Ida Robinson, Ella Harrison, Lurrine Miles, Venice Burton, Maude Myers, Robert Alexander, Glibert Amos, and Frank Mayol, pupils of the eighth grade, Fremont school, each made a short talk to the primary children on McKinley Memorial Day. The teachers were surprised to see how well they in-terested the little folks with facts about McKinley. McKinley.

Supt, Christensen of the city schools says:

Relative to the assumption of the B, Y, academy of originality in assign-ing teachers to teach mathematics, geography, etc., and nothing else, it may be stated that Dr. Dewey claims may be stated that Dr. Dewey claims no originality for the scheme, neither should the B. Y. If members of the faculty of that institution would visit certain buildings in Sait Lake they would find teachers in the sixth and seventh grades in which one is teaching all classes in arithmetic; another all of the generative classes and the cert the geography classes, and they are cordially invited to come."

The Grant school's contribution to the McKinley memorial fund was $26.70. More than three-fourths of the school contributed and the average contribution was approximately four and a half cents apiece.

FRANK KNOX.

The above is a good likeness of one of Salt Lake's truly busiest men, President Frank Knox of the National Bank of the Republic. He has been a banking man and financier all his life, and it is interesting to note that his widely extended experience has been with western banks so that he has always been closely and vitally in touch with western Interests.

Mr. Knox is a native of Washington, Ia. After graduating at the local academy, he entered the First National bank of that city at the age of sixteen, where he rapidly learned the beginnings of a financial education. He subsequently removed to Kansas City where a wide and more experienced field was opened to him, and he became associated with the National Bank of Commerce of that city. But he did not confine himself entirely to the interests of one institution, but sortly branched out, organized and was the principal owner of one national and two state banks in Kansas, besides interesting himself in live stock operations in Kansas, as well as in a line of grain elevators.

But the growing opportunities and reputation of Sait Lake City had for some time been attracting his attention, and to Sait Lake he finally decided to remove; and closing up his Kansas interests in 1889, Mr. Knox came to this city in 1890 and established the National Bank of the Republic, at the head of which he has ever since remained.

BRANCH NORMAL.

Cedar City, Jan. 29.-Principal N. S. Porter left Cedar City Wednesday for Salt Lake, for the purpose of attend-ing to important business concerning the school work for the coming year. In all probability he will leave Salt Lake City Monday night.

The lecture next Saturday night will be given by Mr. Cathcart on the sub-ject of "Robert Burns."

Mr. George M. Decker delivered his lecture on "The Morphology of Evolu-tion," before a crowded house. The evening was enjoyed by all, but was especially appreciated by those who have spent some time in the study of natural science.

The ladies' society of the Branch Normal held its regular meeting last "Priday afternoon. A paper on the "Physical and Spiritual Beauty of Wo-men," written by Miss Tillie Gardner, was read and discussed by the members of the society.

The meeting of the Bennion Debating Society, held on Wednesday night, was characterized by the vim and life that has always attended the meetings of the past. The subject discussed was the "Chinese Question."

One of the most instructive and inter-esting lectures yet offered in the public course was given Satùrday night by Mr. J. H. Tipton, on the subject of the "Stars." The lecture was illustrated. The material was well selected, and was presented in a most impressive moment. Mr. Tipton reached his climax.
