The case of the State of Utah vs. Howard Speak and Walter Irwin, charged with the crime of mayhem, is being heard. The state is represented by District Attorney Hayes and Judge Thomas Maloney and the defense by Attorney T. D. Johnson and A. J. Webb.

Shortly after seeing the young men he saw the Chinaman covered with blood with his eye gashed out.

The next witness was Officer C. C. Barker who testified that on April 21, 1901, he was in company with Detective Brown, went to Marriott's and placed the defendants under arrest. That while they were driving along the road where the Chinaman was hurt Irwin drove the buggy and showed the defendant who knocked the Chinaman's eye out, that both he (Irwin) and the defendant who had struck the Chinaman they got in the buggy and drove rapidly away. He also testified that when Speck was brought to the station the officers at that time both he and Irwin had known at the Chinaman, but that they did not do so until after the Chinaman had hit their buggy with a stick of dirt, that he could not say which one of the rocks had hit the Chinaman.

Detective Brown testified to about the same circumstances as told by the former witness.

EDUCATIONAL ESSENTIALS.

And Non-Essentials Aply Elucidated by Prof. Brimhall in Lecture to Teachers.

Many June Weddings—Court Notes—The Shooting at Henry's Fork, Wyoming, of Local Interest.

Special Correspondence.

Provo, June 12.—Professor George H. Brimhall delivered his second lecture before the students of the Summer school, last evening, taking for his subject "Essentials and Non-Essentials in Education." The following are some of the points, which were all made clear by apt illustrations. The students were all highly interested, and several questions were asked and opinions expressed, tending to further elucidate the questions under consideration:

EDUCATIONAL ESSENTIALS.

Enjoyment is the great essential in education. It does not mean ease or amusement, the highest form of educational enjoyment is the feeling of intellectual vigor, plus execution. Earnestness, an essential, excitement, a necessary.

Accuracy—An accurate idea is worth more than a number of inaccurate ideas. The accurate ideas go into the social and intellectual structure of a man's life, while inaccurate ideas go into the rubbish heap as does a brick without corners. Skill, or ease of activity, better teach the pupil to do one thing skillfully than a number of things unskillfully. Essentials in the curriculum—Reading, logical interpretation of written symbols, increase of written or eye vocabulary and oral vocabulary; the accumulation of ideas, writing; legibility and rapidity; non-essentials, spelling, arithmetic, clear ideas of magnitude and relations; measuring one thing by another. Language: (1) Clear mind content, (2) correct expression of mind content, (3) correct expression of mind content. Any special system of diagramming is non-essential. Geography: Form ideas, direction ideas, ideas of conditions; ability to see the remote through the immediate. Nature work: Creating or forming of the habit of observation and classification.

COUNTY APPOINTMENTS.

Abraham Jones has been appointed deputy county game warden, to serve without pay. Fred Evans of Benjamin has been appointed inspector for the county at $2 a day for time of actual service; bond $500.

MANY JUNE WEDDINGS.

The following couples received marriage licenses yesterday: William H. Menzies, 22, and Eliza B. B. Scott, 22, of Provo. Andrew H. Scott, 23, of Knightville, and Elizabeth J. Park, 22, of Provo. Perry B. Fuller, 24, of Knightville, and Zina Williams, 20, of Provo. Lewis C. Scott, 21, and Zina Jorgensen, 19, both of Springville. John Roberts, Jr., 23, and Emma Jane Taylor, 18, both of Lehi. Elliot N. Jordan, 30, and Florence Thorpe, 19, both of Springville. Calvin Cragan, 29, and Woods Cross, and Martha Stubbs, 26, of Provo.

COURT NOTES.

The case of Elizabeth M. Saxey vs. William K. Henry, involving the right of defendant to close a road leading to plaintiff's pasture in the northeast part of the city, was heard before Judge Booth today. The judge will visit the ground before rendering a decision. In the case of McBride & Barnes vs. the Western Moline Plow company, a suit for $31.10, heard by Justice Anderson last week and taken under advisement, a decision was rendered yesterday in favor of plaintiffs.

THE SHOOTING AT HENRY'S FORK.

Considerable local interest exists in the trouble between cattlemen and sheepmen at Henry's Fork, Wyoming, which led to the shooting of two sheepherders Thursday, as the press reports state that a Mr. Bullock and a Mr. Whipple had notified the sheepmen to leave some time previous to the shooting. Mr. Isaac Bullock, of this city, has a cattle ranch there, and the supposition is that he is the man referred to in the dispatches. He is known as a peaceable, law-abiding citizen, and none of his friends believe that he was of the party who did the shooting or that he countenanced the act. Nothing definite is known here of the unfortunate affair, but one of Mr. Bullock's relatives informs the "News" correspondent that Mr. Bullock and Mr. Whipple, another cattlemen, had been asked by the cattlemen to interview the owners of the sheep, which were encroaching on the cattle ranges, for the purpose of inducing them to move their sheep away. They did so and an amicable arrangement was made. This is all that is known here, outside of the newspaper reports, and the theory is that the sheep men did not move soon enough to suit some of the more reckless and hot headed cattlemen, and that the murder was the result of the newspaper reports. Attorney Thomas Johnson has gone out to investigate the situation.

GARDEN CITY NOTES.

The 17-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Mads Jorgensen, of Lake View, fell from a porch at her home yesterday and dislocated her shoulder. She was attended by a doctor, and reports attending condition favorable. The state board of equalization made an official visit to Utah county, yesterday, for the purpose of examining the assessment rolls and obtaining information in regard to taxation in this county.
