THE WALLAPAIS INDIANS — Messrs Imus and McClure, stack men, came in from Willow grove on Saturday last. Mr. Imus in-ferms us that the Wallapais have been killing his calves; and A. T. Jones says that when he was at Free's wash, some cattle came in there with arrows sticking into them. There is no doubt but that the Indians are compelled by hunger to these acts, and it is a disgrace to government that such should be the case. The efficient support the Wallapais gave Gen. Crook during the Apache war saved to government large sums of money and the lives of many men, and now the very Indians who menced the war.
