Suit for $5,000 Damages Was Settled Out of Court.

The trial of the case of Hannah K. Leslie against the Utah Light & Railway company came to a very sudden close yesterday afternoon in⁵ Judge Ritchie's court. A jury had been se-cured to try the case and during the noon recess of court the parties to the action came to an agreement and regrammar, arithmetic and allied studies that made an excellent display. The manual training department gave an interesting exhibit. The boys showed seats, racks, tables, ironing boards, and many other useful things, the work coming from the fifth to the eighth grades inclusive. The sewing exhibit was one of unusual excellence, showing all grades of work, darning, patching, up to the making of fine un-derwear. turned into court in the afternoon and asked that the case be dismissed. The action was brought to recover $5,000 damages for personal injuries received by plaintiff and it is said that the case was compromised for $500. patching, up to the making of fine un-derwear. The exercises were held last evening, and drew a large attendance, with addresses from Superintendent Chris-tensen of the city schools, Professor Stewart of the state university, and Supervisor Parratt of manual training. The program also included a violin solo by Rube McDonald, and a duo from Misses Winifred, and Gillett Hill, with a chosus from the girls of the sixth grade. The work of the children was much admired, and it was readily noted that marked improvement had been made since the last exhibition along the practical lines of life.
