FLOATING FRAGMENTS.

The regular meeting of the City Council to night.

The farmers in the north end of Utah County have nearly completed planting small grain.

The Y. M. M. I. Association at American Fork are building a T. S. hall at that town.

A northern paper states that a genuine Emerald Islander is disgraced with Ex-Governor John Nail, of Idaho, for having dropped the O, which he claims was originally prefixed to his name.

A generally reliable local weather predictor prognosticated a storm in this vicinity on or about the 12th inst. As this is the date there appears to be a mistake somewhere, unless "on or about" is allowed a considerable margin.

Dr. Van Aukin has something to say to the Conference visitors through the News. He has removed to his new dental parlors opposite the Twelfth Ward Assembly Rooms, where he is doing an extensive business necessitating the erecting of several new lathes. See special notice.

LOCAL AND OTHER MATTERS.

Dusty.—East Temple Street merchants complain that they are obliged to shut the doors of their stores to prevent the dust blowing in and covering their goods. There is work for the fire hose and sprinkling cart.

Gravel Bed Accident.—About four o'clock yesterday while William Graham was at work at the Utah Central R. R. gravel bed, north of Jones' Lime Kiln, a bank caved on him. He sustained a dislocation of the ankle and a fracture of one of the bones of the leg near the same joint.

Visiting in Summit County.—Sister Presencia L. Limball at Campville on the 24 and 25 insts. She also attended other meetings while there and visited among the sick. She enjoyed herself very much and has returned to the city much gratified with her visit.

Bishop Brown Resigned.—Bishop John Brown has resigned the superintendency of the Pleasant Grove co-operative store. Theodore H. Hunter has been elected to fill the position. Bishop Brown's state of health was the cause of his stepping out, as he needed a respite from care in that line.

House Burned.—We learn with regret of a loss sustained by Brother Henry G. Boyle, whose name is familiar with missionary work in the Southern States, having spent many years of his life in that labor. A special by Deseret Telegraph informs us that last night, March 12, his house was destroyed by fire. The loss amounts to a thousand dollars.

Bishop Hunter's Agents.—Bishop Hunter's agents in Davis, Weber, Morgan, Summit, Wasatch, Utah and Tooele States are hereby requested to furnish, by the 25th of this month, an account of each individual Temple offering, in kind and amount, paid in every settlement of their respective States, from October 1st, 1887, to December 31st, 1887.

EDWARD HUNTER, Presiding Bishop.

Delayed.—Bishop Sharp, who is now in the East, expected to start for home last Saturday, but has been delayed in consequence of having concluded to have an operation performed for the removal of a small extraneous substance which had appeared on the under lid of one of his eyes. The operation was performed by Dr. Noyes, the celebrated eye and ear doctor, of New York. The many friends of the Bishop will be gratified to learn that he is doing nicely, and will probably leave New York for home near the close of the present week.

Accident at Lehi.—A few days ago Daniel, son of D. W. Thomas, of Lehi, was engaged in harrowing in grain when by some mishap he got caught under the drag. One tooth struck him in the head and penetrated almost through the limb. Mr. Thomas saw the boy struggling to get out and ran to his rescue. Fortunately the lad managed to hold the horses and his father extricated him from his perilous position. It was with great difficulty the tooth was pulled out of the boy's skull. The young man is progressing favorably.

Mr. Robinson Returned.—Mr. Phil Robinson is back from the North. He delivered his lecture, "Personal Adventures on Four Continents," in the Logan Tabernacle on Saturday evening. At the close John T. Cairns Jr., Esq., on behalf of the people of Logan and Cache County generally, moved a vote of thanks to Mr. Robinson for his many lectures to the New York World, which had a powerful effect in arresting the tide of anti-Mormon sentiment which so extensively prevailed throughout the country last year. The motion was carried unanimously and enthusiastically. Mr. Robinson will shortly deliver his lecture in this city.

Sudden Demise.—About half past four yesterday afternoon, Christopher C. Warner, of the Thirteenth Ward, was engaged filling an old well with dirt which had been excavated from a new one, when he fell to the ground and suddenly expired. His wife soon reached him and Dr. Anderson, who was summoned, was quickly on the spot, but he was beyond the reach of human aid, having expired within a few moments after falling to the ground.

It was learned from Dr. Anderson and Mr. John Reading that deceased had been for a long time subject to heart disease, and the Doctor had cautioned him against engaging in labor requiring extra physical exertion, such as he was performing when stricken down. Deceased was aged 35 years.

CASTLE VALLEY.

PARTICULARS OF A TRIP AND VISIT TO CASTLE VALLEY.

For the following we are indebted to J. F. W.

"The journey to Castle Valley, a hitherto remote, desolate region beyond the line of frequent travel, is now made with comparative ease in one day from Salt Lake City. Taking the D. & R. G. train at 7.40 a.m., by courtesy of the General Agent, Mr. Lamborn, we skirted up the valley of the Jordan, often on the river bank, through the narrow and around the northern shore of Utah Lake to Provo, where lunch is taken, and the little train pursues its way past Springville and over a wide expanse of bench land, lying below the mountains. The Spanish Fork Canyon is entered and soon becomes quite picturesque as it passes by the rugged gorges, opening on either side. In many respects, particularly in the clustering of rocks, the mountain scenery resembles that of Echo Canyon about the 'Witch's Rocks' and in the vicinity of the town of Echo.

At Chino Creek station the ascent commences to be quite difficult and continues so to the summit; the latter point, however, the train glides over the smooth steel rails very rapidly to Pleasant Valley Junction, where we arrived at five p.m., and were hospitably entertained by Mrs. Southworth, former landlady of the Pleasant Valley Hotel. At this station, the last opened for regular travel, we boarded a lumber car on the construction train and sped round the point of the mountain where Fish Creek and White River join to form Price River. Along the sinuous banks of the latter, the long train of cars, having loaded with lumber, by the tie companies and saw mills in the canyon at fearful speed.

The road is so crooked that horsemen are frequently lost. We found it quite interesting to keep track of the North Star, appearing first on one side of the car and then the other with such rapidity as to be bewildering to the star-gazer. The scenery in Price River Canyon is very beautiful, reaching its highest attraction at Castle Gate. The latter is the opening made by the stream through a wall of rugged rock rising on one side like a slender promontory springing into the sky. This promontory, from the mountain, tapers down to the roadside where it is clearly out from base to summit, 500 feet above, appearing like a thin slab of red sandstone set on edge.

At the mouth of the canyon, where we arrived at 9 o'clock p.m., we were welcomed by Bishop Frandson and Counselor W. W. McIntyre. A ward has been organized here with about 35 families, scattered along the river for several miles. They, however, have located a townsite and are now engaged in building the water out to cover it. The prospects are quite an important town will spring up at this point, as the railway company will erect a round house and perhaps some shops. It will be the market and shipping town for Castle Valley and the level extent of land capable of cultivation, when the water is brought on to it will alone surround the town with the elements of prosperity and wealth.

In the morning we left Price for Huntington, distant twenty-seven miles. The beautiful weather, balmy, warm and spring-like made the journey very pleasant, while the wonderful ever changing scenery was a source of constant delight. The following description of this road was written by Brother John Hunter, a member of the Young Men's Association at Huntington:

"The road between Huntington and Price River, Emery County, Utah, is over rolling hills and hollows, and interspersed with deep gorges and washes that have been caused by the action of the turbulent waters which have gathered from the adjacent hillsides during thunder-showers, and rushed frantically along in their wild career to the Gulf of California, far away in the Sunny South. On either side of the road at intervals can be seen table lands or mesas, which are composed principally of slate rock covered slightly with a light blue clay. And the scene might become monotonous but for the splendid range of stretches as far as the eye can reach to every direction, dotted here and there with herds of stock ranging from one bunch of sand or Gramma grass to another, a distance of many miles.

There is also another feature of this road worthy of note, and that is, its tendency it has to create a hope within the weary traveler as he ascends the way over sand-ridge and desert plain. He can always see a gentle rise of ground just ahead, and he hopes he can obtain a good view when he gains the top, and so he goes on (of course, until). But when he gets sight of the river he has gained the top of just a baker's dozen of these hills and crossed as many valleys or flats, and 20 miles north and 10 east. The Twin Peaks are about half way between the two traveled streams Huntington and Price.

Huntington conference was held. The meetings were numerous attended by Saints from all of the settlements in Emery State except Moab, on Green River, 150 miles away. The new log meeting house, the best of the kind we have seen in the Territory, accommodated the people comfortably. The instructions given were consistently practical, Apostle F. M. Lyman engaging with his customary interest in the spirit and business of the conference. A High Council was chosen, many ordinances attended to and the Stake and Ward organizations so far perfected as the circumstances of the people at present require. Saturday evening a conference of Y. M. M. I. A. was held. On Sunday evening we drove to Castle Gate, ten miles, and held meeting, and were very pleasantly entertained by President C. G. Larson and family. On Monday we continued our southern journey to Farron, distant fifteen miles, where we met with the Saints and spent a very enjoyable day at the comfortable home of brother M. W. Molen. The next day we drove early to Orangeville, ten miles on, and returned to our meeting in the new school house, which was packed to its utmost capacity. After dining with Bishop Robinson we drove on with Judge Elias Cox to Huntington, where we attended the regular meeting of the Young Men's Association and listened to the interesting exercises.

By our return to Price we had seen enough of the Castle Valley country to convince us of its future outcome. There is land and water enough to supply a large population, the productiveness of the soil has been tested, and was found to be very profitable, as high as forty bushels of wheat to the acre being raised. The towns already planned and those contemplated, start with fair prospects, and through the blessing and favor of Providence the Saints of Emery State, who now number about 1,400, have every reason to expect large additions to their numbers, and that the barren wastes of Castle Valley, which they have secured, will bloom and blossom as the rose.

THE NEW STEAM MILL.

Work has been begun on the new steam flouring mill of Armstrong & Co., a couple of blocks north of the Eagle Block. It will be by far the most extensive concern of the kind in the West. It will be four stories high, the first of rock and the others of brick, and the structure will be 55 feet high to the square, while the ground dimensions will be 54 feet long by 34 feet wide, besides a boiler room attachment on the outside of the main building. In alluding to the mill previously we stated that its capacity would be 150 sacks every 24 hours. The proprietors have since then concluded to increase it to 250, the building being constructed with that view, although it will only be run up to the first figure on the start, but increased to the other should business demand.

The process is the very latest, being by means of rollers in place of the former system of burrs. It has great advantages, making an article of flour whose quality cannot be reached by any other method now known. Notwithstanding the fact of its extreme fineness, it retains all the nutritive qualities of the wheat left in the bran by the other styles of manipulation. It thus retains superior advantages credited to Graham flour without its coarseness. So much is this the case that the bran resulting from the roller method is useless for hogs or cows without being "doctored" with other materials.

We are informed that flour by the new manipulation commands $3 a barrel more than other brands in the East, and one of the chief objects of the company is to manufacture an article that will be in demand in every part of the West, and thus shut importation out of this region entirely.

The machinery is made at Buffalo, New York, and will soon arrive. Mr. Geo. Romney being in the East now on business connected with this. That gentleman, who—with Messrs. E. Morris and Geo. H. Taylor—is associated with Mr. Armstrong in the enterprise, visited a mill of the same kind recently, and asserts that it eclipses all his former ideas of milling. The same company are erecting a very large one in London.

FURN BLOOD.

Many families pride themselves on their noble ancestry; but here, in this democratic country we do not care so much about our pedigree as our health; or, at least, that ought to be the principal object of our solicitude. We cannot have good health without pure rich blood. When the blood is out of order, disease manifests itself in the skin and flesh, and in fact, in all parts of the body. To be restored to health, take Scott's Emulsion of Blood and Liver Syrup. Physicians speak in the highest terms of this medicine.

Dr. Everett, Cooper Plains, Sten-

ben: Co. N. Y. mentions two cases of Scrophulous Erysipelas which he cured by Scott's Emulsion of Blood and Liver Syrup. He says, "I think it one of the best purifiers of the day. It has met with perfect success in every case where I have used it."
