mittee is of the opinion that it would be in the interest of economy to remove its publication from the government printing office and give the contract to Franklin Rivers.

The report describes the book-keeping to have been of so loose a character as to be entirely usreliable, and says that the congressional printes demonstrated fully to the unite of the committee his utter disqualification for the proper discharge of his duties, and that his end duties and that his ern district of Illinois, that when office is represented as worse, if the internal management comprises the leading of machinery and material to private parties, the empleyment of men on account of political includes and no duties to perform, that this official position was a mere aine of men on account of political includes and no duties to perform, that this official position was a mere aine of men on account of political includes a proposition of Sidney by the committee of the Union Pacific Railroad company, to retain a day like this morning, Escobeds daylight this morning, Escobed daylight this morning, Escobed daylight this morning, Escobed daylight this morning f lending of machinery and material to private parties, the employment of men on account of political influence, who were totally unfit to earn their wages, payment of employees while absent at elections, selling of Records and documents on credit in violation of the law, execution of work for private parties, forcing of balances and falsification of accounts. In conclusion the commissioner expresses his opinion that the work at the government printing office costs half a million dollars a year more than it would cost if done by responsible private parties, under a proper contract system, and that it would be wise to take immediate steps for the discontinuance of the office.

The commissioner also recommended that the proposition of Franklin Rivers, of May 2, 1876, for printing and binding the debates of Congress, he accepted, and a contract entered into to take effect at the beginning of next session, and that the printing and binding of the departments shall be under the control of the heads of those departments, and shall be executed under contract.
