

MUSIC AND MUSICIANS

THE tenth concert by the Salt Lake Symphony Orchestra is set for next Friday afternoon at 4 o'clock in the Salt Lake Theater. business Manager Spencer will round up all the musical people of the city, including the subscribers to the orchestra fund, so that a handsome turnout is looked for. The schools where music is made a feature may be relied on to do their part.

Prof. Shepherd has arranged a rare program as given below, a feature being the appearance of Miss Hazel Taylor as vocal soloist. Miss Taylor's recent hit in "Robin Hood," is still fresh in the public memory, and in the beautiful "Traviata" number, with the full orchestra accompaniment, she ought to give a fine account of herself. The numbers of the afternoon are as follows:

Overture to "Egmont" . . . . Beethoven
Miss Hazel Taylor . . . . Soloist
"Robins Hood" . . . . Rossini
Schubert piano Suite from "Fernando" . . . . Rubinstein

Two Episodes—
(a) Legend . . . . Negro Episodic . . . . Henry Gilbert
symphonic poem, "Les Preludes" . . . . Liszt

The last issue of Conn's "Truth" contains a half tone of Held's band reaching across the page, with a comical white write-up.

Jan Kubelik, the Hungarian violinist, who played in the tabernacle two years ago, will appear again in this city Jan. 2, at the First Methodist church, in the regular University course of lecture-musical entertainment. Kubelik is an original character who is profusely written up wherever he goes.

St. Paul's Episcopal choir is training under Choralmaster M. J. Birnes to sing out the beauties of St. Paul, called "The Nativity." At the Christmas services, Birnes will sing a tenor solo tomorrow morning, from Mendelssohn's "Hymn of Praises."

Notwithstanding the recent financial stringency, the piano market has not been seriously affected. One local firm has just brought in five carloads of pianos from Chicago. All of the local houses have generous stocks on hand, but which seem to be going out right along. Collections are reported satiated.

George Sofio will sing "O Salutaris" by Massa, at tomorrow's 11 o'clock services in the Catholic church. The choir is to sing Rosewig's Mass in G.

Friends of Miss Alice Wolfgang, who has been in Chicago in the last 30 days, and heard her sing, report that she has improved immensely since leaving Salt Lake. She is contralto in the choir of the Pilgrim's Congregational church, one of the more prominent churches of the city. Miss Wolfgang is very much missed in the First Presbyterian choir of this city, where she made such an available record before going to Chicago.

Two three-cornered grand pianos in private studio are unusual in this part of the country, but Prof. McClellan will sing tomorrow morning, "Christmas, the Morn Breaks Gently O'er Thee" by Shelly; and in the evening "In a Pilgrim," by Mason.

Sheet music sales have fallen off of late, so the demand now is hardly than fair.

Local houses report the eastern manufacturers of talking machines as having madly caught up with their new accumulations, so they can now fill orders on demand.

Bandmaster Sousa has presented Prof. J. McClellan with a full set of his suites, published by the John Church company of Chicago. Prof. McClellan is delighted with this remembrance of the noted bandmaster's visit.

The following paragraph is found in the Berlin correspondent of an eastern musical paper: "Alfred Beer, of Salt Lake City, favorably known last season in America by his connection with the Savoy company, has just commenced work with Mr. Ferguson, who considers the young tenor as a singer of tremendous operatic possibilities."

SHARPS and FLATS

The London theatrical and musical friends of Sir Charles Santley and Sir John Hare are preparing to celebrate their birthday with a big feast. Everybody is invited. Sir Santley has earned whatever honor they may be in the somewhat vulgarized distinction which has been awarded to him.

Some tenors have trouble of their own. Caruso confided his sorrows and tribulations to a Viennese journal in these words: "It is natural enough that people should expect elation, pride of me, for the promises made in my behalf are as enormous as the prices charged for tickets to hear me. Look here, the Vienna opera would cover expenses if it charged only double the normal rates; that has been proved in figures; why, then, charge four or five times the usual rates? These things excite me dreadfully, and I am not master of my resources. The consciousness that absolutely unprecedented things are occurring in me makes me ill, and I feel as half as well as I might do otherwise. It is unfortunate for me, too, that I am compelled to sing whatever are demanded, and not those I would like to appear in."

Weingartner is going to devote himself entirely to his duties as director of the Vienna opera and composing. He has declined all offers relating to conducting concerts of Vienna. To a reporter

MISS HAZEL TAYLOR.

Who Will Appear as Soloist With the Salt Lake Symphony Orchestra next Friday Afternoon at the Theater.

Die Zeit he said the other day: "Some of the newspapers have placed me in opposition to Richard Strauss. I make no secret of the fact that I am not an adherent of the school represented by Strauss. But I shall not ignore a new work by him, and, if it is well adapted for performance in the Imperial opera and obtainable, I shall certainly produce it. I come to Vienna with well maturing ideas. There is in them nothing that is fantastic or impossible, but much that will appeal to the people, and here is where I hope to get the support of the press. I shall introduce myself with a new setting of 'Fidelio,' and the first new opera I shall conduct will be D'Albert's 'Tiefland.'"

The elder Cousin used to say that he lost 500 francs every time he acted at the Comedie Francaise instead of accepting more lucrative engagements elsewhere. Famous French singers might say the same thing regarding the Opera. The minister of fine arts pointed out the other day that the monthly compensation of the singers is in many cases surpassed by a single night's emoluments in America. The most highly priced singer at the Opera is Alvarez, who gets $1,600 a month. Breval, the leading prima donna, has $1,500 a month. At the Opera Comique Mary Gardot gets $1,400 a month, and Clement gets $1,500. The average receipts per performance at the Grand Opera last year were $2,000, and the most popular opera was "Ariane," "Faust," "Salomé," "Samson and Delila," and "Die Meistersinger." At the Opera Comique the receipts averaged $1,400 and the most popular operas were "Manon," "Madame Butterfly," "Carmen," "Pelleas et Melisande."

NEXT YEAR'S EISTEDDFOD.

WHILE very little is being said in the public press these days with respect to the great Eisteddfod, which is to be held in the tabernacle next October, the fact remains that a great deal of preliminary work is being done by the officers of the Cambrian association, and it is expected that the entire competitive program will be announced shortly. The association recently appointed a half dozen or more committees upon whose shoulders will fall the tremendous amount of work incidental to the holding of a national Eisteddfod. The most important of the committees at the present time is the one on program and general arrangements. This committee interviewed the first presidency and secured the tabernacle for Thursday, Friday and Saturday, Oct. 1, 2, 3, 1908. The intention is to hold four contests, divided into contests—two each day—the first to take place on the afternoon of Thursday, Oct. 1, and continued in the evening, the whole to conclude with a grand concert on Saturday night, Oct. 3. Conference, it is understood, will convene on the Sunday following the concert, and for that reason an effort will be made to have the railroad people run their excursion trains a day earlier than they have heretofore. The program of exercises, it is learned, will be made up of some 20 numbers, and will include choral contests, military and brass band, ladies' chorus, male chorus, children's chorus, male quartet, ladies' quartet, soprano contralto, tenor, baritone and bass, also piano and pipe organ. The contest numbers will be interspersed with the rendering of solos by noted artists who will be specially known. It will no doubt interest them to know that it will be exactly 10 years next October since the Eisteddfod was held in Salt Lake City. This latter event was made notable through the appearance here of the lamented Dr. Joseph Parry, Wales, to be in attendance as chief musical adjudicator. The officers of the Cambrian association are to be musical adjudicator, posthumous adjudicator, and official accompanist. None of these officials have yet been selected, but it is safe to presume that the musical judges will be musicians of standing, residing in the east.

Hon. Sam Newhouse has made a contribution towards the chief prize, that of the choral contest, this year will probably be $1,000.

SOUSA ON THE NATIONAL AIR.

THE following comment of musical interest was made recently by Mr. Sousa, the well known bandmaster, in a newspaper interview:

"America hasn't copied the air to her national song any more than the rest of the countries of the world. It names me when people say that America has adopted the tunes of other countries for her national airs. This country cannot help it because our forefathers started to sing 'America' to an English tune. It has simply grown upon us as naturally as our ears have. Of course, 'The Star Spangled Banner' is supposed to be and is the national song of America, but the tune to 'The song by proclamation; Congress can not say what song the people of this country must sing."

"Yes; rag time has had its funeral and is as scarce as currency is at present. I haven't played a rag time piece this season, and it's simply because the people don't want it, and I don't play it to discriminate between rag time and opera or anything else. If I find something artistic I will play it if the people like it."

"Rag time music had the gout or dyspepsia long before it died. It was overfed by poor nurses. Good rag time came and then a half million imitators sprung up, and as a result the people were sickened by the numerous imitations and their 'stuff.'
