SENATE.

WASHINGTON, 11.—A large number of bills on the calendar not objected to, passed.

Morrill introduced amendments to the sundry civil appropriation bill, appropriating $50,000 for a building for a national museum and $100,000 for a grand stairway and terrace on the west front of the capitol, referred.

The bill passed reauthorizing Kansas for repelling Indian invasions.

The Senate considered the amendment increasing the appropriation for the mouth of Red River from $50,000 to $100,000, was agreed to. The other amendments of the committee on appropriations were agreed to, appropriating $50,000 for the improvement of the Missouri river at St. Louis, and $100,000 for the improvement of White River, Arkansas.

Morrill submitted an amendment modifying the last clause of the first section so that the Secretary of War is directed to apply all monies appropriated by the congress to the purchase of land for the lowest bidder who furnishes satisfactory securities.

Burnside moved to substitute a commission of three Senators, four Representatives and three army engineers to examine, estimate and report to the next Congress upon the gorges and crevasses in the Mississippi River. He said the present plan would result in injury to the country and produce conservation.

It was submitted as an amendment providing that all work undertaken must be approved by the committee.

Agreed to.

Burnside's substitute was agreed to—35 to 19.

The understanding was about this that Darrell was to be appointed collector and was to become responsible for the delivery of the Sherman letter, when that was done Anderson had written assurances from Sherman and Stoughton, and Matthews knew it, and therefore he would not have presented to witness that he had done anything improper in the interview.

A letter was here read from Darrell to Anderson, March 17, 1878,
