MILLION DOLLAR SUGAR FACTORY

Utah Capitalists Plan Gigantic Reclamation Enterprise in Montana.

INDIANS TO GROW BEETS.

On Fort Belknap Reservation—10,000 Acres of Fine Land Leased for Ten Years—Other News.

Ogden, Jan. 10.—A gigantic enterprise will soon be launched by Ogden capitalists, involving the building of a $1,000,000 sugar factory on the borders of the Fort Belknap Indian reservation near the town of Harlem, in northern Montana.

After three years' investigation and negotiation, aided by a special act of Congress, a contract for a lease was signed yesterday in this city by Judge H. H. Rolapp, David Eccles and M. S. Browning, parties of the second part, in which the parties of the first part are the government and William R. Logan, superintendent in charge of the Fort Belknap reservation, in Montana.

The agreement, which is a lease of 10,000 acres of tribal lands in the Fort Belknap reservation, for a period of ten years, involves the outfit of $1,000,000 on a sugar plant immediately outside of the reservation, the construction of a three-mile railroad line and the inauguration of a system of irrigation starting from the Milk river, a stream that runs through the Indians' land and to the water of which they have prior claims.

The educational value of the project cannot be estimated until after a thorough test has been made, but it is a splendid chance for 1,400 healthy Indians.

The 10,000 acres of land to be used in the growing of beets lie in a very fertile valley within the Indian reservation, immediately joining the town of Harlem on the south. The country is well watered by Mill creek, the Indians holding prior water rights there.

The soil is exceedingly rich and naturally most prolific. Small patches of sugar beets have been raised there during the last few years and the test of the product as to saccharine quality is highly satisfactory.

Harlem is situated in Choteau county just outside the reservation and is within three miles of the Northern Pacific railroad. A spur of the big railroad will be built to a point near Harlem for the accommodation of the factory, which will place the industry in immediate touch with the balance of the commercial world.

One provision of the contract is that 5,000 acres of these lands that have been leased must be planted to beets each and every year, during the contract time, while the other 5,000 acres must be used for other crops.

This provision is made for the purpose of having a rotation of crops for the benefit of the lands. The spirit of the lease all the way through is to advance and protect the interests of the Indians and furnish them an incentive to work and become versed in agricultural pursuits.

The general plan of the entire project is that the Indians shall perform the labor of raising the beets needed for the factory, and that the company building and operating the factory shall not profit by the enterprise, neither shall they lose in the operation, the sole object being to advance the better interests of the Indians, and teach them to work for the same wages as white men work for.

The project is being operated under the commendation and hearty approval of the secretary of the interior. Much credit is due to David Eccles, Henry H. Rolapp and Matthew S. Browning of Ogden, for their efforts in promoting and conducting to a successful issue this big enterprise.

FUNERAL OF JOSEPH E. TAYLOR. The Mount Fort ward meetinghouse was filled yesterday afternoon with sorrowing relatives and sympathizing friends who assembled to pay a tribute of respect to the memory of Joseph E. Taylor, the 17-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Taylor, the second of their children to be called from mortality within the past two weeks.

SMALLPOX AT HOOPER.

People Worried Over Spread of Contagion. Ogden, Jan. 10.—The people of Ogden are greatly worried over the spread of smallpox in the town, as at present time there are over a dozen homes in the village stricken with the disease. It is about 10 days since Mrs. Joseph Manning died at that place of the disease, and it was not until after her death that those who had been attending her knew she had been suffering from smallpox, hence unfortunately a number of the neighbors and friends were exposed. County Physician Gordon has been called upon to assist in placing a strict quarantine on the afflicted families and to give his opinion on the disease.

PAROWAN.

CITIZEN IN SERIOUS TROUBLE. Joseph A. Warren Held in California For Killing in Self Defense. Special Correspondence. Parowan, Iron Co., Jan. 8.—The holidays passed off very quietly here, the main diversion consisted of dancing and social gatherings. The most exciting event was a foot race between Morgan Adams, the champion pole vaulter and all round athlete, and Morton Mickelson, a Provo student, whose home is at Sanford, Colo. The race was made on a wager of $50, distance, 100 yards. The race was won by Mickelson by 10 feet.

Both Owe Complete Recovery to CUTICURA. "In 1884 my grandson, a babe, had an attack of eczema, and after the doctors to the extent of heavy bills and an incision of the disease and suffering, I recommended CUTICURA and in a few weeks the child was well. He is today a strong man and absolutely free from the disease. A few years ago I contracted eczema, and became an intense sufferer. A whole winter passed without once having on shoes, my ankles and nearly from the knees to the toes being covered with virulent sores. I tried practitioners, specialists, dermatologists, in vain. My daughter-in-law reminded me of having prescribed CUTICURA for my grandson more than twenty years ago. I at once procured the CUTICURA and found it cured me immediately, though well along in years. I am as though I had never had that disease. I am well known in the vicinity of Louisville and Cincinnati, and all this could be verified by witnesses. M. W. MORGAN.

DEATH OF BP. ELI WHITEAR. Esteemed Pioneer of Morgan County Closes Brilliant Career at 81. Special Correspondence. Morgan City, Morgan Co., Jan. 8.—Eli Whitear, one of Morgan county's most respected and oldest pioneers, was summoned by death on Jan. 8, after an illness of but a few days. He was born in Preston, Conover, England, April 25, 1827, embraced the gospel at Liverpool in 1854, and came to Utah soon after. He made his home at first at Farmington, Davis Co., and later came to Morgan Co.; was bishop in Milton ward a number of years. He was a great lover of music, for which he had great talent, laboring for its advancement until the last few years of his life. Organized the first brass band and choir in Farmington also in Morgan City, and in a number of smaller settlements. He had two wives, 14 children, 42 grandchildren and 1 great-grandchild survive him, grieving the loss of a kind husband and a long father, an honest and respected citizen and faithful Latter-day Saint. He was correspondent for the "News" for many years. His funeral was held Sunday, Jan. 5, in the state house at Morgan, which was filled to its capacity with friends of deceased. Music was furnished by Morgan choir and brass band, and a solo, "O Come Where is Thy Victory" was sung by Albert Garrison. The speakers were: Elders Lyman Meacham, Thos. Welch, Bishop Edwin Parker of Hooper, Bishop Charles Turner, Bishop Ezra Parrish, Mrs. Welch of the stake Relief society, and President Hiner, all spoke in highest terms of deceased. Band selection, "Stock of Ages," followed by the choir singing, "Ye simple souls." Interment was at the Milton cemetery.
