Bert L. Johnston filed sult in the Second district court against Ezra C. Rich and Edward I. Rich, doing business under the firm name of Rich & Rich. The complaint alleges that in March, 1897, the plaintiff employed the defendants to attend and cure plaintiff of a certain sickness, and that the defendants continued to care for plaintiff for a period of three weeks; but that during that time they unskilfully and neglectfully conducted the treatment of plaintiff and that instead of a cure from the mulady having been accomplished the plaintiff continued to grow worse, and underwent great and unnecessary bodily anguish and distress, and so remained for a long time, and that injury to plaintiff's lungs and legs is permanent, and that he still continues to suffer great pain and is prevented from attending to his business, and that he has been to great expense in employing other physicians to releve his pains. Therefore, the plaintiff demands judgment against the de-fendants in the sum of $22,000, with rendants in the sum of $25,000, with legal interest and costs of sult. A complaint was also filed by Peter Ipsel against Matilda Herrick et al for the payment of a certain promis-sory note for $500 secured by mortgage. CATTLE DROWNED IN THE LAKE. Word was brought into Ogden yester-Word was brought into Ogden yester-day afternoon from Syracuse, Davis county, of the misfortune of two young men named Joseph and William Chad-wick, of Slaterville, in having some thirty-eight head of stock drowned in Sait Lake on Sunday night. These young men have been gathering a herd of about 200 head of cattle from the various settlements to take out on the summer range. They had driven the animals to between Hooper and Syramimals to between Hooner and Syra-use when the heavy storm came up Sunday night. The cattle were turned into a field which bordered on to the Lake, and some time during the night they stampeded and some forty-three of them ran into the Lake and sank no the nud so that they could not get wit. The next morning when the young men went to their herd they found thirty-eight of the animals dead. The her five that were still allve were fied out of the mud and saved from owning. The loss will amount to sevral hundred dollars, which will have a be made good by the young men, as the stock belongs to various parties liv-ling foroughout the county, and no blame can be attached to the boys for the misfortune; nevertheless, they are responsible for the cattle,

MISSIONARY BENEFIT

OPPOSITION IS NOT STRONG.

Proposed Bill Simply Gives President Power to Govern Temporarily-Foraker a Good Fighter.

Special Correspondence.

Washington, April 4 .- The belief is general among senators that debate upon the insular possessions is nearexhausted. It is the intention of Senator Lodge, chairman of the committee on Philippines, to press the Spooner bill to an early vote, and owing to the fact that so much has been already said on the Philippines it is thought that a vote ought not to be long delayed. There are now a dozen resolutions "on the table" which have been debated at great length. They were introduced for the purpose of debate and have been pretty generally discussed. Then Puerto Rico has been but a text for the discussion of insular affairs. As the Spooner bill simply gives the President power to govern the Philippines until further action by Congress, not very much op-position will be developed to it, al-though the Democrats will offer amendmenta, declaring the intention of the United States to grant independ-ence to the islands as soon as peace can be restored. There will be consid-erable talk on this line, but for the most part the long, set speeches have been made, and the debate will be gen-eral. For this reason the belief is ex-pressed that there will not be much further discussion on the Philippines been but a text for the discussion of further discussion on the Philippines in the Senate.

CALLED HIM PUGNACIOUS.

"That fellow is so pugnacious," re-marked Senator Stewart of Nevada during the Puerto Rican debate, "that I think I shall jump into him myseif." He was referring to Senator Foraker, who has charge of the Puerto Rican legislation in the Senate. Senator For-aker stood ready at all times to defend his bill and explain its provisions. An easy takker, guick and active, he never lis off and explain its proven bears a criticism of the measure or any of its provisions or any reference to what he has said or advocated that he is not on his feet to reply. This has caused him a great deal of effort, as he has been obliged to explain over and over again many of the provisions of the bill simply because he will not allow any apparent misstatement the bill, of his report or of his position in regard to it to go unchallenged While this keeps his record straight, i while this keeps his record straight, it is not always the best method of get-ting through legislation. There are too many senators who like running debate such as Foraker gives them, and one after another is up and at him from the time he starts until he closes. from the time he starts until he closes. Senator Foraker exhibited the same determination during the Republican conferences that were held over the bill. He defended it before his Repub-lican colleagues as he did in the Senate. There are other senators, who, when in charge of a measure and their posi-tion is attacked ar when the bill is at-tacked only make an explanation

If the treasury officials were allowed to exercise their own judgment in re-gard to the coins of the United States, we would have somthing of a remod-eling of designs now in use. Under eling of designs now in use. Under the law the designs on coins can be changed but once in 20 years. A few years ago a change was made, when the present style was inaugurated. Since its adontion there has been much dissatisfaction expressed. The depart-ment is very unfavorably impressed with the reverse side of the quarter and has stated that if Congress would grant it permission it would insure a dainty and appropriate design for the reverse of this coin. The reverse of the current quarter is decidedly lacking in symmetry and balance. There is in symmetry and balance. There is too much to it, and its component parts are run together in a way to present a shabby appearance. The matter of shabby appearance. The matter of nickels has also been given some little attention. In many instances nickels have been passed for quarters, and the reverse has occurred at less frequent intervals. It has been suggested that some other metal be substituted for the 5 cent piece, so that its size may be altered to do away with this confusion. Another suggestion is that a coin of the value of half a cent be coined, es-pecially for use in the island posses-sions, but this is looked upon with dis. favor, as is the proposition to dispense with the 1 cent piece altogether. The half dollar and one dollar coins of silver seem to be perfectly satisfactory in deseem to be perfectly satisfactory in design.

Millions Given Away.

It is certainly gratifying to the public to know of one concern which is not afraid to be generous. The proprietors of Dr. King's New Discovery for Con-sumption, Coughs and Colds, have given away over ten million trial bottles and have the satisfaction of knowing it has have the satisfaction of knowing it has cured thousands of hopeless cases.
