This is refreshing. It amounts to charging those who entertain such an idea with a condition akin to insanity. Only fancy such a burlesqueattempt. Every Latter-day Saint knows that nobody could summon enough people on such an undertaking to constitute a "corporal's guard." The idea of basing a call for a General Conterence of the Church on the ground of husiness dissatisfaction with the location of the one called by the constituted authorities, is so supremely absurd as to cutitle the individual who expressed it to a place in the catalogue of cranks. Those who would undertake such a proconting might call a conference of the Saints, but in giving the invitation they would be in the predicament of the man who claimed that he "could call spirits fortif from the vasty deep.
