

fire, returning to its original elements. It does not say there shall be no place found for the elements, but there shall be no place found for the organized world. Like ourselves, the organization of the mortal body will cease, it will be finally dissolved and the elements of which it is composed will be scattered in space; but that same God that controls the laws by which it exists now will in due time, and when he sees proper, speak to these elements, and by his Almighty power they will again come together, and be formed into a new earth, as is clearly portrayed in the 21st chap. of St. John's Revelations. The apostle not only saw the heaven and the earth pass away, but he saw "a new heaven and a new earth; for the first heaven and the first earth were passed away."

How do you suppose this new earth will be made? Do you suppose the Lord will go away into the immensity of space, and gather together new materials and command them to be organized? No, he will take the same materials, the elements which will have been dissolved by fire, and he will command them again to be reorganized, adapting the resurrected creation to the condition of the inhabitants that will occupy it. It will then be far more glorious than it will appear, during the thousand years of rest; it will then be reorganized by Almighty God in the most perfect form, so that it shall be capable of eternal and everlasting endurance, no more to be dissolved, no more to suffer from the action of the elements one upon the other, as has been the case with this earth, during its temporal existence. But it will continue to all eternity, and who are to inhabit it? The saints who have before lived upon it, during the seven thousand years of its temporal existence.

Have we any account to sustain us in this? Yes, for after John saw the new heaven and new earth, the next thing he tells us of is the population of the new earth. "And I John saw the holy city, new Jerusalem, coming down from God out of heaven, prepared as a bride adorned for her husband. And I heard a great voice out of heaven, saying, Behold, the tabernacle of God is with men, and he will dwell with them, and they shall be his people, and God himself shall be with them, and be their God. And God shall wipe away all tears from their eyes, and there shall be no more death, neither sorrow, nor crying, neither shall there be any more pain, for the former things are passed away."

The earth then will be made new, immortal, eternal in its nature; and holy beings that John saw come down in this holy city will be its inhabitants. No more death, no more sorrow, etc.; in other words, this earth, this creation, will become a heaven. The heavens that exist now are innumerable to man. God has from all eternity been organizing, redeeming and perfecting creations in the immensity of space; all of which, when they are sanctified by celestial law, and made new and eternal, become the abode of the faithful former inhabitants, who also become immortal, through and by celestial law. They are the mansions referred to by the Saviour—"In my Father's house are many mansions." In other words, we may say, in our Father's dominions are many mansions. They are not like mansions built by men, they are worlds of greater and lesser magnitude. The first grade are exalted, celestial bodies, from which celestial light will radiate through the immensity of space.

We are anxiously praying to dwell in the presence of God the Father, when we depart this life. Where will it be? He will dwell with man upon the earth. Will this confine him to this earth? No, not any more than the kings of the earth are confined to their palaces, or the city in which they may dwell. They have the right to visit the different portions of their dominions and even any parts of the earth. So will God our Eternal Father, when he selects this earth as a habitation, make it as one of his dwelling places, but he will have power to go from one celestial world to another, to visit the myriads of creations, as may seem to him good.

In thus referring to the changes that the earth must undergo we might ask, Are we living now so as to be prepared for all the dispensations of God's providence? Are we prepared to receive our inheritance upon this earth, when it shall be made eternal? If we keep the celestial law which God shall give to us; or in other words, if we are born first of the water by baptism, and then of the spirit by the baptism of fire and the Holy Ghost, and if we continue to walk in this spirit in newness of life, being new creatures before the Lord our God, and becoming sanctified by the celestial law, even the law of the Gospel, we will then be prepared to inherit this creation, when it shall be made new, and sanctified, and become immortal.

If we are not thus prepared, where shall we go? God is the author of many creations besides those that are celestial. He will prepare a creation just adapted to the condition of such people—those who are not sanctified by the Gospel in all its fullness, and who do not endure faithful to the end, will find themselves located upon one of the lower creations, where the glory of God will not be made manifest to the same extent. There they will be governed by laws adapted to their inferior capacity and to the condition which they will have plunged themselves in. They will not only suffer after this life, but will fail to receive glory and power and exaltation in the presence of God the Eternal Father; they will fail to receive an everlasting inheritance upon this earth, in its glorified and immortal state. Therefore how careful the Latter-day Saints should be in order to merit the association of the happy throng whom John heard singing that new song. We desire our inheritance on this earth as well as they. If they could rejoice in anticipation of receiving an inheritance on the earth, how much more can we who know comparatively nothing of the joys of heaven, when our globe will be glorified, a fit habitation for immortal, glorified beings. Let us keep the commandments of the Most High; let us so order our lives that we can have a claim upon the Father, looking forward to that period of time when these mortal bodies, which must slumber in the dust, will come forth from the grave, fashioned after the likeness of his most glorious body, to inherit the same glory with him. Amen.

DESTITUTION IN ST. LOUIS.—The following pitiful story is told by the St. Louis Republican—

"A couple of days since a female teacher in one of our district schools in the north-western portion of the city sent word to the parents of a boy complaining of his restlessness and inattention during school hours. The mother of the boy called at the school-room and stated that her boy had not eaten a mouthful of victuals on the morning of the day on which the complaint was made, nor a mouthful of supper the previous night. Furthermore, the woman made the rather remarkable and painful statement that two-thirds of the children in the school had scarcely anything to eat on account of the poverty of their parents, and were sent to school for the purpose of keeping warm, as in many cases the parents were not only destitute of food, but fuel to keep up a fire. It is stated that on these instances of destitution coming to light a meeting was held and a committee was appointed to solicit subscriptions for the relief of the destitute parents of the children."

AMERICAN AND AUSTRALIAN GIRLS.—I consider Australian girls some of the most beautiful in the world, not even excepting Americans. And nowhere will you find more beauty than during the season at Saratoga, Newport, or Long Branch (the latter place rather shoddy, no doubt), or in the late fall at four of the afternoon on the block between Madison and Union Squares. I really believe that Australian beauties are superior to American beauties in one respect; they show more like real, live, healthy flesh and blood. I am only judging of Victorians. I have heard that in New South Wales and Queensland ladies are thin, pale and indolent, as in India. But on the lawn, yesterday, there was beauty, youth, health, energy, vitality. An anatomist might have found the fault of their being often a little too fine drawn in the waist, but that, alas! is universal in civilized (?) countries.—Vagabond, in Melbourne (Australia) Argus.

ALL A MISTAKE.—Senator Christianity will have to rise to a personal explanation in the Senate. A paragraph has been going the rounds of the press for several weeks to the effect that his recent wedding lock has been blessed with an offspring. The sex of the child, the weight and even the name have been mentioned by painstaking and accurate paragraphers. The friends of Mr. and Mrs. Christianity are writing their congratulations; baby clothing is being sent with tender messages from all parts of the land, and gifts of the orthodox sort on such occasions are showering in upon the Christianity family. Now, Senator Christianity is an honest, sincere man; while he appreciates the thoughtfulness of his friends he feels that he is very undeserving of these kindnesses, and fears that when the truth is known he may be accused of securing these gifts under false pretences. Mrs. Christianity has no need of baby clothes, neither has Senator Christianity, nor have either of them need of toys and trifles of gold and silver, cups and spoons, that are being sent them. The fact is that they have been misrepresented before the public by a wicked and mendacious press. They have no baby at their house and have not had one. Senator Christianity's oldest child was born twelve years ago. The present Mrs. Christianity has never been a mother. They are very grateful for the kindness of their friends, but it's a delicate matter and if worst comes to worst and the newspapers keep up this talk the Senator will rise in his seat in the Senate Chamber some day and denounce the newspapers.—New York Graph.

Does Hog Raising Pay?

Does hog raising pay? Yes, and no. If managed on business principles, and without the purchase of much feed, it will yield a good profit. If carried on in the common way, or if mill-stuff has to be bought to any great extent, the pork will cost more to raise than it will fetch in the market.

Mr. M.H. Beardsley, of the Union Depot Hotel and the Beardsley House, has given this business a two years' trial. He has made it pay. On that open space of ground west of the C. P. ice-house he has erected a building 120x32 feet, divided into a number of pens. At the north end are receptacles for swill, a force pump, etc. On the west side are several yards fenced in, with troughs fixed for outdoor feeding.

Mr. Beardsley has now several hogs, of various ages. He has a fine thoroughbred Berkshire boar, seventeen months old, and last Saturday received a thoroughbred Poland China boar, five months old. They are as perfect specimens of the pig tribe as are seen in the engravings in the best stock journals. Twenty-three sows, from eight to twelve months old, are in a condition to increase the hog family, and seventeen more, about four months old, are in another yard; from these Mr. Beardsley intends to produce a cross from the Poland China boar. They are a mixture of Berkshire, Chester White and Suffolk; some of them are half bred Berkshires. Then there are thirty handsome little porkers, showing their fine breed in every movement, about five weeks old, running around the premises picking up ill considered trifles wherever they can find them.

They are all fed regularly on slops brought daily from the hotels, no mill feed being purchased, except for sows when suckling. At night, they are all comfortably penned up and protected from the weather. There are no long-nosed rail-splitters among them; all are in good order, show good points, and their flesh is firm as a board.

One man, John Robinson, spends his time in attending to this stock of pigs, and he keeps them and their pens in good style, knows every one of them, and when it first saw the light, with its pedigree and value. He is the champion piggy of the district.

Mr. Beardsley has killed ten fat hogs this winter, averaging about 480 pounds each. He has one more ready for the knife, which is nineteen months old, and will weigh about 500 pounds.

Next April Mr. Beardsley will have about 150 little pigs for sale, all warranted to be of good stock. He has kept a strict book account of his hog transactions, charging up all his expenses, and crediting at the price which he would have to pay for pork, and he finds that since September, 1874, when he commenced, he has cleared $1,100, besides his building and his stock!

The secret of his success, summarized, is: A good breed of hogs; little cost of feed; warm pens well ventilated; room to run; proper care and regular feeding; the whole thing systematized.

Those who want to know how the whole thing works, had better call upon Mr. Beardsley, and take a look at his hog-ranch.—Ogden Junction, Feb. 7.

Beaver Enterprise, Feb. 8—

We meet a good many persons in town affected with sore throats.

Stock are getting poor on the range.

The roads are improving rapidly and travel will soon be good.

Money is scarcer than we ever saw it.

A special passenger train will run from Beaver on the occasion of the appearance of Sothern on the Salt Lake stage.

If this presidential squabble continues, Southern Utah will have to join in the general cry of hard times.

As soon as our vignettes arrive from San Francisco, the Daily and Weekly Square-Dealer will be issued.

A number of the Beaver citizens paid their respects to Dr. Notson, of Fort Cameron, last evening, it being the occasion of his promotion to a majorship in the regular United States Army.

The attorneys, says the Salt Lake Herald, are signing a petition to have Judge Boreman re-appointed, and remarks that it is no use, as the decree has already gone forth against his Honor by the powers that be. We presume that we shall not be asked to sign the petition, and individually that is all there is of it, but in our public capacity, we express the hope that Boreman will not be re-appointed. If we knew whom to address, we would even now be writing on this very subject to the Utah Judiciary. We would be asking, in every issue of our paper, that suitable timber be selected out of which to make the Utah Judges. No more missionary jurists for us. As an individual, we of course have nothing against Jacob S. Boreman, but as a judge of the Second District we are opposed to his further occupancy of the Bench and hope to see him superseded by a sound lawyer of the democratic persuasion.
