DARING THUG TRIES

Stefkes J. Burrows About the Head With Iron Bor, But Plees When Victim Calls for Help.

Despite the just that the police have a good description of him, they have been unable so far to becate the murderous thug who attempted to rob J. Burrows, in his more, 75 Main street, about 4 o'clock yesterday afternon. The police stated this morning that the city had been searched thoroughly for the man, but no trace or him could be found. They expressed great and sainful they were not very serimisbe was attended by Dr. E. S. Wright.

The description given the police hyterrows of the nurderous thug is as allows: A young man of medium eight, slender, well dressed, and about pened.

The police learned last night that a man answering the description given by Burrows purchased a ticket for Ogden. The Junction City authorities were notified but up to a inte hour today no word had been received from them.

SALES IS BROUGHT BACK.

"Sales did not attempt to make any back without requisition papers," said Detective E. M. Janney this morning. Detective Janney returned last night from Pocatello where he went to get Jack Sales, formerly employed by the Salt Lake Livery & Transfer company, wanted here for the their of $200 worth of silver mountings, stolen from two sets of harness last Sunday.

sets of harness last Sunday.

The property taken was recovered at Pocatello where Sales thad it shipped. He was arrested there at the request of the Sali Lake police, and will be charged with grand larceny. He affered no excuses whatever an was willing to accompany Detective Januey back to Salt Lake without being served with

SMITH GETS A JOB.

C. J. Smith, a young man arrested a week ago last Thursday and given a "floater" Friday, and who was taken into custody yesterday, now wishes he had left the city as he agreed to do. This morning he began his 100-day contence and is a member of the chain gang, making "little ones out of hig ones." The fellow has repeatedly and persistently given the police trouble by acting in an indecen manner and has imposed upon reputable persons. has imposed upon reputable person who befriended him.

VAIL'S CASE IS PROBED.

County Attorney Says Evidence of Any Offense Does Not Appear.

case of former Fire Chief Charles T. Vail, who is accused to defauting with about $1,000 in the firenear's benefit fund, County Attorney Job P. Lyon has concluded that Vall samuel be prosecuted. While Vail was custoding of the fund, it appears, that he longed the fremen money out of the fund ung time they wanted it. Then when he was absted out of the fire department, the fremen airred in agreement transleg over to him what remained to the fund its erfort that he might go into business. It was in the saloun business that he lost the money, it is said. This will probably be investigated by the council, for it is baid that the freenigh had no right to turn the park. AMUSEMENTS

Theater-There is a freshness about

The Girl Question" which made as estantaneous hit with the large andience at the theater last evening. It is a breezy show which carries just enough heart-interest plot to appeal to those who like a love story with their entertainment. The chorus is young. goodlooking and above all hard work-ing, the staging excellent and the cos-tumes all that can be desired. Add to ing, the staging excellent and the costumes all that can be desired. Add to all these some snappy dialogue, catchy music, dancing and specialties, and that is the answer to "The Girl Question." Among the features of the evening the Eddle Foy number and the college boys made the biggest hit. While Paul Nicholson is the star, and in this capacity it fell to his lot to make a speech and tell a story on himself between acts, there are others, notably Carl George as an amorous German baron, whose methods and makeup are somewhat different. His linal scene just prior to his departure for the fatheriand, "home" being a little "bit" which made a lift on all four floors. The piece is crammed full or repartise and slangy persillage that keeps everybody felly. One recognizes a number of gags and the headliner act, "The Honde Typowritors," all of which have been staten by vanicable amironis since "The Girl Question" first saw the glare of the footlights. Eliste Scott, Nina Collins and George Barbles are others in the cast who pitch tight in and keep things on the move After a somewhat protracted season with heavy drams. The Girl Question comes as a welcome touch of optimism. It is a fricity, reditching above Resigned and clean, lust a shade better than "The Fine. The Place and The tight it more again tought, and tomorrow.

In the United States desired court today, the case of Mike Bran vs The Fintle Mining & Development com-today, the case of Mige Bran vs the Tintle Mining & Development company was brought to a close by the court instructing the jury to bring in a verdict for the defendant. It was held that the evidence was not sufficient to sustain the allogation of negligence on the part of the company. The suit arose from the explosion of a missed hole in the drift on the sixth level of the company's mine in Ringham canyon, on March 7, 1967. On that day, the plaintiff states that he was put to work in the mine. He had drilled two holes with the machine drill and was well along with the third one when the missed charge was struck, the explosion of which caused the loss of both his eyes as well as fracturing his skull, breaking his left arm and leg and also three ribs. The suit was for $40,000 damages.
