NORTHERN NOTES.

We clip the following items from the Logan Journal of Oct. 23:

While wrestling the other night a young man named Lewis had his arm dislocated and was otherwise pretty badly used.

David James has been awarded the contract for putting the heating apparatus in the new tithing office building. He will begin work on it early in November.

Brother Ola Larsen went to Manti on Monday morning to lay out the grounds for the Manti Temple, and it is expected that he will superintend the work on the grounds while the weather permits. He was first employed to draw out the plans, but will probably take charge of the work, for a season at least.

Two boys, it is said, deliberately ran down an old man named Hausen, the other day. The boys were on horseback, and the old man tried to avoid them, but they turned the horse on to him and knocked him down. It was thought for a few minutes that he had been killed; but he proved to be only very badly bruised and shaken up.

All this week the time of the court will be devoted to United States cases and next week to cases brought under Territorial statutes. The jury is one of Dubois' own heart, like the one he spoke of and which he said would convict "Jesus Christ" if he were on trial. Two men were tried and convicted on Monday on extremely short notice for unlawful cohabitation. The trial of President T. E. Ricks is set for Thursday.

The trial of cases is going on at Blackfoot. A vigorous effort on the part of those indicted for perjury, on account of voting after offering their resignation as members of the "Mormon" Church, was made to force a trial, but to no avail. The prosecution interposed every conceivable objection except the right one. So the cases were continued until the next term of court. It is conceded by all that there is no hope whatever of making a case against them. One of the parties was discharged.

Hans Hansen, of the Fourth Ward, was up yesterday before Commissioner Goodwin on a charge of unlawful cohabitation. Mrs. Hansen is an invalid, and Mr. Hansen a cripple. A woman is employed to aid Mrs. Hansen. The charge was that Hansen has been guilty of unlawful cohabitation with this hired woman. Mrs. Hansen was called on to testify. She is subject to fits. During the questionings of Commissioner Goodwin she became very nervous and went into a fit. Goodwin had been warned of this, but when it came on was very anxious that he should not be left alone. The case was postponed indefinitely in consequence of this unfortunate episode. There was not much evidence produced, but the case was enough to hang the fee racket on.

A correspondent writes from Rexburg, Idaho: Sunday evening, at about 7 o'clock, Elder Francis Gunnell, late of Wellsville, died suddenly. Deceased had fully recovered from a severe spell of sickness. Sunday morning he desired his son F. C. Gunnell, to hitch up a team and drive him and wife around to some friends, and also to visit the new mill, all of which he did; the deceased ascending the stairway to the top of the mill without any help or complaint. Immediately after supper he asked for a drink of water, and on getting it, he leaned back and seemed to choke or snore. He was assisted into bed, and passed away in about thirty minutes from the first attack.

At a coroner's jury inquest held this 21st day of October, 1889, they rendered a verdict of death from heart disease.

The corps will go to Wellsville today, Mrs. Esther Gunnell, his wife, and Francis C. Gunnell, his son, accompanying the remains. The deceased had lived a life of usefulness; was well respected, and leaves a numerous family to mourn his loss.

The body of the late Mr. Gunnell passed through Logan on Tuesday morning. The deceased was widely known and highly respected throughout the county. For many years he was agent of the U. & N. at Mendon. The body was accompanied by President Thomas E. Ricks, of Rexburg, and went to Wellsville.

WOMAN'S ADVANCEMENT.

The large audience at the Opera House last evening listened attentively to interesting addresses from Mrs. Henrietta L. T. Wolcott, of Dedham, Mass., Mrs. E. Howland, of New York, and Rev. Antoinette Brown Blackwell. The ladies are officers of the Association for the Advancement of Women; the motto of the organization is "Truth, Justice and Honor," and as the name indicates, the object is the improvement of women in every department of life.

Mrs. Wolcott was the first speaker. She explained the organization of the A. A. O. W., which was effected in October, 1873. A number of leading women in New York issued a call to those of their sex who had made themselves distinguished in various branches, to assemble and organize. About 500 responded to this call, and the result was the formation of the association, with a president, secretary, treasurer, a vice-president from each State or Territory where there were members (the vice-presidents to be also directors), and twenty-five directors. Of course most of the latter were from New York at first, but as the organization has extended, the other States have been given their proportion. Since the organization a "Woman's Congress" has been held each year, beginning at Portland, Maine, and visiting other states till the last one, held recently in Denver, Colorado. Mrs. Wolcott explained how the work of the association was divided among committees, who make their annual report of the advancement made by women in the various pursuits of relief in all parts of the country. In the meetings a feature has been to have one of the members submit a paper upon a given subject; this to occupy about twenty minutes time. Then the members, without an opportunity for special preparation, would discuss the subject. This plan was followed to develop public speaking and readiness of thought on the part of the members. The subjects discussed have been the various phases of motherhood, the work of women in the home as well as outside of the family circle, and her labors in and adaptation for various professions. Committees on science, art, etc., are established, and every branch receives atten-
