

LOCAL AND OTHER MATTERS.
THEATRICAL.—The patrons of our theatre had every reason to be well pleased with the performance last night. We have not space, to-day, to enter into particulars; but, the unanimous verdict is that, as we expected, Miss Western made the best Leah that has ever been presented on our boards. Her four ensemble greatly favor her in such roles. Though we cannot mention all who appeared last night by name, yet we feel justified in saying that all played admirably the parts assigned to them.
To-night will be presented the renowned comedy of "Our American Cousin," with Mr. Herne as Asa Trenchard, Mr. Graham as Lord Dundreary, Miss Lockhart as Florence Trenchard and Miss Adams as Mary Melville. To conclude with the favorite farce of "Paddy Miles' Boy," Mr. Herne appearing as Paddy Miles.

THE LECTURE.—Mrs. St. Clair's lecture last evening was not so largely attended as we should have liked to have seen; but the audience was select and appreciative. Mrs. St. Clair prefaced her lecture by expressing her gratitude to the people of this community for the kindness shown by them to her deceased daughter during her sickness. She eulogized our citizens for displaying such genuine practical traits of true Christianity to one who was an entire stranger in their midst. Mrs. St. Clair seemed much affected by the memory of her deceased daughter, and had to pause some moments before proceeding with the subject of the lecture, with which, by the way she handled it, she showed her entire at home. Mrs. St. Clair's style, delivery and general demeanor were chaste, cultivated and refined. In her lecture, she disparaged the uneducated, by some young ladies, that labor is unwholesome and vulgar. No matter how finished the education of a young lady might be in other respects, if she was not as great an adept at cooking and attending to other domestic duties, her education was still incomplete and she was unfitted to assume the responsibilities of the position assigned her by nature.—That of the true wife and mother. Better to have a good knowledge of the culinary art than to be familiar with music and understand several languages. Notwithstanding the lectures audience this practical style of education, she was by no means of the opinion that young ladies should neglect proper means to render themselves attractive to the opposite sex but, thought they should give the toilet a due share of attention. Not only should attention be given to this matter before marriage, but also afterwards, if they wished to retain the affections of their husbands and the love and esteem of their children. There is nothing so distasteful to look upon as a dowdy. In order for women to render themselves attractive it is not necessary for them to be votaries of fashion. A woman's own good taste should be sufficient, without having to servilely imitate the fashions of the day, some of which were absurd. Her warning to all young ladies was to shun matrimonial connection with certain classes of the opposite sex, especially those who were habitual tipplers and of selfish natures.
The delivery of the lecture occupied about sixty-five minutes, and our report fails to do it the justice which it deserves. It was listened to with rapt attention, and frequently elicited applause. The general expression from those present was one of delight. The truths advanced were chastely and eloquently told, and coming, as they did, from a lady, doubtless made a greater impression than if a gentleman had been the speaker.
Mr. St. Clair announced that Mrs. St. Clair would lecture again, probably some time next week at which time she will doubtless have a larger audience.

A WONDERFUL DISCOVERY.—An asinine, long-legged biped, that ranges around Helena, Montana, suddenly came, a few days ago, to the knowledge of the fact that the Latter-day Saints hold polygamy to be a part of their religion. The shock was too much for his weak intellect, and he ran over it in the most pitiable manner. Because the ignorant has learned this fact, which every reading man has known for the last sixteen years, he thinks he has made a discovery, and brought to light a new feature in the character of the "wicked Mormons." Well, he may be going to have us overwhelmed with sudden and irreparable ruin! Poor creature, cannot his friends do something for him?

LOST PROPERTY AT THE THEATRE.—We are informed that there is quite an amount of property, consisting principally of gloves, vails, handkerchiefs, jewelry, etc., in the possession of Mr. R. F. Neslen, the esteemed janitor of our theatre, that has been found by the ushers in various parts of the house after each evening's performance. Persons who have lost property in this way can obtain it by applying to Mr. Neslen at the stage door. Whilst referring to this subject, we may be permitted to suggest that it is better for persons who may lose any article left lying on the seats by others to let such remain for the janitor to take care of for the owner, than to try and discover the owner themselves.

BEAR RIVER.—A correspondent writing from Brigham City, under date of the 24th inst., says: "All is excitement about Bear River. People are rushing there by the hundreds, each striving to get there first. It seems to be the last chance for the floating population of the railroad towns. To-morrow is the day set apart for the sale of lots. Our town is thronged to-night with people bound for that place."

IN SEARCH OF AN ITEM.—Local items are very scarce just at present; things are so quiet that it is very hard to get hold of anything worth printing. We went down Main Street, to-day, on a voyage of discovery. We button-holed the merchants, we delayed our choicest friends in their travels; but with very poor success. We found out, however, with very little inquiry, that the beautiful weather of yesterday had passed away, and given place to clouds, hail and rain, and that as a consequence in commercial circles there was "nothing doing." We asked one of our intimate acquaintances what was the news; he told us he had got a cough and offered us some home-baked candy, which we accepted. We hope this information will be as pleasing to our readers as the candy was palatable to us. Somebody informed us that the whistle of the locomotive could be distinctly heard in the northern part of the city. We started for the Temple block, determined to ascend to the roof of the Tabernacle and there wait and watch; but when we reached its immediate neighborhood, and looked at its vast dome, our ardor was considerably dampened, it seemed too wet and windy up there. We however, considered our secret to a philosophical friend, skilled in acoustics, but he shook his head and said it must be a mistake. No one could hear a railroad whistle at a distance of forty miles. Was it not the steam whistle of some of the manufacturing establishments of the city? We felt disappointed, so we walked into the Tabernacle and watched our friend, J. H. Higgins, and his corps of skilled artisans, forming and fashioning the magnificent organ there, that will, when finished, be one of the wonders of our city. The work in it is enormous; but although it appears to be going along slowly, it is being done well, and will have few if any rivals on this continent. Being informed that this was Good Friday, we retraced our steps to the sanctuary determining not to desecrate its sanctity by asking any more questions or prying further into local affairs.

DIED.—In this city this morning at 3 o'clock, of brain fever and congestion of the lungs, John, son of John and Louisa Paul, aged 13 months.
WEATHER.—March 26.—Provo, cloudy; looks like storming; warm wind blowing. Payson, quite cloudy; wind blowing. Nephi, cloudy; looks like storming. Moroni, very cold and cloudy; indications of a storm. Manti, cold and cloudy. Gunnison, rather cloudy and appearance of a storm. Fillmore, quite cloudy and cold. Beaver, cold and cloudy. Parowan, very cloudy all morning; looks like snow. Toker, cloudy and warm; peas and all garden stuffs up and looking well. St. George, clear and fine; thermometer at 70°.
