

SECOND DAY'S MEET AT THE STATE FAIR

Attendance Was Larger and Races
Better Than the Day
Before.

WITH ONLY ONE EXCEPTION.

That Was in the Second Event When
The Favorite, Los Angeles, Was Pulled by the Jockey.

The second day's race meet at the state fair yesterday afternoon was much better, with one exception, than that given the day before. The crowd was larger and more enthusiastic. The exception referred to was the raw work performed in the second event of the program. It was the six furlong, the main running event of the day, and there was apparently a bad break in the race. The lead was held by Los Angeles, but it did not take the judges long to decide that the race was a bad one, and it was called off.

Los Angeles was easily the favorite and was undoubtedly played generously. But when the horses were coming down the stretch jockey Moore nearly dismounted a shoulder pulling the horse. The big animal galloped into at that, but the jockey held him back.

THE FIVE HEATS TO DECIDE
One of the best races was the three-furlong race and pace, which took five heats to decide. Los Angeles took the first heat and the second, but the third heat was a bad one and was called off. Los Angeles was easily the favorite and was undoubtedly played generously. But when the horses were coming down the stretch jockey Moore nearly dismounted a shoulder pulling the horse. The big animal galloped into at that, but the jockey held him back.
