

CORRESPONDENCE.

THE LEHI RAID.

SALT LAKE CITY,
Dec. 10, 1886.

Editor Deseret News:

Happening to be in Lehi when those eight exemplary husbands and fathers were arrested, and, looking on the gloom cast over that quiet town, I feel impelled to write these lines. Of all the ladies I happened to meet that morning, none could refrain from tears and the sadness was universal amongst the faithful, and could a few satisfy the demands of Edmunds, Dickson, Zane & Co. on prostrate Utah, like the six noble sons of Calais, they no doubt could soon be found, and like Damon, mount the scaffold.

Respectfully yours, G. W.

A WORD FROM WISCONSIN.

MONDOVI, BUFFALO, Co.,
Wisconsin, Nov. 27th 1886.

Editor Deseret News:

Desiring to let my friends, brethren and sisters know how I am getting along and that I am still in the land of the living, I could not conceive a better plan of communicating this information to them than through the volumes of your valuable paper. I am well and feeling well at present, both in body and mind. I am also blessed with a good appetite and plenty of good food to satisfy it, for which I feel very grateful to my Heavenly Father.

I left Salt Lake City on the 16th of June, 1886, and since that date I have not had a day of sickness, although I have been exposed a great deal. I will have to admit that I suffered considerably from the blues and homesickness, but I have learned better than to let them get a hold on me now.

We are not persecuted as much here as our brethren in the South are, nor do we get quite so much encouragement from the effects of our labors as they do. Converts to our faith in these parts are as scarce as chicken's teeth—very few and far between.

This field has been pretty well canvassed by our Elders.

Your correspondent and his partner (Brother David McMullin) are well known in this country as the "Mormons" or "latter-day devils," as some choose to call us.

The weather is very changeable, and at times very cold, much more so than it is at my home in Southern Utah. It began snowing last Tuesday morning and continued without cessation until Thursday about noon. There is about one foot of snow on the ground at present, which does away with wagons for a season and brings the sleighs into use. Felt, overshoes, fur caps, and huge overcoats are quite common and comfortable, and woe to the wayfarer who is not equipped with these proofs against Jack Frost's invasions, as he is very apt to lose a nose, ear or toe. The people here say this is nice, warm, fall weather, and your correspondent wonders what the winter will be. I expect to know more about it in the spring, but from what I can learn the winters are generally very severe. I hope to crawl out of the snow in the spring a wiser and a tougher man.

I was very much pleased to hear of the release of our brethren that were at Detroit, and I always took much pleasure in reading Brother C. J. Kempe's letters, also Brother Tenney's. The latter displayed very clearly how dearly he loves the truth.

The News is always a welcome guest, and many copies have been disposed of in this field.

Ever praying for the welfare of Zion and the triumph of truth, I remain as ever, your brother in the Gospel of Christ,
ANNA E. JOHNSON.

UTAH COUNTY M. I. A.

SPANISH FORK,
December 13, 1886.

Editor Deseret News:

The southern district of the M. I. organization of the Utah Stake of Zion was held in Salem on Saturday and Sunday last. Among those present were the presidency of the Stake Association, the various officers of all the branches in the district, except Santaquin, Brothers Burton and Badger, of Salt Lake, and many members from every part of the district.

The statistics showed a marked improvement in regular attendance, increase of numbers, punctuality, application of the mind to study, interest and results.

The instructions received were all practical in their application. Round dancing was denounced as being immoral, injurious to health, a stepping-stone to bad conduct, and as being directly inconsistent with the high aims of Latter-day Saints.

The Word of Wisdom was presented from three points, religious, moral and hygienic, with telling force and effect, and all present seemed to realize the necessity of leading better lives by abstaining from all evil habits and degrading practices, by exerting the best energies for the accomplishment of the greatest good to all mankind.

It is with pride we now record the progress of the young people of this Stake by stating that their advancement is conspicuous everywhere. A spirit of earnestness, of honest zeal and religious interest is marked in their public gatherings, in their private associations and individual conduct.

The Stake President together with the officers of the branches, are energetically applying their time and talents to encourage, direct and foster the great and sacred trust reposed in them. May their labors be crowned with success.

Respectfully,
JOS. A. REES.

THE R. R. ACCIDENT.

Details of the Tragedy from a
"News" Correspondent.Rock Springs Wyoming,
December 15th, 1886.

Editor Deseret News:

A collision occurred at Wilkins, a place about seven miles from Rock Springs, between 4 and 5 o'clock this morning, between two freight trains, causing the death of one of the firemen and severely injuring the other. One of the engineers escaped with a few scratches, the other had an arm broken and a wrist sprained. From what few items of information I could gather, it seems the two freight trains were to have passed each other at Wilkins, where there is a switch, but the train from the west, whose place it was to stop on the track and let the train from the east switch to the side track, from some cause or other not yet explained, passed both switches and met the other train on a curve, with the result above stated.

The engineer of the east-bound train says he lost control of his air brakes and could not stop his train in time. The engineer of the other train says he knew nothing till the headlight of the other train appeared round the curve like a flash of lightning, and he became unconscious.

Traffic was delayed all day. The passenger train from the east stayed all day at Rock Springs, but left about 6:30 p. m.

The injured men and the deceased fireman were taken on to Rawlins this afternoon. A coroner's jury was empaneled this afternoon, but owing to the absence of the witnesses, the investigations were postponed till tomorrow (Thursday).

The fireman leaves a wife and one child; his name is Michael Lamb. Yours respectfully, ALMEN.

OBITUARY.

NEBEKER.—Died in the Nineteenth Ward, Salt Lake City, Utah, December 1st, 1886, of venous hemorrhage, George, son of George and Susanna Merrilth Nebeker.

Deceased was born at Newcastle, Del., July 22d, 1827. He subsequently moved to Livingston, Fountain County, Ind., where he remained until the year 1846. In the spring of that year he, in company with his eldest brother John, came west as far as Winter Quarters, suffering in connection with the Saints, the hardships of the winter of 1846-7 at that place. The following spring he continued his journey westward in Brother George B. Wallace's company, in which his brother John Nebeker was a captain of 50, arriving in the valley September 29th, 1847.

Since Brother Nebeker's arrival in the valley his labors for the building up of the kingdom of God have been signally conspicuous in his untiring zeal and manifest integrity to the principles of the Gospel, which he espoused in early manhood, being baptized when 20 years of age. In the year 1850 he married Elizabeth Dilworth by whom he had eleven children, four sons and seven daughters, all surviving him excepting five daughters. Again in the year 1863 he was married to Maria Leonard, who bore him four sons and two daughters all of whom survive him excepting one son and one daughter. In connection with raising his family, his life has been devoted to missionary labor most of the time.

His first mission in 1855, was to the remnants of the House of Israel in the regions of the White and Elk Mountains; and in the year 1856-7, he was among those called to colonize what was then known as the Western part of Utah, but now known as Carson Nevada. After 18 months of hard labor and no returns, he was called back to Salt Lake Valley to join the Saints in their move south in the year 1857. He performed other missions, notably, may be mentioned the one to the inhabitants of the Sandwich Islands, where he was enabled to establish an industry, namely, the manufacture of sugar, which has also been the means of assisting to establish a home or place where the natives of that land, who receive the Truth, may gather and build up a stake of Zion in that land, thus materially contributing to the spiritual as well as the temporal welfare of that people. This mission embraced a period of 13 years. He also filled a mission to the United States in the fall and winter of 1879, and 1880. The last and not the least of his labors, and which was the principle cause of his failing health, was his connection with the Utah and Salt Lake Canal Company, which was instrumental after years of hard toil and anxiety in redeeming a great many thousands of acres of land that otherwise would have been uncultivated but which now teem with earth's verdant productions to the joy and happiness of hundreds.

He held the office of High Priest, being ordained to that office in 1853, and acted as a High Counselor in the Salt Lake Stake of Zion for 20 years thereafter. He was a member of the organization known as the "Minute Men" of Utah in this capacity he was a member of the P. P. Pratt party to make exploration in Southern Utah in 1849, of which he was the only surviving member but one. At his death he was laboring as District Teacher in the ward in which he resided.

Funeral services were held in the 19th Ward school house, Friday, December 3d, 1886, at 12 m. Consolatory remarks were made by Elders O. P. Whitney and Geo. B. Wallace. The services were attended by a great many friends of the deceased, and notably among the congregation quite a number of Hawaiians, who seemed very much affected at their loss.
