THE EVENING NEWS. GEORGE Q. CANNON, EDITOR AND PUBLISHER.

TO THE LATTER-DAY SAINTS.

OUR attention has been called of late to several articles which have appeared in the Utah Magazine, a weekly periodical, published in this city. An examination of them has convinced us cases. that they are erroneous, opposed to the spirit of the gospel and calculated to do injury. According to the practice in the Church, teachers were sent to labor with the editor and publishers, to point out to them the evil results which follow a persistence in would the course they were pursuing. This did not have the desired effect, and they have since been tried be fore the High Council, and after a thorough and patient investigation of the case, it was found they had imbibed the spirit of apostacy to that degree that they could not any longer be fellowthey could not any longer be fellowshipped, and they were cut off from the Church.

Therefore we say to our brethren and sisters in every place, the Utah Magazine is not a periodical suitable for circulation among or perusal by them, and should not be sustained by Latter-day Saints.

We hope this will be sufficient, without ever having to refer to it again. Your Brethren, BRIGHAM YOUNG, GEORGE A. SMITH, DANIEL H. WELLS, ORSON PRATT, WILFORD WOODRUFF, GEORGE Q. CANNON,

JOSEPH F. SMITH.

THE recent visit of Vice President Colfax to Salt Lake City has furnished theme for editorial comment to many of our cotemporaries on both the Atlantic and Pacific. The tone and style of those comments are amusing, and to persons posted in regard to affairs in Salt Lake, many of them are ridiculous. Mr. Colfax, judging by the effusions of our cotemporaries, has proved himself a hero in giving expression to his opinions, antagonistic to the doctrine of a plurality of wives in the metropolis of Utah Territory; and the Vice President's popularity among the unthinking portion of newspaper readers will no doubt be greatly increased by his speech delivered recently in front of the Townsend House in this city. Say, our cotemporaries, "while others from among the law- this morning. makers and leading men of the nation have flattered and cajoled the Mormons with soft words and fine speeches, Mr. Colfax has dared to give free expression has been taken by a Congressional to his views," "he has bearded the lion inhis den, etc." "It is a thing positively unheard of, and speaks trumpet-tongued in favor of the honesty and sincerity of the man." inhis den, etc." "It is a thing positively of the man."

"A thing of beauty is a joy forever."

They should know that if proper care is not bestowed upon them, their loss is Inevitable, and is only a matter of time. They should be taught at five years old and upwards the daily use of the toothbrush. In order thoroughly to cleanse the parts the brush should not only be moved across the teeth, but also upwards and downwards, varying the action so as to penetrate every interstice both anterium and posterium. Should the gums be relaxed, spongy and bleed, a continuation in the above course will generally restore them to a healthy action. Every person ought to have a tooth-brush.

Recent microscopical examinations have proved pure white scap to be the best and most effectual dentrifice. A very good and safe tooth-pick can be made out of a quill, and even a piece of straw of a suitable size inserted between the teeth has been found to answer a very good purpose.
