their signed contracts with the above ramed unions. These cunning and greedy railroad capitalists had most cunningly selected this time of panic and industrial depression as the opportune time to throttle labor unionism in America and selected the D. & R. G. as the place to start on first. It was plainly up to us to assert our man-hood and strike in order to preserve what remnant of liberty we have left, for we could not as men give up the for we could not as men give up the ground we had fought so hard and long to gain, as it has taken years of toil and suffering to develop our unions and gain what we hold. So rather than see cur organizations disbanded we are on the economic battlefield today protesting against the slavish condi-tions which the capitalist hogs are try-ing to force upon us now (and a little latter on the rest of the working class.) Indeed you may consider the D, & R. G strike as the Waterloo of unionism if we lose, for when we are disposed of they will turn on the next at hand and repeat the process until all is lost and our hopes are drowned in tears of hunger and despair. "This fight was not of our choosing, bat was forceed upon us and up till now we have been unable to get a settlement or any kind of an under-standing.
