

CLUB CHAT.

The visit of Mrs. May Wright Sewall, president of the International Council of Women, has been the notable event of the week. Her brilliant talk on the aims and work of the council at Mrs. Parsons' residence on Tuesday, in addition to her lecture at Assembly hall the night before will rank among the important events of the year.

The Society of Daughters of Utah Pioneers, has adjourned to meet Sept. 20th, at the residence of Mrs. P. T. Farnsworth, 129 East Brigham street. At the last meeting all pioneer mothers of members of the society were voted in as honorary members, and these, as well as all daughters of pioneers, whether members or not, are invited to be present.

The Euterpe club held its annual business meeting at the residence of Mrs. Plummer on Monday evening, and elected the following officers for the ensuing year: Mrs. F. J. Fabian, president; Mrs. Charles Wilkes, secretary and treasurer; Mrs. W. Montague Ferry and Mrs. Chas. Plummer, programme committee. The members of the club anticipate a very pleasant year's work when they reconvene in the fall. A series of three public concerts is to be given during the winter months is contemplated.

The Post's Round Table meets on Monday at the residence of Mrs. Clarence Bradley.

City Attorney Stephens and family, and Mrs. E. A. Nock, left during the week for Portland, Or.

Miss McGrath entertained at dinner on Monday evening.

Mrs. D. C. Dunbar, and family, will spend the summer at Soda Springs.

Mrs. M. A. Reynolds, and Miss Florence Reynolds, of Chicago, are guests of Mrs. H. P. Henderson.

The Woman's club of Denver has been amending some of its rules to cover the case—common in many clubs, particularly in large ones—of the careless member. The new rule of the large Denver club is that any member who has decided to leave the club must send a written resignation. If she fails to do so, she is simply leaving her name to be dropped as many club women do everywhere, she can never be taken into the organization again without paying dues for all the time she has been out of the club. On the other hand, if her resignation is written and duly presented, she may come back, should she elect, without paying the interim dues. In most clubs failure to pay dues means erasure of the name from the rules, but when the member wishes to pick up her membership again, she can usually do it without paying the back dues. The new by-law of the Denver Club aims to bring up to a sense of her obligation the careless clubwoman who is found everywhere. The woman who plays fast and loose with her organization, accordingly as she feels inclined. The Denver club will amend its rules, too, to provide that no Denver resident not a member of the club can be received at a club entertainment more than once during the year. This, too, is a problem encountered by many clubs. Women who should contribute to the support of the club do not, although they avail themselves constantly of its privileges, through a wide acquaintance with its membership. This is hardly just, particularly in the case of those clubs, now so numerous, which are practically by-laws, and provide throughout the season entertainments of a high standard.

The Woman's club of Jacksonville, Fla., has sent out a circular letter to the clubs of the General Federation of Women's Clubs in behalf of the 1,400 families of that city rendered homeless by the fire of May 2. An extract from the letter reads: "In this extremely the Woman's club of Jacksonville appeals to her sister clubs of the general federation for assistance for her philanthropic department to supply the needs of the destitute." Money, clothing and bedding are asked for, to be sent to Dr. Matson Reichard, chairman of the philanthropic department of the Jacksonville Woman's club. The letter is signed by Mrs. Alice Ely Doty, corresponding secretary.

At the National Woman's Suffrage convention in Minneapolis, it was decided that special attention should be given to the work in Iowa, Nebraska, Montana, Kansas, Maryland and Texas. Kansas has been given over to the management of its state president, Miss Helen Kimball, who will arrange for a convention in every county of the state, the speakers all to be Kansas women. The state convention will close the series and Mrs. Catt will be present as the principal speaker.

As the matter of re-organization is before the clubs of the country that are federated in the general society, the suggestion has been made that, in the event of a changed constitution, an amendment to permit the membership of mixed clubs should be adopted. The Indiana Union of Literary clubs, a large and important organization, whose recent meeting was fully reported in this department, is being kept out of the General Federation because of one or two mixed clubs counted in its membership. Many town-improvement associations, it is asserted, would be glad to count men as members, and in civic work everywhere club-women need and secure much support from the men of the town. In general literary work, too, it is pointed out, the mixed clubs are often more feasible, particularly in small towns. The federation line, however, has been sharply drawn, counting male membership. A change in this respect would be a radical one, and would need careful consideration before being decided upon. The clubwoman to whom the possibility was mentioned declared emphatically that the general society had enough problems on its hands for the next biennial meeting without going ahead, so to speak, for any additional burdens.

FEMININE FLATSAM.

A Hot-Weather Suggestion.

When week-long times of heat and drouth come your home-keeping neighbors will enjoy an early breakfast if you surprise them with an invitation to meet you over the coffee at sunrise. Invite only a few, and let them be those who have life enough and poetry in them to appreciate the freshness of morning. Prepare a dainty yet plentiful breakfast, and have the table set upon the porch or on a rug spread over the grass on the lawn. The board should be beautiful with fresh flowers and fruit, and furnished with everything needful for a hearty meal, for you may be sure your guests will be hungry. There must be no stinting of eggs, chops, hot rolls, berries and coffee.

Meet your guests at the gate and get a good view of the rising sun from the nearest available point, then lead them to the table and have breakfast served at once. Nothing can exceed the delightful atmosphere of these little morning festivals. The whole affair, over before the usual day begins, remains in the mind like a refreshing breath of wholesome air all the long, tiresome day.

How to be Happy When Traveling.

In traveling, good-nature is king. The traveler who is jolly and helpful when the train is late in reaching the breakfast-car, who doesn't get the fidgets and make every one around her fidgety toward the end of the journey, who is quick to overlook petty troubles, to excuse the mishaps, and appreciates all the efforts for her comfort even when they fail dismally—the girl who thinks first of others and last of herself is a treasure on a long railway journey.

Clubs Have Their Advantage.

I think it must be owned that the departures from the old order of home life have greatly ameliorated the condition of the week, the timid, the less self-assertive. In any given home circle it is not always the cleverest or the strongest who claims and exercises the mastery. A shrinking and sensible nature will not fight for its precedence in the home any more than out of it. A gentle, modest woman will often be victorious by her loud, pushing and vulgarly modern children. A man of refinement and real force will often let himself be bullied by a brawling woman because she is very much more numerous. Now, in the old days, so far as social intercourse was concerned, it was largely a question of the home or nothing. If there was no bright talk, no diverting recreation, no songs and laughter there, there was none anywhere.—Bishop Potter in the July Woman's Home Companion.

An Historic Punch-Bowl.

Quite possibly the most revered piece of silver plate in the United States navy is the massive eighteen-pound silver punch-bowl of the battleship Indiana, which bore the honorable scars of an historic battle. During that famous blockade and naval battle before Santiago de Cuba, this rich piece of tableware was struck by a fragment of a mortar-shell fired from the Spanish battery, and which burst in the ward-room passage of the battleship. A five-pound bit of the shell struck the bowl on one of the most prized parts of the body, just where the seal of the state of Indiana forms the central portion of a beautiful decoration. The seal is still there, but not as the artist designed it, for it now forms a part of a large, irregular indentation, which in the estimation of the officers and men of the battleship enhances the value of the bowl a thousand times over.—Walden Fawcett in the July Woman's Home Companion.

Pure Cow's Milk.

made sterile and guarded against contamination, from beginning to baby's bottle, is the perfection of substitute feeding for infants. Borden's Eagle Brand Condensed Milk has stood first among infant foods for more than forty years.

HER FAVORITE PARASOL.

WALKER'S STORE.

THE STORE AS A BUYING AND RESTING PLACE DURING CARNIVAL WEEK.

THE STORE THIS WEEK WELCOMES THE STRANGER WITHIN our gates; it is light, commodious, well ventilated, and in such a thing as a breeze happens along it is sure to be caught from one of the four sides. Resting places abound in corners and entrance ways, besides there's a large reception room on the second floor quickly reached by elevator, and although bargains are plentiful—many more than told of in print because lots are in small quantities at this season—none will be importuned to buy. Visit us; possibly the Mail Order department has already given us your acquaintance, but if not, welcome anyway.
