The question was then asked as to titther Wyoming would not object to the diverting of the flood waters of the by river inasmuch as that state laid als to all waters within the state. hat Newell hardly thought such a thulty would arise, although if it did kaw no reason why it could not be micably adjusted.

MEAR LAKE AS A RESERVOIR. 1 C Wheelon, engineer of the Bear

her canal, was the next speaker. He will the feasibility of utilizing Bear like as a reservoir was a subject that hi been much discussed. The scheme, herer, was not looked upon with men favor by the people of Idaho, for a simple reason that they would not hearly as much bearly as much bearl bearly as much benefited as the peo-led Utah, owing to the lava-like for-Bules of the country to be traversed. In Wheelen advanced the thought that a smith & Henry forks of the Bear our would be of some advantage in be reservoiring of the lake. He advounias the most feasible scheme, howe, the building of a canal in order after the water from the take to the kaupon which it would be placed. In work would cost upwards of $175,bud would cost upwards of street would bring under cultivation sething like 275,000 acres, but whethells benefit would be worth the cost, are of possible waste through pertagen, was still a question.

FOR A GREAT NAVY. London Times Reviews Capt. Mahan's | Convention Being Held at Junction Plea for the Same.

London, Oct. 2.-The Times this morning reprints the chief passages in Capt. Mahan's article published in the United States and entitled, "Why we In an editorial on the article in question the Times says Capt. Mahan's argument is undoubtedly cogent and comprehensive and it affords much food for reflection. It touches not only the United States, but every naval and commercial power in the world, and opens out a prospect of universal naval expansion to which it seems hardly possible to set any assignable limit so long as the commercial expansion of one nation means the commercial excluone nation means the commercial exclusion of others. Yet this article, continues the Times, does not necessarily imply anything of the kind. Commerce ought to be a reconciling and consolidating force. No man wants to quarrel with his best customer, but every man is prone to quarrel with the neigh-bor who boycotts his wares. If these simple maxims of daily life were ac cepted in international commerce there might be some prospect of escape from the appalling, yet inevitable, burden which Capt. Mahan's logic tends to fasyet inevitable, burden ten upon the nations.

Episcopal Coadjutor Bishop.

Utica, Oct. 2 .- Charles Tylor Olmstead until recently the vicar of St. Agnes chapel, New York, was consecrated bishop coadjutor of the Episcopal church in the diocese of central New York, in Grace church, this city, today. Bishop Huntington of Syracuse by Bishop Potter of New York. Over 300 prominent clergymen from different sections of the country were in attendance. The church, which will seat 1,000 people comfortably, was crowded to the doors.

Two special trains were plac-ed at Reading and North Central rail-road stations last night, so that troops can be rushed to any colliery in North-umberland county in case mobs try to raid the mines.

Dickinson Has Not Resigned.

Omaha, Neb., Oct. 2 .- Edward Dicknson, general manager of the Union who, it was reported from Kansas City, had resigned to accept an official position with the Kansas City, Mexico & Orient railroad, is in the Black Hills and could not be seen. President Burt, however, denied that Mr. Dickinson had resigned and expressed the belief that he had no intention of leaving the service of the Union Pacific.

All Quiet in New Orleans.

New Orleans, Oct. 2 .- Beyond the discovery that a large number of wires had been cut in the upper part of the city during the night there were no early morning developments in the street car strike. There was, however, a feeling that negotiations between the comsome plan of arbitration during the day. No attempt to run cars or carry passengers had been made by the company up to 9:30 this morning.

Andrews Remains with Nebraska

Lincoln, Neb., Oct. 2.—Chancellor E. Benj. Andrews will remain at the head of the University of Nebraska at his original salary of $5,000 a year. Last summer, when it was reported Wisconsin had profered the presidency at Madison to Dr. Andrews, the Nebraska regents advanced his salary to $6,000. The chancellor has sent a letter to the regents declining to accept the increase giving as his reason his knowledge that economy is necessary in the manage-

(Special to the "News.") Ogden, Oct. 2.-The Weber county Republican convention convened here this morning in the dictrict courtroom for the purpose of nominating a county ticket, a state senator and four representatives. The gathering is excep-tionally large, so much so that the court room which has always been used on similar occasions, proved entirely too small, and the convention adjourned to the Grand opera house. The greatest enthusiasm is apparent among the delegates, but they are greatly divided as to the choice of nominees. It is expected that the hottest contest that has ever taken place in an Ogden con-vention will be on this afternoon when the nominations are made. The fight over the county clerk nomination seems

My experience leads me to believe that our secretary should not be a salaried officer, that he should be a man selected because of his ability and standing rather than one who is ambilious to receive compensation for his ser-vices. I think the executive committee should empower our president to appoint such assistant secre-taries as in his judgment are necessary and that the executive committee should authorize the opening of permanent headquarters at the home of the president of the organization. "There are many men willing and anxious to be identified with the best interests of the Republican party, men who are willing and auxious to keep closely in touch with the teachings of our party. Many of them have no present desire to hold office, but they like to attend the meetings of our committions to become personally acquainted with our public men, the men who are responsible for forming the policies of our party and government and to take home to their respective localities the enthusiasm and knowledge which they acquire by attending these various meetings. The league's mission is just beginning in this respect to be thoroughly understood and appreciated and I predict that its influence from this time forth will greatly and constantly

Mr. Baer and Mr. Mitchell have accepted. This was the only statement that could be obtained at the White House today regurding the conference which will be held tomorrow on the coal situation. Senator Quay of Pennsylvania was in conference with the president for an hour today and it is understood he came here at the request of the pres-ident to discuss the strike situation.

The senator and president were not interrupted and two cabinet officers who called did not see the president while the conference was in progress. Sen-ator Quay after he left the president would not discuss the situation nor express an opinion as to the probable effect of the coming conference

During the day Secy, Root, Atty .-Gen. Knox and Secy. Shaw were conference with the president, Secy. Wilson was at the White House for a short time but the three firstnamed remained with the president for nearly an hour. It is believed that the president discussed the conference to-morrow, the cabinet officers making a number of suggestions as to what the president should say to those who will participate in it. Other matters outside of the coal strike occupied the atten-tion of the members of the cabinet.

CASSATT UNDECIDED.

Third. Day of The Big Fair.

Interest Increased at Race Prospects This Afternoon-Those Who Wish to See the Exposition at Its Best Should Attend Soon-Tomorrow the Schools Will be Closed and the Crush Will be Heavy.

The third day of the state fair opened with promise of a good attendance which this afternoon was considerably which this afternoon was considerably smarted by these who came to add. with promise of a good attendance augmented by those who came to witness the good program that had been arranged by the horsemen on the half mile speeding track.

Despite the unpleasant wind that has prevailed during the past two days the management is decidedly pleased with the outlook so far. Every exhibit is now in place and all is in good running order. After tonight the more perishable displays will have lost their hue of freshness to an extent that will somewhat deter from the tout ensemble, as one of the officials remarked this morning. Those who desire to see the Tair at its best will accordingly go tonight, when under the blaze of the thousands of electric lights the sight is an inspiring one.

Tomorrow the school children will invade the fair grounds. Both the city and the county schools will be closed for the occasion and it is anticipated that the convention of youngsters will be one that will tax the capacity of the street car accommodation to successfully handle.

This afternoon the shows that have been provided for the entertainment of the visitors were decidedly popular, the bicyclists coming in for some applause for their daring feats.
The awarding committees in the live-

By 2 p. m. today it was estimated that there were 2,000 people on the grounds, with a steady stream coming in through the gates.

runs to quality and not quantity.

The booth of Elias Morris & Sons Co. is decidedly popular with the ladies, owing to the number of mirrors that form a part of the exhibit, Orietta, the mind reader, does some very startling feats at the free per-formance every half hour outside the booth on the Midway. The poultry show is decidedly light this year. There are no Belgian hares, but two pairs of ducks and a very light attendance of the various breeds of The sheep which operates the cream separator has arrived and is now put-ting in time on the treadmill, to the huge delight of the assembled populace.

One of the features of the fair is the solo by the Kentucky Nightingale which occupies a stall at the west end of the grounds. He gives a free exhibition in his studio every half hour. Prof. Thompson, the local wrestler, was down on the grounds this after noon for the purpose of making arrangements to meet the Turk on the big platform at 8 o'clock this evening. Anyone who has attended the fair this year cannot be otherwise than impressed with the improvement of the work now shown in the educational department over that displayed a few years Tomorrow is children's day. Saturday will also see a big crowd, as by that time the city will be full of con-ference visitors who will be decidedly

At noon tomorrow the school chorus competition will take place in the big tent on the grounds for the society's premium of diploma and $10. Unless there are more than one entry as at present is the case, the prize will undoubtedly go to the Jackson school chorus of children.

Essentially one of the busiest men on the grounds this week has been J. G. AcDonald, chairman of the amusement committee, even Secy. Sears this morn-ing was bewailing the fact that he had not the energy of McDonald, who runs the whole gamut from policeman and cettler of disputes up to a dignified patcon of Utah's industries.

The usual morning race round the track by President Empey's buggy horse and J. G. McDonald's Cleopatra, with J. G. at the lines, terminated at 11 o'clock in favor of Mr. Empey by a neck. Opposing Education Bill.

London, Oct. 2 .- Opposition to the government's education bill is becoming so serious throughout the country and has been so markedly shown at Birmingham the stronghold of the Chamberlain family, that Colonial Secretary Chamberlain has found it advisable to take the unusual step of call-ing a meeting of representative Liberal-ists, to be held at Birmingham, Oct. 9. at which Mr. Chamberlain himself will preside. The purpose of this meeting is to secure a full and frank exchange of opinion concerning the education bill
