EDITORIAL NOTES.

Wendell Phillips says there is not a great city on this continent where for twenty-five years the grogshops have not nominated the mayor and aldermen. Perhaps Wendell does not consider this a great city.

The London Times says, "The desire to construct the largest single roof in the world was achieved in the roof of the Midland Railway Station at St. Pancras, which now possesses that distinction, having eclipsed the roof of the Imperial Riding School at Moscow by a few feet, the span of the former being 210 feet and that of the latter 205 feet. The roof to cover the large new station at St. Enoch Square for the Glasgow Union Railway has a span of 198 feet and a length of 515 feet. The roof of the new joint station of the Midland, the Great Northern, and the Manchester, Sheffield and Lincolnshire Railways has a span of 210 feet."

The Cumberland Allegiance says: "Mr. J. Henry Martin, a boatman from Washington County, who has been in the employ of the Borden Company for many years past, is now getting up a co-operative association among boatmen. It is proposed that the organization will own its own boats, and establish its own store at some point along the canal, where all the supplies needed by boatmen can be purchased. The members of the organization will thus be able to get their supplies at wholesale rates, and also share in the general dividends of the store. It is also proposed to bid for the shipment of coal in bulk."

It is said that the Indian Territory is the Gretna Green of fugitive lovers from Texas, as marriages in the Indian nation are held valid.

Is ale equal to wine? The religious papers are discussing the propriety of using ale in the communion service, when wine cannot be had, as was done by a Baptist congregation in Burmah.

The Washington Star says: "The young men recently expelled from the naval academy for refusing to give the names of certain boys who had been indulging in the pastime of hazing, fail to receive much sympathy, and it is right that they should not. The necessity for the supremacy of order in an institution of this kind is apparent."

A family of systematic murderers has been discovered at Montague, Texas. Seven of them, well armed, are besieged by an incensed community, and are likely to be starved out.

Popular meetings are being held in Nashville to devise means for the suppression of crime. Mayor Kershival is charged with being the friend and protector of gamblers.

There are some as diabolical wretches in this country as can be found among the Baahs Benouls. One James Myers, son of the sheriff of Jefferson County, Mo., is alleged, seduced the daughter of George Bacchus, a feeble old German, and then put fourteen bullets into the old man's body, because he forbade the graceless scamp the house. At Ramsey, Canada, two young men entered the school-house after hours, violently assaulted the school-mistress, and then cut her tongue out. She managed to get the particulars of the outrage and the names of her assailants, and then expired. Her dead body was found on the floor of the school-house on the morning following the next morning.

WILL THERE BE A GENERAL FIGHT ABOUT IT?

A GREAT many people look forward to the ensuing election for President of the United States with a good deal of apprehension and dismal foreboding. It is understood that the struggle will be a very close one, and that in most of the States the race will be contested inch by inch, that the passions of both parties will be excited to the highest pitch, and that extermination and reclamation will be indulged in freely and to a most exasperating degree.

It looks as if there would be considerable disturbance and some blood shed over the elections next month, and indeed that kind of work has already begun in two or three States in the South. But the real struggle is expected to begin in Congress over the counting of the votes for the next President of the United States. As is well known, the House is Democratic and the Senate Republican, and there are indications that the two houses will quarrel over the acceptance of the votes. It is anticipated that, on some ground or other, one house will reject the vote of one State, and the other house will reject the vote of some other State, in order to be even, and thus, something after the style of the Kilkenny cat fight, the two houses will war with each other until there is nothing left of the electoral vote, and the quarrel may extend into the various States, until every neighborhood will have a very pretty fight inaugurated within its own borders, beginning on this very question.

It is true, Congress may have better sense than to quarrel in this way, but there is no assurance whatever that Congress will. On the contrary, there is much reason to fear that that body will not, but will give way to its political prejudices and heated passions until the whole country is set in a blaze.

It is indeed to be hoped that wiser counsels will prevail, and they may. But each party is so thoroughly possessed with the idea of its own self-sufficiency and of the ruinous shortcomings and vices of its antagonist that there is little reason to hope for rational procedure and prudent forbearance. The Republicans are filled with the assurance that with them rests the salvation of the country, and the Democrats are equally well assured that if the country is to be delivered from impending ruin it must be on the old established democratic principles. Thus it will be seen that these two contending parties are veritable irreconcilables, and therefore it is little to indulge in hopes of their reconciliation, and it is difficult to see how they can be harmonized even, as each party is as tenacious as death of its ideas of its own saving power and absolute necessity to the welfare of the country.

There is no doubt that the present winter will be one of the most critical periods in the history of the Union. Meantime, if we can do nothing better, we can at least hope for the best.

The reports at this point have been recently from 250 to 350 bales by each steamer, which have been quickly taken into consumption. Out of 394 bales just arrived from the steamer Oceanic per Pacific Railroad, about one-half was sold before arrival.

Trouble and Inconvenience by the Engineers' and Firemen's Strike.

ELIZABETH, N. J., 24.—The strike of the engineers and firemen on the Central road causes great trouble and inconvenience to the people along the line, and excites the just indignation of those on the late trains who were obliged to walk to their homes or take lodgings, if they were fortunate enough to be on a train that was at town or hamlet at the time, the hour at which the engineers and firemen secretly agreed that all the trains should be stopped. The Pennsylvania and Erie roads are transporting the passengers of the Central Railroad on the Central tickets.

The Indians—Three Hundred Lodges, Captured, Disarmed and Dismounted.

CHEYENNE, Wyo., 23.—General Crook, being satisfied that Red Cloud and Red Leaf's bands of Sioux were about to depart with a view to joining the hostiles in the north, they having refused to comply with orders to surrender, the agency to receive rations, stubbornly remaining in their camp on Shadow Creek, from whence it is positively known that they are communicating with the northern Indians and receiving into their camp such as come in, he, without awaiting the arrival of General Miles' troops, determined on disarming them, and at daylight on the morning of the 22nd inst., General McKenzie, with eight companies of the Fourth Cavalry, one battalion of which was commanded by Maj. Gordon, and another by Capt. Mauck, successfully surrounded these two bands, consisting of 300 lodges, and captured the bucks, squaws, and ponies without firing a shot, and they were marched into the agency after having been disarmed and dismounted.

Spotted Tail, who has evinced an unwavering loyalty to the whites, was made head chief, and Red Cloud deposed; and Spotted Tail, with Little Wound, have agreed to furnish Crook with all the warriors he may require to co-operate with him in the coming campaign, which will be inaugurated at once. General Crook feels that a great object has been attained in his last movement, and that we shall now know our enemies from our friends.

Railroad Accident.

MIDDLETOWN, N. Y., 24.—Through some mistake in the running of the Centennial train, it divided into sections on the New York Midland Railroad last night, section three ran into number two, and the result was one passenger killed, six seriously wounded, and a number slightly. Fifteen hundred passengers were on the train, and all belonged to Madison and neighboring counties in New Jersey.

Troops Wanted for Louisiana.

CHICAGO, 24.—The Times' Washington special says Senator West has arrived from Louisiana, in company with Secretary Morrill and Secretary Chandler, having had an interview with Don Cameron. The object of the conference was the securing of an order for a large transfer of troops to Louisiana, as has been done in South Carolina. West thinks the State can be carried for Hayes if several thousand soldiers can be sent to that State to work with the deputy marshals in controlling the election. On West's representations, Chandler advised that a similar order be issued as had been sent to South Carolina. An early report of the outrages in Louisiana is expected, so as to form a basis for a proclamation and a transfer of troops. It is expected that the additional troops needed will be taken from Phil Sheridan's department. A similar formality will be observed in Mississippi as soon as this Louisiana matter is disposed of. The administration hopes by this use of the soldiers to carry three States of the South, and so make good the possible losses in the north.

GREAT BRITAIN.

War News—The Great Peace Question.

LONDON, 24.—In a semi-official statement the Post announces that the Porte accepts six weeks' armistice, suggesting a further prolongation of six weeks if the conclusion of the first six deliberations are not complete, and if at the end of twelve weeks no settlement is reached, that there be a further armistice of two months.

A Reuter telegram confirms this statement precisely, except as to the proposal for a prolongation of the armistice, which they say are made as conditions, not as suggestions.

The Post denies that Russia has sent an ultimatum. The Ottoman Government has not been summoned to subject its reforms to commissioners protected by an armed force.

Reuter's telegram from Constantinople announces that Gen. Ignatieff will have a positive audience with the Sultan to-day.

A Times' dispatch from Berlin says the Porte is ready to grant Russia's latest demands provided the integrity of the Ottoman empire is guaranteed.

A dispatch to the Standard from Djunis says there was no fighting on Sunday. The troops have advanced their headquarters five miles. The storming of the fortified mountain, over which the highway to Krushavatz runs, is still to be done.

The Standard's Belgrade correspondent represents that unparalleled distress prevails in both armies and throughout Serbia. Unless peace is speedily proclaimed the country will be utterly ruined. There is no suffering in Belgrade, but in the interior thousands of people are starving. The majority of the soldiers are wearing their summer linen uniforms, and have no blankets. There are 180,000 Bulgarian and Bosnian refugees in Serbia. The same correspondent reports that Russian diplomatists say Gen. Ignatieff has been instructed to inform the Sultan that Russia makes the English proposals here, with additional guarantees. If the Porte rejects the intervention will be begun simultaneously by Russia, Greece and Roumania.

A telegram from Vienna states that the intervention relative to the Eastern question which it is proposed to introduce in the Reichstag, is regarded in diplomatic circles as an error of judgment, as Austria's policy is still adhesion to the triple alliance.

A special to the Daily News from Pesth says that the Russian army if the Turks take Kuchevatz, Russia will make an armed intervention.

From Belgrade comes news that General Tcherniaeff has been ordered from Djunis and the road is open to Krushavatz.

Bullion Withdrawn—Stocks.

The amount of bullion withdrawn from the Bank of England on balance to-day is estimated at £678,000, new 5's, 105 1/2.

Great Excitement—Expected Renewal of the Bulgarian Atrocities.

A dispatch from Therapia announces that Baring, Secretary of the British Legation, is about to return from Philippolis, convinced that the commission for the punishment of the perpetrators of the Bulgarian atrocities is a mockery. The worst criminals are regarded as humane, and moderate men are in disgrace. The old panic is renewed, and most trustworthy gentlemen have been expelled with the greatest speed to Complaints to Inform the British Ambassador that the Turks threaten new massacres, and have even appointed a day for beginning the slaughter.

A Vienna dispatch says, not only from Constantinople, but from the provinces of European Turkey, is there now a growing excitement among the Mohammedans, of the conventicles held in mosques, and of armaments. The ministry is divided against itself, and the Sultan is too inexperienced to take the leadership, thus the position is most favorable for Russia's diplomatic action. Gen. Ignatieff, the Russian ambassador at Constantinople, may carry everything before him, or if he fails, may induce such an outbreak of Mohammedan feeling as might justify almost any step on the part of Russia.

Threatened Financial Crisis in Russia.

A dispatch from Berlin states that a financial crisis of a most serious character is threatening in Russia. The public besiege the banking offices to let Russian government and company stocks, but as a rule, offers are declined.

HUNGARY.

Hostility to Russia.

PESTH, 24.—There is intense excitement here and a strong hostility to Russia. If Russia begins war it will be difficult for Austria to preserve neutrality.

TURKEY.

Russia Agrees to a Prolonged Armistice.

CONSTANTINOPLE, 24.—It is stated that Russia has already indicated her willingness to agree to a six weeks' prolongation of the armistice. It is hoped an agreement will be reached on the basis of Turkey's acceptance of such armistice.
