PHYSICAL WHIPS & DOG CATCHER

Society to Propagate Song Birds—Kill Horse as a Slave—Poisoned by Gas.

During the last fall there have been several in the Fraser range near Pye-son, Nevada, 100 head of horses.
Their heads, tails and manes are stripped at the rate of $1 per animal and the carcasses left to decay. Wild horses are often shot and their skins sent to market. The skins are killing them to save the meat they eat.

At San Jose, Cal., Saturday, about 100 prominent people met and formed a society to protest against the killing of horses in the mountains of Santa Cruz, Santa Clara and San Mateo, Cal.
The chairman was given power to appoint an executive committee of seven persons from each county. This committee will be empowered to immediately purchase mangers that will not eat them.

During Fall it is now taking place in the Pacific Northwest, and there is every prospect of a large number of men engaged in the work. Therefore the fishermen have not been induced to pay much attention to extermination, owing to the irregularity of the species of fish.
Now, however, a steady demand and price paid for these fish, and fair quidling wages can be made in the salting.

H. A. Jones, of Wm. MacLean, wealthy citizens of Vancouver, B. C., making arrangements to erect a very large salmon cannery at Village Point, Lagoon Island, across the bay from New Westminster. They have already secured the services of a number of men, who are now preparing to build.
The company will be one of the largest and most extensive on the Pacific Coast, and will be ready for operation next summer.

Miss Dora Long, a servant girl, 20 years of age, who was employed by Mrs. Mary Lewis at 2224 Main street, San Francisco, was accidentally shot through the heart on an early morning by her master's dog. She was shot at 5 o'clock. It was by the door, to which she had evidently crawled in attempting to save her life. The canine had been disturbed by the accidently turned it partly on star-turing of the light. The girl recently came from Oregon.

D. A. N. Mason, a prominent Democratic politician of Seattle, Wash., had a time with the dog catcher on Saturday. It cost him $25, but he had the satisfaction of scaring almost to death the individual who has hitherto taken care of all degrees from private parties and domestic animals to large dogs down town. In the morning when he saw Dog-catcher Marks, who is a colored man, big and brawny, take a small Newfoundland pup off his doorstep, "Bring that dog back!" yelled the doctor. Marks said he was not responsible for the dog.
Then the dog ran away and was accidentally turned it partly on star-turing of the light. The dog recently came from Oregon.

Jesse J. Page, formerly district attorney of San Luis City under the name of J. C. Mason, says C. C. Clegg, Dr. Page's son, is off to be the attorney of the estates of deceased persons. For his method of handling these estates he was called to account before the grand jury and was indicted. He left the state and went to the coast of California.
During his career in San Francisco, Page was the attorney for James F. Barrows, the son, Barrows' father left an estate consisting of mining claims and some property in Alameda county. Page handled these for the son and collected $10,000 for him, leaving the taxes on them. Recently he wrote to Barrows in New York, asking him $10,000 with which to pay accumulated taxes. He advised Barrows to address him at Salt Lake City as J. C.
Mason and make the necessary arrangements to have him appointed as attorney. This attorney, however, happened to meet Page and the latter told him of Page's plan. Clegg explained the situation to the son and brought back with him authority to act as Barrow's attorney. In his letter he informed the son that he would not collect any money in San Francisco, but did not state the reason why. The search for Page had passed out of the hands of the police, the warrant having been signed by the hands of the sheriff.

To Face the Music.
To "face the music" is a metaphor borrowed from the stage where the players move to the front and face the orchestra.
It is, however, stated by the authorities that the music here is a different kind.
The 60 militia have ordered that when accepted in line the militiamen should "face the music."

Fooling Cat Fodder.
Professor Henry of the Wisconsin experiment station estimated the value of the corn fed to feeding cat food of one acre when broken, dried, and cured, to be equal to 100 pounds of walking qualities and fodder from the same acre, plus half an inch long. He found that 1 bushel of corn will raise 220 pounds of cat fodder as from 1,125 pounds of green fodder.

A good recommendation for Montana Liver Balsam is that it is a good vegetable and strongly invigorating. It is particularly recommended for the liver and with no grating, while the oil from Cinnamon, Balsam, Bell Pepper, and Oregano is quite strong, and stimulates Liver. Balsam is a very strong and valuable remedy indeed. Rev. J. M. Hallay, Portland, Vt.
