

NEWS OF THE WEST.

Terrible Accident to a Girl While Making a Balloon Ascent.

A BOATING PARTY DROWNED.

An Anti-Catholic Agitation Minister—An Immense Mountain Lion Killed.

Tulare, Cal., reports to have a Chertsey that will follow the water products of the vineyards.

Lizzie Nichols, aged ten years, was fatally burned at Ash Park, A. T., a few days ago, her clothes igniting from a lantern around which she was playing.

Miss Grace Patton, of the Colorado Agricultural college in a written notice of pleasant personal acquaintance of the Colorado Agricultural college, which are being published in the Fort Collins Courier.

Presno, Cal., has had a population of 12,000, has had thirteen murders in three years, eight suicides and two assassinations. Not one of the murders has been hanged and the assassinations have escaped with nominal terms in prison.

An irrigation district is to be formed to furnish water for the San Fernando and Calhoun districts in Los Angeles county. Only the best of water can be delivered, the district will at the latter end, which in many respects is one of the most favored in Southern California.

The largest orange yield yet recorded at Valencia, Cal., is that of E. J. Hume's seventeen year old trees. He got last week thirty-five boxes from two trees, and has this far sold and shipped 1200 boxes of fruit. The six acres on his place are estimated to yield 2500 boxes of oranges this year.

San Francisco is again agitating the question of a new charter for that city. It has been tried twice within ten or twelve years, and the people have seen it rejected. The present proposition is, it is probable, however, the California Journal claims that, that it is a third attempt to amend it.

A phrenology party, consisting of Henry Henshaw, his twelve-year-old son, George Henshaw and his wife, started out from Bay View, California, on Monday morning to enjoy a day's outing. A few hours later word of them were swimming beneath the waters of the bay, and the other, Mrs. Henshaw, accompanied with her life to the nearest shore.

Those who have canvassed the state say that in Nebraska about 170,000 sheep were on feed for market this spring. In point of quality, Nebraska sheep do not compare with last year, and eighty-five per cent of the sheep weigh less than 100 pounds. Nebraska men are well satisfied with present prices, and most of them believe that the values will be much higher in April and May.

The Denver News says: "About two months ago T. E. Adams, who has gained some notoriety as an anti-Catholic agitator, left his home at Twenty-fourth and Oak streets, and with a wife and a number of other persons, including four, he has not been returned, nor yet has he been filling his business engagements, and those who have known the agitator, in a sensational manner suggesting that he has been a victim of foul play."

At Chandler's ranch in Adams County, he had been troubled at night with coyotes, which came around the house and carried off everything that was left to eat, and determined to lay for them. He loaded a gun with buckshot, and when one of the supposed coyotes came within range, he fired, and the bullet struck the animal in the head, and he was killed. The animal was found by the ranchman, and he was found to be a mountain lion.
