

A TALK ABOUT BABIES.

BY MRS. M. P. HANCOCK.

(CONCLUDED.)

Patterns for babies' first clothes may be bought from any agency...

When the gums are swollen and hot to the touch, the intolerable itching may frequently be eased by a little crushed ice beaten in a bowl...

The best course is to give none except under medical advice. In almost every case, colic is caused by a teething child.

If the mother can nurse her baby, let her do so by all means, for when nature provides sustenance, her provision is always best.

Cow's milk fresh and pure, diluted with soft water and sweetened with sugar...

Feed regularly, at first every two hours, increasing the interval to three and four hours as the child grows older.
