

VIEW WITH CONCERN MOROCCO SITUATION

Sultan's Refusal to Accept French Proposals Regarded as a Rebuff to Great Britain.

FRANCE MAY JOIN CONFERENCE.

But Should She Not, Nor England, Very Serious Difficulty May Emerge.

London, June 2.—The situation over Morocco is viewed with no little concern in diplomatic circles here. Indirectly the sultan's refusal to accept the French proposals is regarded as a rebuff to Great Britain, but the Associated Press understands that, rather than risk further complications, France will be likely to join the other powers in a conference at Fez, and Great Britain will follow suit. Should France decline to enter the conference Great Britain likewise will decline, in which event serious difficulty may ensue.

Sir Henry Maclean, formerly of the British army and recently retired from the command of the sultan's body-guard, arrived in England tonight. In an interview with the Associated Press he said the sultan's action was quite natural. The sultan was quite willing to receive assistance from other powers in securing reforms and in the upbuilding of Morocco, but he would continue to decline to give any point in Morocco the direction of these reforms. Sir Henry declined to discuss the most recent developments or the attitude of Germany. He said, however, that the financial and economic conditions of Morocco were much better than Germany believed, and that the sultan was determined to maintain his independence.

IRRITATION IN FRANCE.

Paris, June 2.—Although official confirmation is withheld, it is now generally accepted here that the report from Tangier to the effect that the sultan of Morocco had declined the French propositions for the reform of Morocco unless approved by an international conference, was correct. This is widely commented on as amounting to a check if not a failure of the French mission sent to Fez, as well as a check to the entire French policy in Morocco. Only the absorbing attention given to King Alfonso presents a renewal of the storm of protest against Germany, as an international conference would be considered due to the influence of Count von Tattenbach, chief of the German mission to Fez, with the sultan. The French statesmen continue to rely on Great Britain, Italy and Spain refusing to join the proposed conference, which, with the refusal of France and Russia, and possibly the indifference of the United States, would leave the conference without any membership except Germany. However, it is recognized that even without an international conference the sultan's refusal to agree to the reforms proposed by France continues the old status quo, which France sought to terminate.

CHARLES MALATO.

Man Accused of Plot Against Alfonso Well Known Literary Man.

New York, June 2.—Charles Malato, who is accused by the French police of organizing a plot to assassinate King Alfonso of Spain and who has been arrested on this charge, is well known in political and literary circles, being the Times correspondent at Paris.

The prisoner belongs to an ancient and noble Neapolitan family. His grandfather, Count Malato, was commander-in-chief of the army of the last king of Naples. He had the rank

Pain Unbearable From Eczema

Cured by Five Bottles of
D. D. D. Prescription

Prominent Kansas City Druggist
Writes Grateful Letter.

D. D. D. Company,
Genl. Agents,
I want to thank you for the great benefit derived from your wonderful medicine, D. D. D. For years I was a constant sufferer from Eczema, and at times I thought my pain was more than I could bear. Being in the drug business I was in touch with many so-called Eczema cures, but not till I used your remedy did I see or feel the slightest benefit. After using less than a bottle I could see a most decided improvement in my condition, and was completely cured before I had consumed my fifth bottle. I believe your medicine is the greatest remedy in the world and I advise all sufferers from Eczema to give D. D. D. a trial.

EASILY PROVEN

There is Not the Slightest Necessity for Leaving Salt Lake City to Look for Proof.

The experience given below by this well known citizen of Salt Lake City is easily proven. The proof he offers for his conviction can safely be left with the reader. It is a difficult matter to describe an aching back or any of the ills caused by disordered kidneys. How to cure the trouble is of much more importance, and the most exacting resident of Salt Lake City cannot ask for any better authority on this point than that given by Mrs. Annie C. Poulsen of 1764 West South Temple Street, says: "The direct action of Doan's Kidney Pills upon the functions of the kidneys is so manifest and the results follow so quickly after a course of the treatment that the user cannot but come to this conclusion. The pills remedy acts as represented. I am too far along in years to ever expect a permanent cure from any medicine, but I can say with all honesty that Doan's Kidney Pills procured at the F. J. Hill Drug Company's store did me more good than all other remedies for the kidneys I ever used."

of field marshal and suppressed the popular insurrection against the dynasty of his father. The field marshal's son, Charles, father, took the side of the communists in Paris, and was banished for life to the penal settlement of New Caledonia where Charles was born.

After the general amnesty extended to the condemned anarchists and communists, Charles and his father, who is now over 90 years old, came to Paris. For a time Charles Malato collaborated with Henri Rochefort, but they disagreed on the Dreyfus case. Malato taking the side of the condemned captain. Socialist journals have since then received his articles, which are considered remarkable for their polished literary style.

A JAPANESE SENTRY.

The picture illustrates the careful preparation which made it possible for the Japanese to protect their sentries from the rigor of the past Manchurian winter. Sentry boxes were improvised from bunches of willow fagots, and extra warm clothing was provided. Thousands of most serviceable ear muffs made of ratskins were sent from Japan, and frost bitten ears have been rare in the Japanese army in consequence.

quence. Not long before the breaking out of the war a plague of rats occurred in the island kingdom. The government offered a small bounty for their extermination. It is not possible for the Japanese to suffer anything to escape being put to some use, and the skins of the troublesome rodents were converted into ear protectors.

OPERA IN A BOAT.

The Mississippi river boasts a floating theater capable of holding 1,000 people. Alongside the river towns occur every thirty or forty miles or less, giving ample time to steam from one to the other without missing a single performance. By the aid of a steam hoister it gives ample warning of its approach. The audience awaits it on the bank, and almost before the anchor is down everything is ready to begin. The opera boat, it is said, gives high class opera and thinks nothing of producing "Faust" in the middle of the Mississippi.

CHILDREN IN FRANCE.

Many thousands of children go to school in France every day without having had breakfast. In Paris the school canteens have proved a blessing. They buy food at wholesale rates and are thus able to supply luncheons of beans, vegetables and macaroni at 3 cents, which for those who can afford to pay, while the poor are fed gratuitously.

LOST BRITISH LAND.

Great Britain lost 145,000 acres between 1857 and 1880 by the encroachment of the sea and 29,135 acres between 1880 and 1899. A survey in the reign of Edward I. gave the duchy of Cornwall 1,600,000 acres, but the ordinance survey some years ago showed that this had been reduced to 829,500 acres. Villages have disappeared in the ocean, as in the case of Dunwich, of which nothing remains but a ruined church on the edge of a cliff.

LAKE MOHONK CONFERENCE.

Adopts Platform Setting Forth Achievements and Purposes of International Arbitration

WARS WILL BE ABOLISHED.

Ex-Ambassador A. D. White Mildly Reads the United States Senate A Lesson.

Lake Mohonk, N. Y., June 2.—A platform of principles setting forth the achievements and purposes of the international arbitration movement was adopted today by the conference on international arbitration. After referring to the increasing confidence commanded by The Hague convention among civilized nations, the platform says:

"The interests that contribute to the promotion of the cause are ever broadening. Those of the wage-earners are finding emphatic expression; commerce is keenly sensitive to disastrous interruptions by war, whether near or remote; the promoters of religion and philanthropy are alarmed at the hindrance of their work by every disturbance of international peace, and the sense of human brotherhood is increasingly felt and appreciated throughout the world. These signs of promise show that the long darkness of barbarism is passing away and that the bright day of universal peace is dawning indeed. We are highly gratified at the efforts of President Taft in promoting the cause of international peace and justice, and we rejoice in his call for a second conference at The Hague. We confidently expect that any questions of international law that are now vague or undetermined will there find wise solution. We also hope that the conference will frame a general treaty of arbitration that will more effectively meet the requirements of the situation than any special treaties yet proposed have done, and we will be gratified if the indefinite and elastic exceptions of matters of national honor and of 'vital interests' shall be substantially modified."

"We earnestly hope that if such a treaty is proposed the treaty-making authorities of our government will speedily effect its enactment for this country. We view the treaty now in force between the kingdoms of Denmark and the Netherlands as submitting their differences to arbitration as presenting the ideal toward which we are moving."

The evolution of the movement for universal peace clearly points to the early establishment of an international parliament, with at least advisory powers as a necessary adjunct to its fulfillment, and we renew our declaration of last year in reference to this. We feel that it is not now expedient for this conference to pass any judgment upon the plans of organization of such a parliament beyond the necessity for the representation of all civilized nations. We rejoice that some strength has been given to the cause of international arbitration by the fact that no country has ever yet repudiated an arbitral award. We believe that the decrees of the international court will be best enforced by the power of public sentiment and by the fear of the loss of their respect and the part of any nation against whom any award may be made.

"The formation of public opinion is an important means for the promotion of every good cause, and we desire to encourage all agencies that will further the interests of international arbitration. Especially do we commend awakening of the students of our universities and colleges in this important of the children in our schools."

Andrew D. White, who had been scheduled for one of the principal addresses of the conference and who was suddenly and unexpectedly detained, sent a letter in part as follows: "I would suggest the importance of steady work among publicists in developing lines of reasoning which may cause the senate of the United States to seek most earnestly some way out of the policy recently adopted by it—a policy which seems, in its present form, almost to render futile the whole arbitration system."

BITTER ROOT RESERVE.

President Issues Proclamation Modifying Former Proclamation.

Helena, Mont., June 2.—Gov. George Toole today received a copy of the proclamation of President Theodore Roosevelt, modifying a former proclamation creating the Bitter Root forest reserve in Montana and Idaho. The proclamation is dated at Washington, May 22, and it provides that lands in Montana which had been excluded from settlement, and which are there referred to the public domain, shall be open to settlement from the date mentioned, but shall not be subject to entry filing or selection until after 90 days' notice by such publication, as the secretary of the interior may prescribe. The president's action is based on the law approved June 4, 1897, authorizing him to reduce the area or change the lines of such reserves. The proclamation states that the change is made for what the president considers the public good.
