

APPOINTMENTS AT LIVERPOOL.

The Millennial Star, of Aug. 15, announces the arrival of Elders Benjamin Stringam, John Sharp, jr., S. H. Hill, Heber J. Richards, Franklin Merrill, Jonas W. Beck, Joseph Romney, E. A. Richards, Ensign I. Stocking, Chas. W. Stayner, Stephen W. Alley and Oscar F. Lyons at Liverpool on the 25th of July; also, Elders Joseph H. Felt on the 27th and William P. Nebeker on the 2d of August—all from this city last spring.

Some of them, says the Star, had rather long and tedious passages, but all arrived in the enjoyment of good health and spirits and have entered upon their duties with that zeal and humility which augur well for their future usefulness.

They have been assigned, by Pres. George C. Cannon, to their respective fields of ministerial labor, as follows:

Elders Alfred Lee and Benjamin Stringam are appointed to labor in the Sheffield District, under the direction of Elder Joseph Bull.

Elder John Sharp, jun., is appointed to labor in the Dundee Conference, under the direction of Elder Matthew McCune.

Elders Samuel H. Hill and Martin Wood are appointed to labor in the Newcastle-on-Tyne District, under the direction of Elder M. F. Farnsworth.

Elder Franklin Merrill is appointed to labor in the Cheltenham District, under the direction of Elder John G. Holman.

Elders Evan H. Richards and Jonas W. Beck are appointed to labor in the South Wales District, under the direction of Elder Thomas E. Jeremy.

Elder Joseph Romney is appointed to labor in the Liverpool Conference, under the direction of Elder Thomas Taylor.

Elder Ensign I. Stocking is appointed to labor in the Kent Conference, under the direction of Elder William Sanders.

Elder Charles W. Stayner is appointed to labor in the Essex Conference, under the direction of Elder George Sims.

Elders Stephen W. Alley, Oscar F. Lyons and Heber J. Richards are appointed to labor in the Nottingham District, under the direction of Elder John D. Chase.

Elder Joseph H. Felt is appointed to labor in the Manchester District, under the direction of Elder Thomas Taylor.

Elders D. P. Kimball and C. M. Gillet are appointed to labor in the Southampton District, under the direction of Elder Warren S. Snow.

Elder R. H. L. Parker is appointed to labor in the Birmingham District, under the direction of Elder John M. Kay.

Elder George M. Brown is released from laboring in the Manchester District and appointed to labor in the Scandinavian Mission, under the direction of President Jesse N. Smith.

Elder S. L. Sprague is released from laboring in the Birmingham District and appointed to labor in the Scandinavian Mission, under the direction of President Jesse N. Smith.

Elders J. E. Evans and John Gray, jun., are appointed to labor in the Scandinavian Mission, under the direction of President Jesse N. Smith.

Elders W. W. Riter and W. P. Nebeker are appointed to labor in the Swiss and Italian Mission, under the direction of President John L. Smith.

Some few of those who were appointed on missions to Europe at the last April Semi-Annual Conference in this city had not arrived. They are those who were not ready, or did not start with the Church trains, or other private companies leaving about the same time. Whether they have been released, or whether they will yet fill their appointments, is a question as yet undetermined, so far as we are informed. In one or two instances, as understood, that degree of alacrity has not been exhibited in honoring their appointments which is generally evinced by Elders of Israel who have possessed the spirit of their calling and Priesthood and appreciated their connection with the latter-day work.

TREMENDOUS BLOW.—High winds have prevailed in Great Salt Lake Valley, much of the time since last spring—at times raising and moving about dust and sand almost to suffocation; but the most disagreeable, if not the most furious wind storm of the season, occurred on Saturday last—blowing the most terrific between twelve and two o'clock. The clouds of dust and sand, which followed each other in quick succession, were darkening and overwhelming. It was raining the while in the mountains, and a few drops of water fell in the valley.

D. A. & M. SOCIETY.—We are requested by Secretary R. L. Campbell to state that the agents appointed throughout the country last year to act in behalf of this Society are requested to act this year, as well as those who may have been appointed by Mr. Masser general agent.

CAPTURE OF THE NOTED CONFEDERATE GENERAL JOHN MORGAN.

Through the unavoidable suspension of the News for a week or two, we have been unable to give our readers as full details of passing events as was desirable. Many occurrences of interest even in these exciting times, if their historical perpetuity depends upon being made matters of record within the columns of the News, must, of necessity, pass into the dreamy region of forgetfulness. The conspicuous part played by Gen. Morgan in support of "southern rights," however, will not justify silently passing over the present summary suspension in his hitherto invincible career.

On the evening of July 6th, as reported, the city of Louisville, Ky., was suddenly thrown into great excitement—it being rumored that Morgan's forces were approaching. Next day the excitement abated upon an assurance that Morgan was retreating. This retreat, as subsequently made apparent, was in consequence of the prompt action on the part of the civil authorities at Louisville by way of preparations for his reception. The military, as supposed, had retired in good order to some point of more commanding security. Not relishing the character of these evasions, Gen. Morgan took up an oblique line of march—which was reported as a retreat—for the Ohio river, his destination, and which he struck and crossed at Brandenburg, some forty or fifty miles below Louisville.

From the most reliable statements we have seen, there were in all eleven regiments, aggregating about five thousand men, with ten pieces of artillery, including two howitzers, under the command of Morgan and Basil Duke.

Proceeding directly north into Indiana, the towns of Corydon, Salem, Lexington and Madison were successively occupied—the military, wherever posted at these points, for the protection of government supplies—getting out of the way of the venturesome invaders as fast as they could skedaddle.

The whole State of Indiana was now in uproar. At Indianapolis, the capital, all business was suspended and generally throughout the State. By proclamation of Gov. Morton, the State militia were called to arms and troops were rapidly organized and sent forward to the beleaguered points; but Morgan's movements were so rapid that but few if any of the hastily-mustered hoosiers even got a glimpse at him, and before the thirty thousand stand of arms distributed could be brought into requisition, Morgan and his men were pushing at their utmost speed through the southern counties of Ohio.

Railroad tracks torn up, steamboats burned, and a general destruction of all public property, on his trail were among the incidents.

His route through Ohio lay along the most fertile, populous and wealthiest portions of the State. He was too hotly pursued, however, by the Buckeyes, to give him time for extensive depredating. In several attacks by superior numbers, he was reported to have suffered considerably. Finally, however, with the remaining portion of his command, about four hundred men, he was captured on the afternoon of July 26th, by Gen. Shackleford, an old companion in arms, near New Lisbon, Columbiana county, Ohio—by which route he hoped to escape into Pennsylvania, the recrossing of the Ohio being rendered almost impossible by gun-boat patrols and armed detachments along the north side.

With his officers and men, Gen. Morgan was put into close confinement in the Ohio State penitentiary, at Columbus, where they were held as retaliatory for the imprisonment of Col. Streight and his staff, at Richmond. We have since learned that Col. Streight and staff had been released from the convict quarters and placed upon a footing with other prisoners of war. We presume, also, that Morgan, and his associates, have been ere this awarded the same kind of accommodation, and will, doubtless, in due process of time, be released from Federal custody by regular exchange.

DEATH OF JUDGE PURPLE.—The death of Hon. N. H.
