A band of hoodlums, at Placerville, Cal., the other night, turned out to serenade a newly married couple. The husband induced the leader into the house, when the bride administered a spanking.

General Grant has gotten rid of a great many of his dangerous allies recently, and now it is reported that he has determined upon the sacrifice of General Schenck, the minister to England. An Englishman has just accomplished the ascent of Mont Blanc at a time of the year when no tourist had ever before attempted the ascent. The following day they reached the summit, and returned.

Judge Pruden was arguing the habeas corpus case of Jan. A. Harris, Jr., before Judge Emmons of the circuit court. The question of the young man's age came up, whereupon the Judge said: "Why, your honor, I can prove the very date of his birth—here I have the testimony of the physician in attendance of the mother who was there of the mother herself."

"That will do," interrupted Judge Emmons dryly. "You need no further back for your proof." Then the whole court smiled. —Oregonian.

The Prince de Cocchi drove a four-in-hand of jackasses on the Bois de Boulogne recently.

DIDN'T KNOW IT WAS LOADED.

Another of those most distressing and fatal accidents resulting from the careless handling of fire-arms, occurred at Boston, Mass., May 31. An Miss Laura E. Whittier, eighteen years old, was standing with her sister in the drawing room, Mrs. Thomas Banford, a friend and boarder, stepped softly into the room with a pistol, which she did not know was loaded, cocked the weapon close behind the ear of Miss Whittier, and, with the intention of giving her a momentary fright, pulled the trigger. The pistol exploded, and the bullet penetrated the brain of Miss Whittier, who fell dead without a word. Several physicians were called in, but without avail. The young lady was engaged to be married shortly. Mrs. Banford sank into a condition bordering on insanity.

This terrible accident occurred through ignoring the very first rule to be observed in handling firearms—never to point them at any person, whether they are loaded or not. If this simple and sensible rule had been observed by Mrs. Banford, her friend, Miss Whittier, might still have been living, even though the pistol had been discharged unexpectedly in the act of giving the girl a momentary fright. We believe it is made a crime, in some portion of the Union, except under special circumstances, to point a fire-arm, loaded or unloaded, in jest or earnest, at any person. It is a good law, and ought to be universal.

RELIGIOUS REVIVALISM.—In addition to the Hammond revival business in California, that of Varley in New York, and that of Moody and Sankey in England, there has been some going on in France and Germany. A Berlin newspaper says, concerning the visit of Pearl Smith to that city:—

"It is hardly too much to say that he has produced a deep impression on the religious life of the city as well as his name. A household name in religious circles for many years to come. In these six days Mr. Smith held twenty-one services, sometimes in private circles before a few score, but generally in public halls and churches before hundreds and thousands. An aged Gesamtheit, who has watched the religious life of the city for decades, declared that with the exception of the meetings of the Berlin Kirchentag, in 1853, the religious feeling of the city has not been roused as it has been during Mr. Smith's ministrations."

The Rev. J. P. Cook writes to a friend in New York concerning the recent "meetings for holiness" in France:—

"I did not myself attend the meetings for holiness in Nimes. I know thousands attended them with rather more than one hundred ministers of different denominations. The meetings lasted four days, and at one time, in which four hundred places of worship were opened and filled at the same time, I suppose hundreds were sanctified and as many perhaps converted. The meetings were held in a special in the services or in the preaching. It has simply been an outpouring of the Spirit, which, thank God, we have had of late in many other places, though not, perhaps, to such an extent; thus at Montevideo, Marseilles, Bordeaux, Lyons, and in Switzerland, at Bale, Berne, Zurich, Geneva, Lausanne, etc."

OFFICIAL REPORT.—There is to be reform in the Post Office Department as well as in the revenue service, as indicated by the following from the Washington Star of June 4:—

He will visit the post offices at Pittsburg, Cleveland, Detroit, Cincinnati, Chicago, Indianapolis, St. Louis and other important points, and will make a careful and thorough investigation of the railway mail service, the system of distribution in postal cars, the weighing of the mails, the registered letter system, and other branches of the service, with a view to secure greater efficiency by instituting reforms as may be necessary. He will probably be gone a week or more, and will be accompanied by Chief of Special Agents Woodward and Mr. George A. Gustin, his private secretary."

FOREIGN.
FRANCE.
Olivier's Book.

PARIS, 11.—M. Olivier's book in defence of the ministry, of which he was the head at the outbreak of the war, has appeared. It maintains that Prussia, by her insults, really declared the war, and that the ministry was held responsible for entering upon the conflict, for the act was unanimously approved by the senate and legislature; nor for the military organization, which was the work of years before it came to power. Olivier claims, for his ministry, that for a few months after its organization it had calmed the public mind and restored the authority of the government, without employing either corruption or intimidation. He publishes a letter from the Emperor after the fall of the ministry, expressing continued confidence in the conclusion. He urges the Bonapartists to help the present government to maintain peace, and to respect the constitution, and when an opportunity for revising it presents itself then to claim an appeal to a plebiscite.

GREAT BRITAIN.
Bill to Amend Labor Laws.

LONDON, 11, 12.30 a. m.—In the House of Commons, Sir John Lubbock, Secretary of State for the Home Department, introduced bills amending the labor laws. They provide that breaches of contract, by workmen employed in a public capacity, as in the supply of gas and water, shall be dealt with by the courts, and shall be regarded purely as matters of civil contract, to be settled by the ordinary law, and shall not be subject to summary proceedings by the employers. The bills are intended to give the courts jurisdiction to deal with the defendants, however, are to have the option of trial by a justice or jury. It is regarded as an agreement to a new system of arbitration, and workmen shall be punishable as a conspiracy. The bills were read a first time.

Correspondence.
Secretary of State—United States—Two Days' Meeting at Logan—Everybody Busy.

Editor Deseret News:
Since my last communication we have been making rapid strides in an onward direction. Two Sabbath ago, the church of the Sabbath School met at the war of the purpose of attending to the file of baptism, when seventy-four youthful souls were added to the church, and in the evening received their confirmation by the laying on of hands. To some, this may seem a small thing, but to others it is a work of vast importance. These children will one day be men and women, and mayhap great champions in the cause of truth.

A reorganization of the United Order has been effected, with thirteen directors of the people's choice, who have elected a committee as follows:—Bishop John J. Adams, President; Daniel Hill and Thomas Bradshaw, vice-presidents; F. Gunn, secretary; I. Bradshaw, assistant secretary; and J. W. Adams, treasurer. All good men and true. Stock is being taken in the institution, and a new system of distribution is being adopted. The United Order is drawing out for the purpose of incorporating according to law.

The saints in this valley enjoyed a rare treat last Saturday and Sunday, in having the privilege of attending a two day conference, held in Logan. Powerful and eloquent discourses were given by Pres. B. Young, Elders Geo. Q. Cannon and Erasmus Snow, and others, which if acted upon would prove a mine of imperishable wealth unto this people.

Everything to bust and bustle here at present, fencing, ditching, hoeing and irrigating, trying to induce Mother Nature to bestow her bounties in profusion. Two schools are in operation, where the garden of the mind is attended to by Sisters Miss Martha Ann Barger and Mrs. Fanny Nix.
