorporated. His bride is one of the popular young social leaders of the city.
