

DESERET EVENING NEWS

The Semi-Weekly News.

Is issued Mondays and Thursdays and contains all the cream of the Daily and Saturday News.

LOCAL BRIEFS.

N. S. Shaw, 45, an employee of the Union Pacific at Denver for 25 years, is dead.

Charles Hamilton, formerly a Rio Grande dispatcher, is back again at his old key.

A Denver railroad prophet says the Rio Grande and the Colorado & Southern will build a line to Boise, Ida.

Passenger trains from the west have been arriving at Ogden on schedule time since the opening of the Lucin cut-off.

The Rio Grande has planted in the streams along its line 600,000 young trout fry, in the last two seasons which will mean much to fishermen.

The D. & R. G. passenger department is in receipt of a request from the management of the Stuttgart, Germany, museum, for a series of photographic views along the Rio Grande line.

Manager Bayly of the Copper Belt line at Bingham says that while negotiations have been pending between the owners of the line and the D. & R. G. for some time, no bargain has been arrived at.

It is reported from Denver that the Utah railway, just built from Mack, Colo., to Dragon, is to be extended to Fort Duchesne, and become after Jan. 1, a branch of the D. & R. G. The road is a narrow gauge.

Mr. and Mrs. Simon Michels and daughters of New York, have left for the coast after a pleasant visit in this city with Mr. and Mrs. Max Warmuth, the two ladies being sisters who had not before met for 30 years.

The D. & R. G. gross earnings continue to show a healthy increase, and for the third week in November last the earnings were $367,900, compared with $230,400 for the corresponding week of last year, an increase of $137,500.

Peter Moore, aged 58, a resident of Sugar House ward, died yesterday of old age. He came to Utah Territory in 1871, and with the exception of 18 months, has lived ever since in this county. Mr. Moore leaves a wife and son.

C. O. Whittemore has returned from his trip down to El Paso, and reports that Caliente is a very busy place at present. In fact the town is growing so that the old flimsy wooden buildings are being replaced by stone. There is nothing to prevent the gap between the ends of the roads being filled up according to schedule.

At a recent examination in mineralogy, at the Columbia School of Mines, D. W. Jessup of this city scored 95, and but for having lost a week through sickness, he feels confident he could have made the even 100. Mr. Jessup, in a recent athletic contest at the university won a handsomely engraved and decorated silver medal for hammer throwing. He is also manager of the school crew.

Rev. Charles J. Faurd, the new rabbi of the Congregation B'nai B'rith and in this city today from Toledo, Ohio, and was welcomed at the depot by Senator Simon Bamberger, Jacob Morris and Samuel Weiss. The rabbi will officiate at tomorrow evening's services in the Jewish temple, the day being the first day of Hanukkah, the festival of lights. The public is cordially invited to attend.

W. H. Wootton, for several years operator for the Associated Press in this city, leaves Jan. 1, for Sacramento, where he will take a similar position, and in view of the change, his conferees on the North wire sent him last evening, a handsome gold locket and watch fob, on one side of the locket being Mr. Wootton's initials, and on the other the monogram of the Commercial Telegraphers' Union of America. The present was mailed from Seattle.

The directors of the Utah Light and Railway company will meet Saturday morning, to listen to reports from Manager Campbell and General Counsel Le Grand Young who have been looking over interurban railroads in Ohio, Pennsylvania, New York, Illinois and other states, to see what effect they have in promoting traffic between cities, and their influence on city business. The directors will then have information from sources on which they can rely, and can act the more intelligently in dealing further with Mr. Mahler.

The Jackson day banquet which the Democratic state committee decided some time ago to hold, will not occur on the 8th, as that day is Sunday, but will be given probably on the 6th or 7th. Chairman Bamberger has announced the following committee to take charge of the affair: O. W. Powers, chairman; James H. Moyle, Joseph L. Rawlins, H. H. Roberts, William H. Dale, John E. Hansen, William L. Giebert, William H. King, F. S. Richards, J. R. Letcher, Moses Thatcher, J. R. Barnes, William M. Roylance, A. R. Weeter.

William Duncan, a 15-year-old boy residing at 53 Fuller Hill avenue, was tried before Judge Lewis yesterday afternoon upon the charge of incorrigibility and was discharged. The boy, in company with Adolph Brockbeck, broke into the Fair several times and stole in all about $117, although Duncan claims they only took $95. The evidence introduced yesterday showed that the boy was guilty of burglary, but as he was not charged with that crime, but was only charged with incorrigibility, the case was dismissed. The Brockbeck boy was discharged several days ago.

Landlord Fred Wood of the Southern hotel gave a banquet last evening, in honor of Vice President Patrick Mahoney, and Secy. L. M. Hart of the International Association of Theatrical Stage Employees, who are in the city en route to their home in New York for attendance on the San Francisco convention of the Federation of Labor. There were 33 people present, and F. Schuler was master of ceremonies, with William Edwards as chairman of the reception committee. The banquet was given after the close of the play at the theater, and was much enjoyed. Mr. Wood proved an excellent host and set up a fine menu.

Salt Lake & Ogden Lets Another Construction Contract.

A train of scrapers and plows was seen heading northward this morning to the scene of the railroad operations of the Ogden road terminus, says the Davis County Argus. Frank Hess has been awarded the contract for finishing the road to Kaysville and has a large force of men at work to get trains in operation before the snow flies. Mr. Bamberger states the work will be prosecuted vigorously to get the road finished to the county line Jan. 1 if possible. This will include the towns of Layton, Syracuse, Roy, South Hooper, besides Kaysville, and last year will be pushed into Ogden in time for summer patronage to the Ogden.

Grip Quickly Knocked Out. "Some weeks ago during the severe winter weather both my wife and myself contracted severe colds which speedily developed into the worst kind of la grippe and but for having lost a week through sickness, he feels confident he could have made the even 100. Mr. Jessup, in a recent athletic contest at the university won a handsomely engraved and decorated silver medal for hammer throwing. He is also manager of the school crew."

Hard Colds. People whose blood is pure are not nearly so likely to take hard colds as are others. Physiology goes into the reason. Hood's Sarsaparilla makes the blood pure, causing healthy action of the mucous membrane and giving strength and tone to all the organs and functions. This great medicine recovers the system after a cold, as no other does.

BOOZLES OF UTAH ATTRACT THE EAST

H. H. Cummings Receives Compliments for Them on Trip To New York.

WANT METHOD EXPLAINED.

Exhibit at St. Louis Fair is Responsible for a Wide Knowledge of Utah's School Course.

Special Correspondence.

St. Louis, Nov. 28.—A feature of a trip which I have just concluded through the east for the purpose of visiting schools and school people, to collect information for the use of our schools in Utah, which has surprised and pleased me is the interest eastern school people manifest in the work of our Utah schools. Many had visited the fair and learned with evident surprise the advancement being made there. While others, not having been to the fair, had heard of us and eagerly asked about it.

Among the latter, perhaps the most important example was Dr. Willard, principal of the Philadelphia normal school for girls. In response to his request I began to give him a description of the new course of study, worked out by our state normal school, when he stopped me and asked if I would object to having a stenographer take down my description. Consent to this was readily granted, and he called his stenographer. We proceeded in detail. I spent the night as his guest, and in the morning arranged a visit to the manual training school. We also visited the superintendent of the state schools, Dr. Brooks, to whom I also explained the Utah course of study. He was very much interested in it, and requested printed matter about it. Two members of the board of education with whom I conversed considered the new course of study very practical and that what is needed for the elementary schools of the country. Evidently those who have seen it at the fair were so impressed with it that they had not forgotten it. I had similar experiences in the other cities visited, and withal had a very successful trip.

HEARD MCLELLAN PLAY.

I returned last Tuesday morning, just in time to attend Prof. John J. McClellan's last organ recital. With several Utah friends, including Hyrum N. Smith and his two brothers, George and Willard, I secured seats on the stage at the side of the player, where I listened to the successive numbers, and the applause following each. Considering the small attendance at the fair, the cold condition of the weather, and the building, the audience was large. It was also very appreciative, listening with rapt attention to the beautiful notes of the mighty instrument so perfectly under the control of the player.

At the close of the recital a gentleman who sat behind me on the stage, whom I did not know, remarked to a companion at his side, "That young man plays better than I can or ever will."

I afterwards learned, as he stepped forward to congratulate Prof. McClellan, that he was Prof. Charles Calloway, the official organist of the world's fair. Such a compliment from such a source delighted me as much for the noble, generous nature which prompted it, as for the high honor it bestowed upon one of Utah's favorite musicians.

By request I have written an article for the Utah educational exhibit, including a description of the new course of study of the state normal school, for the next annual report of United States Commissioner of Education Harris.

As the fair is so near its close this probably be the final exhibit of importance connected with the educational exhibit, but as copies of this report will be sent to all the exhibitors, as well as to leading educational institutions of the world, the influence of the exhibit will in this way be perpetuated and extended.

In looking back and weighing the influence of this exhibit, now that its work is so nearly done, surely the educators of our state have the greatest encouragement to continue their good work; for it has awakened a widespread interest in Utah and her people, evoked the most unstinted praise, and secured a goodly number of the highest awards. I am more than gratified with the results.

THE SIMPLE LIFE

By Charles Wagner.

President Roosevelt, introducing the Author to a large audience in the Lafayette Opera House, Washington, had this to say about the book: "This is the first and will be the only time during my presidency that I shall ever introduce a speaker to an audience, and I am more than glad to do it. In this instance, because if there is one book which I should like to have read as a tract and also, which is so invariably true of tracts, as an interesting tract, by all our people, it is 'The Simple Life,' written by Mr. Wagner. There are other books which he has written of which we can gain great good, but I know of no other book written of recent years, whether here or abroad, which contains so much that we of America ought to take to our hearts as is contained in 'The Simple Life.'"

A limited number of the book has also been bound in paper, with a design of Salt Lake in colors. This style sells at 25c.
