BREVITIES.

Scotch plaids are now manufactured in this country.

Ohio claims to have 172 woolen mills within her borders.

St. Louis is organizing a buffalo hunt to the Rocky Mountains.

Cats and calves are stung to death by mosquitoes in New Jersey.

A beet sugar manufacturing company on a large scale is being formed in London.

A man at Liege dressed himself as a girl and went out to service to avoid conscription.

One hundred and sixty-one murders were committed in Tennessee, during the year ending July 1.

They are going to try a preparation of petroleum in France to fire cannon with instead of powder.

It takes 12,000 tons of coal a year to run the glass factories on the line of the West Jersey Railroad.

The southeast Missouri contains sufficient plumbago to supply the demands of the whole world to the end of time.

Elas Sudduth, of Harrison county, O., who is one hundred and eighty years old, reads without spectacles, and chops his own firewood.

The Duke of Ratsbon, one of the wealthiest Prussian aristocrats, recently killed his only son while showing him how to load a rifle.

In England, a pension of $1000 a year has been conferred on Lady Brewster, in consideration of the scientific labors of her distinguished husband.

Thurion Weed reports Catlin, the American artist, whose gallery of Indian portraits attracted so much attention thirty years ago, residing at Brussels, and passing his old age in poverty.

At Northfield, Vt.; a pure white swallow can be seen flying over that village any evening, with a large flock of his colored friends.

The Viceroy of Egypt is declared to be a confirmed sot. Three pints of Cognac are mentioned as a part of his daily allowance.

The remains of nearly two thousand persons have been removed from St. Andrew's church-yard, London, and reinterred at Ilford Cemetery, to make way for a new viaduct.

It is said that the authorities of the Jewish (Liberal) Church have been considering the question of changing the holy day from the Jewish Sabbath to the first day of the week. The question has long been discussed among philosophical Jews.

Dairymen should know that to get the most cream, milk ought to be cooled as quickly as possible after it leaves the cow. When it is poured upon coils of pipe cooled by ice water, the cream rises in three hours, and the quantity is nearly double.

The other evening, as some of the Caledonians—fresh from the Scotch games—were passing up Wisconsin street, Milwaukee, in their Scotch costumes, "kilts" and "tartans," a Teuton, who perhaps had been partaking freely of lager, observed them intently for a moment, when he suddenly exclaimed: "Mein Gott, all de tobacco signs ish broke loose!"

Life does not consist altogether in pushing. That is good, efficient, excellent, splendid; but it is not all. We have to pull. Nothing goes steadily on; even love, the pleasantest of human emotions, is not a road of roses. When you can't push, pull; when you can't pull, push. Having a hand at one or the other, you are sure to eventuate in progress. Push, after that, pull; after that, again push. The two tell—and tell well.

Work has commenced on the Honduras Inter-oceanic Railway, which will connect the waters of the Gulf of Mexico with the Pacific Ocean. It is to be completed in three years. The distance across is one hundred and forty-eight miles, and will shorten the distance between New York and San Francisco twelve hundred miles, compared with the Panama route, and six hundred miles as compared with the Nicaragua.

King Victor Emanuel lately had a narrow escape while shooting in the mountains at Valderi. When in pursuit of a chamois, and at the moment he was surmounting a rock, a portion of the latter gave way, and his Majesty would have fallen over a precipice. His Majesty took off his hat to the peasant, and on the spot handed him 1,000 scudi. He has since then settled a pension on him for life.

In one of our telegraph offices, recently, was received a message for Peter Coughlin, from his sweetheart, Margaret Flaherty, inviting him to spend Sunday with her. Of course, the telegram was duly sent to his address. The evening a forlorn-looking object entered the office, and going to the operator, said:

"Please, sir, I want to send a message."

"Well, sir, here is paper—write it down."

"Indeed, sir, I can't write."

The operator, who was a brisk little man, said:

"Come to the desk, and tell me what you want to send."

He came slowly, and gave the address, Margaret Flaherty, etc., then, in a sepulchral tone, hitching nearer the machine, he said, "I'm married, and to my grief!"

If the wires didn't laugh, the operators did, as the message sped swiftly from station to station. No two-volume novel, with convoluted miseries long drawn out, could have portrayed more heartrending grief than Peter's telegram.
