Complain Against Trainmaster.

The United Brotherhood of Railway Employes will present a petition to President Jeffery, of the Rio Grande lines, complaining against Trainmaster John Reed, of the Western, and alleging that men seeking employment on the Western whether they ar given work or not, are sent to Dr. Lindsay here for optical examination and sub-jected to an expense. If employment is given, the cost of the examination is taken out of the first month's salary, otherwise the men are out that much The doctor says he doesn't know any thing about the matter further than that the men are sent to him for ex-amination and the Rio Grande seems to have a higher standard of physical requirements than other roads.

A Significant Conference.

New York, Nov. 27.-According to the Journal of Commerce the object of the meeting of western railway presidents which has been called for Thursday, December 5, in this city, is to discuss the traffic and rate situations. Such a conference coming at the present time when the consolidation of the north western railroads has just been accom plished is regarded as quite significant and it has been suggested that this conference will discuss the union of rail road interests in the northwest. The situation will be thoroughly canvassed. but it is not thought likely that any result of action determined upon will be made public

Special Features at the Art Institute-

Attendance is Large.

A large number of people visited the Art Institute exhibition yesterday and last night, and admired the fine ar ray of art work displayed in the hall. Next to the pictures which won the awards, the chief objects of interest in he room were two superb canvassesforest scene by Hafen and an autumn scene by Harwood-before which ad-miring groups stood longest. The first shows a green mountain glade near Sil-ver Lake with the trees closing in the spot, yet giving hints of shadowy nooks opening beyond their clustering boles and giving a delicious suggestion of shade and coolness and quiet. Har-wood's autumn scene is a rarely beautiful painting. The leaves, the stream, and the indescribable autumn atmos phere, with its subtle shadings between the farther trees, seems an incompar-able piece of work both in its difficult detail and general effect. Miss Teasdel's group of paintings is another favorite one, and choice seems venly divided between her picture of 'Contentment" with its placid old ady with her knitting, and kitten nap ping at her feet, the twilight scene, with its haze, and yellow afterglow, and the miniatures, through which Miss Teas-del has won her chief honors. A pretdel has won her chief honors. A pret-ty incident is connected with the pic-ture of "Contentment." When the Institute purchased the painting, Miss Teasdel sent a portion of the money to the old woman who had posed for the subject. The little French fish-ing village where she resides is frequently visited by artists, and receiving the money, which sent anonymously, the old was lady immediately singled Miss Teasdel from the many for whom she had posed, as the one who had probably sent it. "I know it was that one, sent it." she said to a friend of Miss Teasdel's who was present in the village at the time, and it is something of a matter of pride, that a Utah girl should have oft so kindly a remembrance along the bath trodden by so many artists in their earch for art models in Europe's picuresque localities. Among the less pretentious pictures distinguished for their excellent work are two pieces of still life by Mrs. Allce M. Horne. One on the south wall shows a lobster, a bottle of pickles and a crock on a table, and the other is an overturned basket of peaches with one broken in half, showing the yellow tempting fruit inside.

The prize design for tiles, done by Mrs. Grace Y. Kerr, is the subject of much flattering comment. A lady who has studied at the school of design in New York stated that the work ranks with the best designs seen at the aca-There are many other special lemy. features which will be later mentioned.

Spence then favored the society with a beaufiful musical selection, after which, while waiting for President mith, who was to address the society President Annie Hyde gave an inter-esting account of her visit to Nauvoo, of the places and people of interest she saw while there, and showed pictures of many of the places well known to former residents of the historic city. A motion was made and carried to ad-journ the December meeting of the sc-clety, as the date of meeting would fall in the day before Christmas, and the month itself would be so busy a one to most of the members. Delicious refreshments were served, and afterward President Joseph F. Smith addressed the society, giving a graphic account of the difficulties encountered by the Pioneers in settling the valley, and developing it from a barren desert to a fertile and beautiful dwelling place. He congratulated the society upon its organization and alm and hoped that they would perpetuate in honor the memory of those who had redeemed the wilderness and made it possible for them to enjoy their present blessings. The society will meet next time at the home of Mrs. M. Y. Dougall on Jan. 24.

WASHINGTON MEMORIAL. Local Committee Sends $1,000 to Central Association.

The Utah committee of the George Mashington Memorial association met this morning at the home of Mrs. George A. Lowe and dispatched considerable business. There was a large attendance, and Mrs. C. E. Allen, the chairman of the committee, presided over the session. She first announced that the resignation of the secretary, Mrs. W. G. Sharp, had been received and accepted and that Mrs. E. F. Holmes has been appointed in her place. In the absence of Mrs. Holmes, Mrs. W. Dart was called to act as secretary pro tem. The secretary's report of the last meeting was read and approved and the Chairman read a flattering letter fom the president of the association, Mrs. Charlotte Everett Hopkins of Wash-ington. The latted congratulated the Utah committee upon the promptness and generosity with which it responded to the call for $1,000 that was made up on it by the Central assocration. She noted that Utah was the first and only state that had thus far responded. Cal-ifornia had recently sent in $15,000 and a gift of $2,500 had been received from Henry Phipps of Pittsburg, which swells the total sum of the subscriptions to $45,000.

Mrs. Allen also stated that the institute was fairly running with Dr. Dan-iel C. Gliman, formerly of Johns Hop-Dandict. kins university, at the head, and a number of students had been enrolled, After the reading of the letter the committee passed the following resolutions:

Resolved, That the Association of the Washington Memorial Institute in convention assembled take this opportunity to renew their expression of ap-proval and confidence in the work of the national association, and to express their apreciation of the personal fforts which have been so ably ed by the president, Mrs. Charlotte Everett Hopkins."

Mrs. Rachel Seigel reported being resent at the annual meeting at Washigton where the prominent men in educational and scientific circles took siderable interest in the proceedings The chairman then delivered her an-mual address which was listened to with marked interest. She referred feelingly to the death of two charter members, Mrs. Kate Sharp Wifliams and Mrs. Kate Davis Holden, Mrs. devoted much time to the new ational lines into which the sociation had launched and pointed out the great work that was contemplated in the future.

In reference to the magnificent build-ing that is to be crected in Washington, the chairman was pleased to state that its construction was now an assured fact
