

or scratching for something which does not exist, there is great probability that he is, or is becoming hydrophobic. He should be secured and confined without delay.

"V. In case any one is bitten by a dog whose condition is suspicious, the most effective and beneficial treatment is to cauterize the wound at once with a stick of silver nitrate, commonly called "lunar caustic." The stick of caustic should be sharpened to a pencil point, introduced quite to the bottom of the wound, and held in contact with every part of the wounded surface until it is thoroughly cauterized and insensible. This destroys the virus of the disease which would be communicated."

From recently declared facts pertaining to this dreadful disease, the New York Tribune deduces the following lessons—

"The poison from rabies must penetrate the system before its most serious effects can be elicited, and fortunately it is slow in making its way from the seat of injury to vital parts. Obviously the thing to do when bitten is to prevent the transmission of the virus into the system, and there is plenty of time to carry out measures for this purpose. In most cases a bandage can be immediately applied above the wound, which will temporarily obstruct the circulation. It is probable that sucking the wound would at once withdraw the poison; at all events the knife of the surgeon and the cautery offer absolute security. This view is corroborated by the observation that in most cases of hydrophobia, and notably in the one under consideration, the wound has not bled freely, a flow of blood being likely to wash away the poison.

"So that, after all, people who are timorous on the subject of hydrophobia may console their fears with the reflection that in the extremely improbable event of their being actually bitten by a dog that is really mad, a tightly bound handkerchief and the nearest apothecary shop can provide the means for promptly and completely eliminating all possibility of serious results."

POWDER RIVER ROUTE.—The Bozeman Avant Courier of July 3d says it has received private advices from Washington to the effect that President Grant has resolved to send out a commission without delay to effect the abrogation of the Sioux treaty of 1863, and cause a new one to be agreed to by which the old eastern Montana emigration route will be re-opened, and the abandoned forts thereon re-garrisoned. This is to be effected, though it should be necessary to resort to a military campaign in the accomplishment. Custer's Expedition to the Black Hills—now under way—is probably the initiatory step of the important movement.

RETURNED.—Mr. C. R. Savage returned this morning from his trip to the Shoshone Falls, in the Canyon of the Snake River, on the road to Walla Walla. He brings with him some splendid views of as beautiful scenery as the eye could desire to look upon.

ON THE BRINY DEEP.—A note from Elder Peter Sinclair, dated New York, July 8, says that he expected to leave that port at 3 p. m. of that day, on the State of Virginia, of the "State Line." Elders McKenzie and Nuttal expected to leave New York a week later, on the Idaho.

CHOIR EXCURSION.—The Tabernacle choir and a number of their friends take their annual excursion to-morrow, to Lake Side. We wish them a pleasant time, but there is not much doubt that they will, as Prof. Careless has a happy family of choristers.

WARM AT POCHE.—The Picche Record of July 11 says—

"Heated Term.—We are certainly passing through one. The thermometer at Capt. Carden's saloon, in Bullionville, registered 112 in the shade, and at Martino's, in the same place, marked 108. In Picoche the heat did not reach quite that point, but still it was warmer than the folks had any particular use for."

INFORMATION WANTED.—Prof. G. W. Linton, of San Pedro, Cal., wishes to correspond with Edwin Biles, who brought in a company of emigrants in 1869 or 1870. Mr. Linton will be in this city for a few days. The friends who are anxious to hear from the person named live in Louisville, Kentucky, and desired Prof. Linton to make inquiries concerning him as he passed through this City to California.

DROWNED.—Last night, about six o'clock, a little daughter of Wm. J. Silver, Esq., of this city, was found drowned in a small hole in the water sect, a short distance from his dwelling, at the corner of Peach and Centre streets, 19th Ward. The child was eighteen months old, and had been entrusted to the care of a sister, ten years old, who left the child for a short time to play, and a short time after the child was found dead as above.

"E. BROAD."

EMBOSSING PRESS.—Being determined to place the bookbinding department of this office in first-class condition, so as to meet the growing wants of a growing community in that line, we have placed in it an excellent embossing press. It is as good and substantial a piece of machinery of the kind as it is necessary to have in any establishment, and was manufactured by Brother William J. Silver, of this City. It can be run either by hand or steam power, and is capable of turning out a great amount of work, of any kind, from smallest size to crown octavo.

GIVING ORDERS.—The following was handed in to-day—

"This afternoon one of Uncle Sam's 'boys in blue,' full of the ardent, near the railroad depot, made himself very conspicuous by challenging the citizens as they passed by to halt, much to their annoyance. The writer of this was so called upon three times, but not being willing to be subject to the orders of a drunken soldier, made off out of the way, as being the wisest plan to prevent a collision, or perhaps one or both might have been hurt. Such reprehensible conduct should be frowned down."

PREPARATIONS.—The preparations for the Grand Juvenile Jubilee, to come off at the New Tabernacle on the Twenty-fourth, are progressing rapidly and are quite extensive in their character. There will be a grand centerpiece suspended from the ceiling of the huge building, the panels of the front of the gallery will be covered with appropriate mottoes, the supporting pillars will be garlanded with evergreens, while beautiful festoons will be suspended between them. Over the stand and around the organ will also be suitably decorated. Painters, carpenters and others are busily engaged in this work, and a number of ladies and little girls are aiding by making artificial flowers, under the tuition of a lady of experience in that line, weaving garlands, &c. When the decorations are completed and the thousands of beautiful little songsters are seated in the large building, one of the most lovely sights will be presented that ever greeted the human eye, and when the effect is heightened by the commingling of gentle voices, who with a spark of humanity and music in his soul could wish for an entertainment more heavenly and exalting in its character?

To prevent any likelihood of disorders in the exercises, Prof. C. J. Thomas, who has had the children of the city under training for a considerable time, went to Ogden, on Saturday, where he conducted a rehearsal of the children of that city, on Sunday, and during the week he proposed doing the same at Kayville, Farmington and Bountiful on his way back to the city. Next Sunday he goes to Provo, and calls at the principal settlements between that place and here on his way back, doing the same work south as north. By this means any differences of style, arising from variety of training in the singing exercises, will be avoided and a desirable uniformity attained.

In closing these few comments we are free to say that the labors of all who have interested themselves to make the jubilee a grand success have been most praiseworthy, and we do not know that the anniversary of the entry of the Pioneers of 1847 into this valley could be celebrated in a more desirable manner than in bringing together thousands of the children of the Latter-day Saints to unite their voices in songs of praise and thanksgiving.

We learn also that in various parts of the Territory too distant for the children living in them to participate in the grand affair of the Tabernacle, it is proposed to gather them together and have jubilees on the same day, and to sing the same songs. Thus will there be, throughout the length and breadth of the Territory, on the same day, one symphony of praise and harmony from the voices of the children of nearly the whole community.

FIRST EXHIBITION.—The first exhibition of the Deseret Horticultural Society will open to-morrow at 2 o'clock, at the 13th Ward Assembly Rooms, when specimens of fruit, flowers and vegetables will be displayed. There will also be novelties in the shape of miniature landscape work, etc. The exhibition will continue two days. Soda fountains, ice cream, etc., will be on the grounds, for the accommodation of visitors.

The exhibition has been got up and arranged by practical, working horticulturists, real producers, who should be encouraged by the public. The display is expected to be very fine, and will repay a visit, the price of admission being very low—25 cents, and one ticket admitting two children under twelve years of age.

THE WATER QUESTION.—The following petition of the people of the Eleventh Ward is passing around among them and receiving signatures. The question as to whether a military post can take away the water privileges of the people whose rights they should not only respect but, when necessary, protect them in the enjoyment of, is one that should be settled.

"SALT LAKE CITY,
July 10th, 1874.
"Honorable Sec. War of the U. S.,
Washington, D. C.:

"Sir—Your petitioners, the undersigned citizens of the Territory of Utah, and residents of the 11th Ward of Salt Lake City, in said Territory, represent the following facts for your consideration, and respectfully request your favorable action on the same:

"It is a part of the history of this Territory, therefore it is unnecessary to repeat the same at length in this petition, that irrigation is necessary to make the greater portion of the Territory possible to be inhabited, and particularly is this the case with the 11th Ward of this city.

"Said Ward has been settled and occupied for more than twenty-five years, and the citizens thereof, now about two hundred families, at great expense and immense labor, have redeemed the desert land and made it 'blossom as the rose,' by diverting the waters of what is known as Red Butte Creek from its natural channel. By these waters the gardens and trees of said Ward are kept alive, and the section of the country covered by it made habitable, by furnishing the families residing in the same with water for family and culinary purposes, as, from the peculiarity of the soil and locality of the Ward, wells cannot be dug and water fit for use be procured.

"Camp Douglas is situated at the mouth of the Canyon through which said stream flows, and above the same ward, and the Commander, for the past two or three years, has been diverting portions of the water from the ditch made by your petitioners, and, this year, almost all of said water, for the purpose of farming, artificial lakes and cultivating large bodies of land in and around said camp. That, this season, in consequence of the amount of land cultivated at Camp, nearly the entire water has been used for irrigating the same, leaving your petitioners' homes desolate, and, if this should continue, forcing the abandonment of many of them and their reversion to their original desert condition, there being no possible means of supplying said ward with water from any other source or stream.

"There is an abundance of water flowing in said stream to supply the Camp for all necessary purposes, such as irrigating grounds or plats in and around the square, to supply the stables and garrison for all necessary purposes, and to supply the Ward with what is absolutely required, provided the water be economically used at Camp, and all waste water returned to the ditch of your petitioners, from which it is taken, and not permitted to run to waste upon the barren prairie, as now. This season your petitioners are left without water, our gardens are parched and burned up, our trees are dying, and, as before stated, many of our homes will have to be abandoned if we do not get the use of the water, which we have spent so much time and money in procuring.

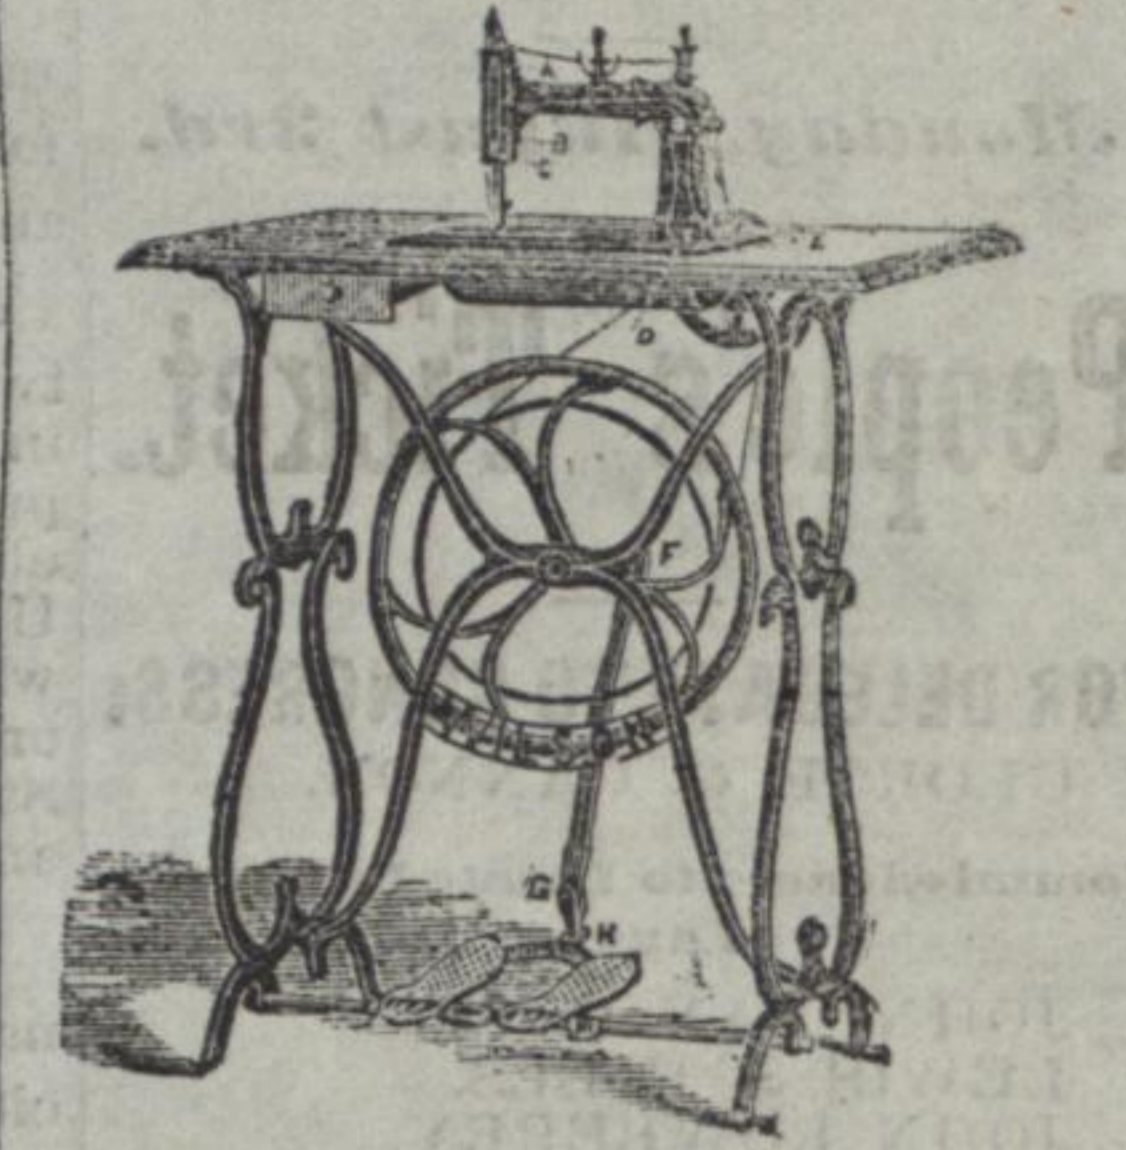

"In consideration of the above facts and many more reasons that might be given, we, your petitioners, respectfully pray your Honor to grant us relief, by directing the commander at Camp Douglas to abandon the cultivation at Camp, of any lands, and to use the waters aforesaid only for absolute garrison purposes, and that in as economical a manner as possible, with respect to absolute necessity, and return all surplus or waste water to your petitioners' ditch, or that the evils above complained of may be remedied in some manner, to be suggested by your Honor, and your petitioners will ever pray."
