CORONER VISITS SCENE.

Coroner W. C. Stevenson of Fremont county yesterday empaneled a jury of six men, and they visited the scene the wreck. They gathered all available facts and will meet at Canon City at 1:30 o'clock Monday afternoon for the purpose of fixing the responsibility for the wreck.

The jury is made up of the following persons: Waiter Richard, Michael Blythe, C. W. Van Patten, W. E. Em-merst, A. L. Hatch and W. W. Huggert.

INVESTIGATION ORDERED.

The railway company has ordered an investigation into the cause of the wreck, who is responsible and the na-ture of their culpability. Everyone con-nected with the running of the III-fated train will be questioned. This investigation will be conducted by offi-cials and will be thorough, requiring several days time, perhaps, to conclude it,

TWO OPERATORS.

It now transpires there were two regular operators at Swallows station, the point at which No. 3, the west bound train, should have received running or-ders. S. T. Lively was the day man and William Van Deusen was employed at night. Both men were experienced in their line of work and had been in the employ of the road for some time. Without notifying their superiors, Var Deusen, according to semi-official infor-Instant, more an arrangement with Lively to work for him on Thursday night and did not himself report for duty. Where he went or where he was at the time of the collision has not been learned. Lively assumed the duties of Van Densen and was at the sta-tion and received the orders concern-ing the west-bound train. He had been asleep, it is reliably reported, and the ticking of the telegraph instrument awoke him. The order was transmitted and Lively checked it back. He did not know that No. 3 had already passed Swallows and received the order entire-ly unconscious that the train was al-ready rushing toward the station be-word yond.

HORROR-STRICKEN.

HORROR-STRICKEN. In a few moments a headlight of a, train coming from Pueblo was seen ap-proaching Swallows. Lively stepped out to deliver the order controlling No. 3, when, to his horror he discovered that the on-coming train was No. 15, run-ning behind No. 3. The full realization of his negligence then burst upon him and he ran frantically into the station, grasped the key and called Florence. Too late, however, for No. 16, had pulled out of Florence station east-bound, and there remained no recourse bound, and there remained no recourse that could be resorter to to stop the trains, now speeding on to destruction. Both Lively and Van Deusen have been discharged. Railroad men say that this result would have followed the know-legde of their laxity reaching their superiors, whether a wreck had resulted or not.
