The company will appear at the Theatre this evening, and on Wednesday and Thursday. They leave on Friday for the West.

LOCAL NEWS.

Theatre To-Night—Messrs. Maubury and Overton, with Miss Marie Prescott and their talented company, arrived in town this morning, all well, and will appear to-night in the famous London and New York success, "The Wages of Sin." Of this beautiful melodrama the New York Sunday Truth of May 18th, says: "The 'Wages of Sin' has attracted very large and enthusiastic audiences at the Fourteenth Street Theatre during the past week. The piece has made a record, and promises to run for several weeks to large business. It is one of the strongest plays put on the New York stage in years, and will, undoubtedly, make a great deal of money for its management."

THE GRAND JURY IMpaneled.

JUDGE ZANE CHARGES THEM.

The work of impaneling a grand jury for the April term was continued in the Third District Court this morning. L. J. Rath and J. L. Dickinson believed polygamy was wrong, and were accepted.

Robt. V. Turnbow was excused because he believed the laws of God were superior to those of man, and that the law concerning plural marriage was a divine command.

Wm. Grimsdell, Jr., did not know whether his father had obtained his final papers or not. Excused.

Julius Lovendahl was excused for a similar reason.

B. S. Young was the son of Brigham Young, and grandson of the late President of the United States. He believed it was not contrary to the laws of man. The revelation on celestial marriage he thought to be of divine origin. In a conflict, thought, he would obey the law of man, but that a revelation from God, which he believed to be a revelation from the law of God, would not be averse to punishing a breach of the law, but would not be as eager as for other offenses.

Louis Conn believed polygamy was wrong, and was accepted.

Jas. H. Poulton was excused on account of his belief in plural marriage.

Enoch F. Martin did not believe in polygamy. Passed.

Allen E. Stout, who resided outside of the Third Judicial District, was excused.

Isaac Jennings did not believe in polygamy. Had never seen any revelation given, and didn't think there was any. He believed that God had believed the revelation on plural marriage was true or not. If the Church received a revelation commanding the extermination of its enemies, he would not accept it. The revelation enjoining polygamy might be true, but he believed that a man justified in obeying it contrary to the law of man. Believed polygamy wrong. Was a member of the Church, but held no office in it. Would impart to the grand jury any information he had, or any suspicion he entertained of breaches of the Edmunds law; was as much in sympathy with the enforcement of that law as any other law would furnish the names of witnesses, if he knew of any, no matter who was the offender. Would keep the proceedings of the grand jury. Did not believe it proper to allow any counsel. Would not be influenced by counsel from the authorities of the Church to shield any one. Passed.

Lorenzo D. Young believed polygamy was wrong, and was accepted.

A. L. Harding was not a believer in polygamy, and was accepted.

John A. Blythe did not believe in polygamy. Thought it was immoral. Rejected the revelation commanding it as spurious; was in sympathy with some part of the prosecutions under the anti-polygamy law. Since the constitutionality of the Edmunds law had been affirmed by the Supreme Court, he would punish for polygamy and excommunication those entering into plural marriage before 1882, but not before 1882. Excused.

James Dwyer had never seen his father's naturalization papers, and was excused.

M. H. Lipman did not believe in polygamy, and passed.

The completed the panel, which is as follows:

47 George Barton, 65 Enoch F. Martin, 127 Chas. E. Smith, 128 W. P. Noble, 129 J. K. Gifford, 130 Thos. C. Hall, 131 Stephen Reed, 132 Isaac Jennings, 133 J. L. Dickinson, 134 A. L. Harding, 135 Louis Conn, 136 M. H. Lipman.

Charles F. Mitchell was appointed foreman of the jury, and the Clerk administered the oath.

Judge Zane then gave his charge to the jury as it appears in full in another column.

The prosecuting attorney stated that he would have no business to present before the grand jury until 10 a. m. to-morrow, until which hour they were excused.

COURT SETTINGS.

CRIMINAL CALENDAR.

There was a large attendance of the members of the bar at court this morning, when Judge Zane made the following settings for the present term:

April 22.

People, etc., vs. John R. Gillespie, grand larceny; two cases.

April 23.

People, etc., vs. John Bybee, assault with a deadly weapon.

People, etc., vs. James Sherlock and George Rosenheim, embezzlement.

April 24.

People, etc., vs. Wm. Tanner, abducting a child.

People, etc., vs. Henry Dalton, grand larceny.

SABBATH SCHOOL REVIEWS.

The Fourteenth Ward Sunday School completed its review last evening, the first part of which was given two weeks previous. The exercises, which consisted principally of class examinations upon work actually done during the year, passed off smoothly and were an unqualified success. One of the most interesting features was a short lecture upon the Book of Mormon, illustrated by a map, showing the different routes supposed to have been taken by the various colonies that came to America and their descendants, as described in that book.

The exercises of the theological class were particularly interesting, being short and concise, and embracing many arguments and passages of Scripture in support of the first principles of the Gospel. An essay on the new Testament by Miss Woodmansee was a most pleasing and instructive exercise. After the programme was finished the school was addressed by Brothers George Goddard, Wm. Willis and T. E. Taylor, who commended both teachers and pupils for the degree of proficiency at which the classes had arrived. The former remarked that he had never attended a Sunday school review at which there was so much said and done in so short a time.

The annual review of the 12th Ward Sabbath School also took place last evening, on which occasion the meeting house was filled to its utmost capacity, with the parents and friends of the pupils, who enjoyed the exercises very much.

The programme consisted of twenty-two numbers all of which were rendered in less than two hours, showing the remarkable precision and dispatch with which they were conducted. While one class, having finished its review, was retiring in an orderly manner from the stage, another was on its way to replace it, thus saving time and avoiding much confusion.

After the exercises, Supt. Williams expressed his thanks to all who had assisted in any way to make the affair a success, and warmly encouraged the teachers and pupils. He was much gratified with the showing the classes had made. Bishop Clawson, in a short and feeling address, said he was much pleased with the exercises, which indicated great care and labor on the part of both pupils and teachers in preparing them. He referred to the singing and the promptness of the pupils in performing their various parts, and gave all the praise they so justly deserved.

CAID OF THANKS.

The President and Board of Directors of the Dezeret Hospital tender their thanks and grateful acknowledgments for the patronage received at the recent variety entertainments given in the Salt Lake Theatre, for the benefit of that worthy institution. They feel deeply indebted to all who in any way aided or contributed to make the affair successful, either by donations, a reduction of expenses, or by actual services rendered, and return to them the most sincere thanks in behalf of the institution they represent.

The ladies of the Unity Club deserve the utmost credit for their energy, enterprise and untiring efforts in collecting means and arranging and practically making the grand stand so attractive and such a perfect success. Their valuable assistance in the matter is fully appreciated, and while thanking them, the liberality of any of those who subscribed to the entertainment is not forgotten.

The much cannot be said in praise of the effort made, and those who so nobly gave of their time and means to make the affair an enjoyable one. The proceeds exceeded $300, which sum is very acceptable indeed to those who are struggling to keep the institution free from debt.

The kindness of Brothers Elias Morris and George G. Bywater, in donating handsome cane-seated chairs; Madsen & Co., in presenting a suitable table for the surgery; Brother H. Dinwoodey, who gave the handsome paper for the walls of the parlor, and Brother Midgley, who hung the same, is duly appreciated. All these little items are helps to those who have charge of the Hospital and are constantly and faithfully laboring to sustain it.

Ogden Valley Items.—From Bro. John Farrell, who is down from Ogden Valley, we learn that the season is about one month earlier there this year than last. The snow is now gone from the level, the people have their gardens mostly planted, and have commenced sowing their small grain, with good prospects for an abundant harvest.

Last year they did not commence sowing grain there until the 1st of May.

Brother David McKay, who was, some months since, appointed Bishop of Eden, in the north side of the valley, has, since the departure of Bishop Hammond for the San Juan country, been released from presiding over Eden and appointed Bishop of Huntsville, the place at which he has resided for many years. His successor in office at Eden has not yet been appointed.

District Court Proceedings.—The case of the United States vs. John Olson was ignored.

The case of Agatha Kohl vs. Elias Smith was stricken from the docket, as was also that of James Gordon vs. J. L. Sindaker.

The case of Toole City vs. Moses Brunson was submitted on demurrer.

The ex parte motion in the case of C. H. Collins vs. John A. Groesbeck was further argued by J. L. Raylins.

Peter Hanson, a native of Denmark, was admitted to citizenship.

High Water.—Watermaster Winder had a force of men out all last night, working on Emigration Creek to keep the water under control. He got a set of fresh hands this morning who are busy there to-day, and probably it will be necessary to have the labor continued to-night. No serious damage has yet been done and the vigorous efforts of the Watermaster will no doubt keep the water in its channel.

—The Snake River country is rapidly being settled.

—There is some talk of lighting Park City with electricity.

—One day last week, George Hall, of Huntsville, had his arm broken by the kick of a horse.

—Last Friday afternoon, a Butte blacksmith named James Bryan was kicked and seriously injured by a vicious horse which he was shoeing.

Kimball's stage will make a few trips between here and Park City this week, and if the roads will permit, regular trips will be made as usual next week.
