MEDICAL SOCIETY'S REQUEST

Michigan Concerning It.

Nays It is Neither Original nor Consists ent-Some Statistics on Vaccination -Is Vaccination a Delusion ?

Special Correspondence,

Battle Creek, Michigan, October 21, 1906.—The question considered by the Ufah State Medical Society at its last session is one for serious consideration not alone for the medical profession but for every citizen of the State of Utah, This society petitioned the State legislature to pass a compulsory vaccination law. Is this law one that will result in good to the peaple or does the medical reciety ask for it in their own behalf?

That the operation which this society asks the legislature to compel all citizens to submit to is not a harmless one is shown by the reports of the registrargeneral for England and Wales, which has startled the world by its marvel-ous cures. The furor of enthusiasm over it has boomed their business, as the demand for it is immense. They effects of vaccination." This is not the show that during the eighteen years, istered as due to "cow-pox and other effects of vaccination." This is not the only objection to forcing such a measure upon the people, but as long as word comes from the medical society that vaccination is the only known pre-ventive of smallpox there will be no great effort made to carry out the necessary sanitary measures. The sanitary laws are probably as well observed in Utah as in any other State, but any. ne who has given the question a hought knows that great improvements

On first reading the statement, "It s the unanimous opinion of this, the Utah State Medical Society, that vacination is the only known preventive f smallpox," I thought the idea was iginal with the members of that so-Jenner Society of England, a year or two ago, stated this fallacy in almost he same words. Here are their words: The only trustworthy protection at oresent known against smallpox, alike for the individual and the community, is efficient vaccination in infancy and subsequent revaccination." These two bodies take it upon themselves to speak for the whole scientific world, but there is a large per cent of medical practi-tioners in Utah and through-out the world who know the statement to be false. Those members of the profession who have studied the causes of disease know that disease is the result of violating natural laws and by obedience to these it may be avoided. This is such a self-evident fact that it ought to require no discussion. To show that this opinion is held by the better part of the medical profession I quote from one of its emwake up tomorrow clean—as I shall de-fine that term—she would wake up pure also in spirit and Godly in the comprehensiveness of goodness. Cleanliness covers the whole field of sanitary la-Practiced in its entirety it would banish all disease from the world." Transactions of the Sanitary Institute, Vol. 4, p. 255. We cannot hope for such a condition. It cannot be brought about at once but there is intelligence enough among the people to labor in that diection in spite of any measures to the ontrary that the medical society may

The only thing they say in favor of vaccination ary condition of the place generally. It is unclean, and unless some action is taken to clean privy vaults and remove all garbage, the chy will, next season, be in excellent shape for cholera, or any other equally contagious disease." The secretary of the citizens committee (Mr. Michaels) appointed to inquire into the epidemic, said: "The linquire into the epidemic, said: "The feetly satisfied from my mind being un streets and lanes are in a disgraceful condition. Not only in the distant por-tions of the city, but within the most aristocratic quarters and in the heart of the commercial portion, the lanes and even portions of the streets, are ceking with filth." A Century of Vaccination and What it Teachers, by W. Scott Tebb, M. A., M. D., (Cantab), D.

The false Franco-Prussian war smallpox vaccination statistics have done effective service for the advocates of vaccination. In 1883 Dr. W. B. Car-penter refers to the question thus: In hand vaccination is not compulsory, and is-vaccination is not enforced on army recruits. During the Franco-German war of 1870-71 the total number of deaths from smullpak in the German army was 253, while in the French army army was 253, while in the French army it was 23,469 or very nearly ninety times as great." But Dr. Carpenter found that the statement he had made was incorrect and most honorably retracted it in the Daily News of August 7, 1882. He says: "I requested Earl Granville that my articly the local plant information he could on be a say information he could on the local plant." to obtain what information he could on this point, and after considerable delay, I have received through Colonel Camer-Paris) an explicit statement that the the physicians an opportunity

New York, Oct. 25 .- Officials of the idministration, says a Washington pscial to the Herald, decline to discuss the reported desatisfaction among inhabitants of the Danish West Indies over the proposed sule of the islands to the United States, taking the ground that no official information has been received on the subject, It is understood, though, that the island press reflects the true sentiments of the people of the islands. Secretary Seward's treaty negotiated during Johnson's administration asked for an expression of opinion by the inhabitants and they voted by an overwhelming majority in favor of transfer to the United States.
